JEWS FROM ALL over Israel celebrate the harvest festival beside Wailing Wall in Jerusalem. The wall is in a sector of the Holy City that was captured from Jordan last week. Harvest festival is the first major event in Jewish religious calendar since wall came into Jewish control.

Jews Struck First Blow in War

Dave McIntosh, Canadian Press staff writer who was in Tel Aviv from before the start of the short-lived Middle East war until Monday, has cabled the following behind-the-scenes story on the war. He flew to Cyprus to file it when censors stopped his copy at Tel Aviv.

By DAVE McINTOSH

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP) — Once President Nasser of Egypt blockaded the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, Israel took dead aim at Egypt.

To Israel, the blockade was an act of war.

Defence Minister Moshe Dayan told newspapermen that the first shot of the war, figuratively, was fired at Aqaba.

It is, therefore, difficult to understand why Israel pretends it did not open the Sinai Desert campaign and why the government censor's office in Tel Aviv deletes all references or even suggestions to this effect in stories originating in Israel.

Officially, Israel says Egypt started hostilities. An official statement issued as late as Saturday begins, "A short while after the beginning of hostilities by Egypt on the morning of June 5 . . ."

Privately, Israeli military officers and officials admit freely their forces struck first and hard. An Israeli army major told me that on the Sunday evening hours before the shooting war started, Dayan met in Tel Aviv with senior military commanders, who then dispersed rapidly to the field.

By chance, I was among the first to reach the government press office, the only official source of news, about 15 minutes after the first air raid alert signalled the start

UN Council Defeats Russians on Israel

Western Powers Abstain From Withdrawal Vote

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— Soviet motion to condemn Israel as an aggressor against Arab countries and to force her immediate and unconditional withdrawal from occupied territory was defeated in the UN Security Council today.

No votes were cast against the Soviet motion in the 15-country council. However, most members, including Canada and other Western representatives, abstained.

This prevented the Russians from getting the nine votes needed to put a motion through the council.

At the request of Nigeria, the two objectives of the Soviet motion were voted upon separately.

It was not immediately clear whether this cleared the way for action on the Soviet request for an emergency session of the UN General Assembly.

The Middle East crisis remained on the council's agenda because of earlier motions by Canada and the United States.

The council's action came amid reports that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would head a special delegation poised to fly to New York to push a drive to force Israel to return to the armistice lines of 1949.

WILL APPROVE REQUEST

Diplomats predicted that a poll of the 122 UN members would result in quick approval of the Soviet request for the emergency meeting. They said the session might be convened as early as Friday. Sixty-two countries must approve the request before the session can be called.

Ambassadors George Ignatieff of Canada and Arthur Goldberg of the U.S. both said they would like further consultations with council members on the text of their draft resolutions before calling for a vote.

On the Soviet bid to condemn Israel for "aggressive activities," the vote four in favor, none against and 11 abstaining.

On the demand that Israel withdraw from occupied territories the vote was six in favor, none against, with nine abstentions.

Soviet ambassador Nicolai Fedorenko described the Canadian motion put forward June 7, as "obsolete." It would have council president, Ambassador Hans Tabor of Denmark, with the assistance of Secretary-General U Thant, "take the necessary measures to bring about full and effective compliance" of the council's ceasefire resolutions.

Fedorenko said the Canadian resolution has "a cat in the bag" and could lead to violations of the UN charter.

Ignatieff said the Canadian motion could still prove applicable and useful with revisions. For this reason, he wanted to have consultations with all members of the council on the text.

In answer to Fedorenko's imputation of a hidden motive, Ignatieff said "it is possible that revisions may bring out whatever cat he may believe to be hidden for his examination."

Secretary - General U Thant has held up steps to summon the assembly on the legal ground that, under Article 12 of the UN Charter, the assembly cannot take up the matter as long as it is being discussed in the council.

Lord Caradon, the British ambassador, appealed to the council "to make a further supreme effort to work together and to work in mutual esteem" on the problems of the Middle East.

Caradon suggested that the question of disengagement and troop withdrawals would require discussions on the spot. He noted India already had proposed that Thant send a special representative to help with the problem.

GO FURTHER

"I believe that we should go further," he said, "and consider the appointment of a mediator so that an immediate start can be made in settling the foundations for a lasting peace."

Secretary - General U Thant would poll the 122 UN members by telegram, and the necessary majority of 62 countries was expected to agree to the emergency session. Thant then was likely to call the session on 24 hours' notice.

Speculation that the Soviet premier would attend stemmed from a letter from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Thant Tuesday saying "leading statesmen of the Soviet Union" would attend.

NO CONFIRMATION

Soviet spokesmen in Moscow refused to comment on the speculation about Kosygin. The Soviets obtained a permit to land a special plane in New York about Thursday but postponed the flight, apparently awaiting the scheduling of the assembly session. The U.S Embassy in Moscow said the Soviet Government had not requested any visas for the flight.

Should Kosygin come to New York, many other heads of government and possibly even President Johnson were expected to attend the session.

The feeling was widespread among Arab deliberations that the Russians were promoting the assembly session primarily to divert attention from their failure to help the Arabs in the war. In line with this, Saudi Arabian delegate Jamil M. Baroody commented that for the Arabs, the result of an assembly session would be "zero."

Gromyko's letter said that despite the Security Council's

New Clash Talk Heard

CAIRO (AP)—Government officials were spreading word today that Egypt would rather risk a new military clash than agree to negotiate a Middle East settlement with Israel.

Diplomatic sources said they were given to understand that President Nasser ruled out any idea of talking with a country that the Arab world still is determined to crush, despite what is called here "the lost first round."

Syria Rules Out Peace Treaty, Calls for 'Liberation' Effort

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Chief of State Noureddin Attassi said today Arab countries "suffered a serious setback" in the Middle East war but, "the aggressors did not win final victory."

He brushed aside suggestions of peace with Israel.

He said in a radio address the objective of Arab countries remains the complete liberation of Palestine.

In his first speech since the ceasefire, Attassi said Israeli forces achieved quick military gains "only through massive U.S. and British aid."

He repeated the allegation that U.S. and British planes took an active part in the fighting on the Syrian front. This has been denied by the United States and Britain.

"The Arab people realize today beyond any doubt that American and British imperialism planned and executed all stages of the Israeli aggression," Attassi said.

He said the American and British intervention was aimed at preventing the construction of a unified Arab state and safeguarding their oil interests in the Arab countries.

Attassi said the first Arab objective must be "the removal by all means and methods the results of the aggression against Arab countries." He expressed confidence that the Arabs would emerge victors from a new conflict.

All Arab countries must join in a total economic boycott against the United States and Britain and withdraw their bank deposits from these countries, Attassi added.

'Tampa Should Pray' Warns Negro Leader

Verdict in Negro's Death May Lead to More Violence

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman—the incident that set off major race riots here this week—was ruled justifiable homicide today by State Attorney Paul Antinori.

Negro leaders had predicted that such a decision would lead to renewed violence in the city, and Tampa's NAACP president, Robert Gilder, was asked immediately afterward about his own plans.

"My plans are to go pray," Gilder replied. "And I definitely suggest that the whole of Tampa do the same."

News that Patrolman James R. Calvert had shot 19-year-old Martin Chambers in the back flashed through Negro neighborhoods Sunday night, setting off three nights of shooting, burning and looting.

Antinori said that Chambers had committed burglary and grand larceny, was running from police and was about to escape when Calvert shot him.

Gilder told reporters there were "serious questions in my mind" about the decision of justifiable homicide. He said the boy's mother, Janie Bell Chambers, probably would take legal action against the city, and would have the help of lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People if she wants it.

STORES LOOTED

In spite of a truce between police and Negro leaders, bands of youths set 15 fires and looted stores Tuesday night. National guard troops and police reinforcements stayed out of the Negro areas.

Authorities reported at least 21 arrests, all made by what police called "routine patrols."

Tuesday's troubles were slight compared with the wild rioting of Sunday and Monday nights when police and rioters exchanged gunfire, stores were burned and looted and at least 20 persons were injured.

Sheriff Malcolm Beard, heading a combined force of 1,000 heavily armed men, pulled the riot squads from the rubble-strewn streets in a surprise move at dusk Tuesday after Negro leaders promised publicly there would be no trouble.

City police said they arrested "at least nine men" on charges of looting stores. Police said most of those charged had entered through store windows already broken by others.

Fires, Fights In Negro Riots At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police, backed by national guardsmen, restored an uneasy order in Cincinnati Negro neighborhoods today after hit-and-run gangs caused more than $1,000,000 damages in two nights of riting.

Two major fires caused an estimated $800,000 damages at a warehouse and laundry early Wednesday.

Fire destroyed the block-long Modern Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. building. Police said they believed it was started by a gasoline bomb.

A short time earlier fire demolished the Seybold Paper Co. warehouse.

Fire Chief Bert Lugannani set damage to the warehouse at $700,000 and damage to the laundry at $100,000.

Firemen responded to about 100 fires during the night, and at most of them the firefighters were pelted with stones. But guardsmen kept spectators and others at a distance to give firemen a free hand in fighting the laundry blaze.

PATROL STREETS

Other than the two f. s, police reported a relative quiet morning. The guardsmen, bayonets and machine-guns ready, and police continued patrolling the streets.

Police said more than 20 persons had been arrested, 22 injured — including three policemen and four firemen—and untold damage done during the second night of rioting in predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

Police Chief Jacob Schott said his 800 men were unable to cope with the ...k-moving, hit-and-run ric...

As th... ...ce continued into pre-dawn ...ours, police had gained control of the Avondale area—where the trouble started Monday and Tuesday nights.

Through the early morning hours there were scattered reports of fires, fighting and looting in the other areas. But they dwindled after guardsmen moved in and by 4:30 a.m. EDT the troubled spots were reported quiet.

GUARDSMEN READY

Guardsmen moved into the riot areas after midnight on orders of Governor James A. Rhodes. Helmeted troopers carried fixed bayonets. Machine-guns were mounted on jeeps.

Gruesome Bus Tours Anger Welsh

ABERFAN, Wales (CP)—Sight-seeing bus tours to this disaster village have angered bereaved parents who say they do not want to be turned into a tourist attraction.

Chris Sullivan, spokesman for the Parents' and Residents' Association, said today "coach-loads of visitors arrive at the cemetery" in this Welsh village where 144 persons, mostly children, died in a slag-heap avalanche last Oct. 21.

"Some have found the cemetery gates closed and have climbed the wall to see the mass graves."

Sullivan appealed for the tours to be stopped. One bus firm in Somerset is known to have organized an excursion, charging 41 passengers £1 ($3) a head for a tour.

Police would not allow the coach to stop in Aberfan, but it was driven slowly through the streets to enable the passengers to see the scene of the disaster and the cemetery. A spokesman for the firm said the visitors did not want to pry, but to pay their respects.

Work on Unit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction has begun on the second stage of a $5,000,000 psychiatriac unit, part of UBC's $36,000,000 Health Sciences Centre. Stage one of the unit is expected to be finished by February.

Bus Depot Robbed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young gunman fled on foot after robbing the Pacific Stage Line Offices of $300 Monday night. The holdup occurred at the city's main bus depot.

Red Strike Fails in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Another Communist attempt to strike a major Hong Kong industry failed today. Only about 2,000 of the British colony's 15,000 construction workers heeded the call to walk out.

Mideast Enemies Swap Prisoners

GENEVA (AP)—The International Red Cross announced today Israel and Egypt have agreed to an initial exchange of 50 prisoners badly wounded in the Middle East war.

A Red Cross spokesman said it is hoped to make the exchange Thursday at Nicosia, Cyprus. A DC-4 plane loaned by a Swiss airline was standing by in Nicosia to make the exchange.

Gibraltar Will Vote on Future

LONDON (AP) — The residents of Gibraltar will vote, probably in September, on their political future, the British government announced today.

Chinese Beat Envoys

India Pair Called Spies

PEKING (Reuters) — Red Guards beat and kicked two Indian diplomats in wild scenes at Peking Airport today before they left by air for Hong Kong after being expelled from China as alleged spies.

Second Secretary Krishnan Raghunath and Third Secretary P. Veejai were dragged and pushed, held by the neck and arms, among a crowd of several hundred Red Guards.

The two Indian diplomats were ordered to leave China Tuesday after a public trial before some 15,000 persons in a sports stadium found them guilty of espionage. On instructions from New Delhi, Raghunath and Veejai did not attend the trial.

Embassy staff who tried to aid the two expelled diplomats were manhandled and kept away.

The cars of the Indian diplomats outside the airport were smothered with paint and posters.

PROTESTS ASSAULT

Ram Sathe, Indian charge d'affaires, later made a strong protest to the Chinese foreign ministry about the treatment at the airport.

An Indian spokesman said the protest alleged "inhuman treatment" of Raghunath, whose glasses were smashed and nose bloodied by Red Guards' blows.

Chinese officials, the Indian spokesman said, said the Indians had "provoked the masses" by refusing to hand Raghunath over to security authorities at the airport before leaving for Hong Kong.

Raghunath, 27, sentenced to "immediate deportation" at the people's court Tuesday, was seized by Red Guards and separated from other members of the embassy soon after arriving at the airport about 6 a.m. local time.

Veejai was grabbed shortly afterwards and from then until the plane departed an hour later the two diplomats were in the hands of the crowd.

Veejai was dragged by the neck and arms past a group of Western diplomats and foreign correspondents with his head forced down near the ground. His shoes were torn off. He was often lost to view in the milling crowds.

Student Riot Tempo Grows In S. Korea

Charges of Rigging Follow General Vote

SEOUL (AP)—More than 30,000 students defied a government ban today and waged violent demonstrations for the third day in Seoul, charging that South Korean parliamentary elections last Thursday were rigged.

Twelve universities were closed in Seoul, Pusan and Taegu, but students from 31 universities and high schools in Seoul battled riot police for six hours, throwing rocks and chanting slogans as the police wielded clubs and fired tear gas.

The police said 49 of their men were injured, six of them seriously. About 50 students and five high school teachers were hurt by police clubs.

Police said 423 students and 14 adults were picked up for investigation.

STAGE SIT-DOWN

About 400 students staged brief sitdowns in front of the headquarters of the ruling Democratic Republican party.

Similar anti-government demonstrations and rallies were held in Pusan, Taegu, and four other cities.

In the election President Chung Hee Park's ruling Democratic Republicans won 130 of the 175 National Assembly seats. Park has admitted irregularities in some districts and has ordered a thorough investigation. So far his prosecution teams have arrested 48 persons, most of them from Park's party, on charges of election rigging.

SAIGON (AP) — Communist guerrillas swarmed through a small Mekong Delta hamlet before dawn today, killing or wounding about 80 Vietnamese civilians and militiamen.

The attack was one of several during the night deep in the delta near the Cambodian border in an area where the Viet Gong control vast areas of the countryside by night.

The Kep raid raised the claimed toll of Communist aircraft to 16 destroyed or damaged since Saturday. Four planes were reported destroyed or damaged on the ground at Kep Sunday and six others Saturday. The first raid on the MiG base 37 miles northeast of Hanoi was made April 24.

Ground action was light outside the delta, U.S. command reported. In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. pilots reported six more MiGs probably destroyed on the ground in the ninth attack on the ep air base north of Hanoi and widespread destruction to supply lines extending from Hanoi and Haiphong.

The heavy Viet Cong attack in the delta fell on two adjoining hamlets 110 miles south-west of Saigon. While one was being raked by mortar fire, guerrillas smashed into the other.

A company of about 120 militia defended the second village. They called for artillery support and for the U.S. planes that nightly circle the delta to provide flares and Gatling-gun support for embattled outposts.

HEAVY DEATH TOLL

A Vietnamese spokesman said 19 civilians were killed, 41 were wounded and the militia suffered heavy casualties, a term that means at least 20 were killed or wounded.

Elsewhere, fighting around Pleiku cost one U.S. Air Force Supersabre jet which dove into the ground after apparently being hit by guerrilla fire. The pilot was killed. It was the 185th combat plane downed by hostile action in South Vietnam.

Misty-Eyed Look Linked To The Pill

TORONTO (CP) — Women who start taking birth control pills after being fitted with contact lenses should visit an eye doctor to make sure the lenses fit properly, the committee on healing arts was told Tuesday.

Fred Sanger, representing the Ontario Association of Dispensing Opticians, told the committee that the pill changes a woman's hormone balance and this can affect the curvature of the corneas to the point where her lenses should be adjusted or replaced.

Some women on the pill retain more fluid in their bodies causing swelling in the cornea which makes the wearing of contact lenses unsafe and uncomfortable, said Dr. Michael Shea. Others suffer from blurred vision.

The association's brief said contact lenses should be fitted by opticians only of prescription and that the patient should be seen by an eye doctor during the fitting period.

Martin Pushes For Viet Peace In Quiet Talks

Consults With Rusk At NATO Meeting

LUXEMBOURG (CP) — Canadian efforts to end the fighting in Vietnam are being pushed by External Affairs Minister Martin in a round of strictly-private talks he is having here with foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a reliable informant said today.

Martin met twice with U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk Tuesday and is expected to have a further talk with him today. Rusk will be in Montreal next Monday for a meeting of U.S. and Canadian ministers responsible for North American regional planning in NATO.

Asked about the frequent contacts he was having with Rusk, Martin would not disclose either the subject matter or the nature of their discussions.

But an informant said the conferences were more concerned with Vietnam than any other subject.

Martin proposed in April that there be a military disengagement, with troops withdrawing from either side of the old demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam. A halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam would be part of this disengagement.

Martin holds the view that Canada can play a special role in bringing an end to the fighting through diplomatic and political initiatives. He feels it has been demonstrated that there will not be a military settlement.

Canada is a member of the International Control Commission in Vietnam, along with Poland and India.

Jackie, Children Off Tonight For Long Holiday in Ireland

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children will fly to Ireland tonight for a six-week summer holiday in the late President Kennedy's ancestral land. Ireland was bustling with excitement over the visit.

The family is scheduled to leave tonight and arrive at Shannon Airport Thursday morning. It will be a first visit for Caroline, 10, and John Jr., 6, who may be joined later by the two children of Princess Lee Radziwill, Mrs. Kennedy's sister.

The Kennedy's will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Murray McDonnell and their eight children, sharing the 53-room Woodstown house near Waterford City.

Rented from stockbroker Cholmeley Harrison the house is located on extensive grounds, abounding in woods and meadows. It includes a beach on St. George's Channel and provides ample privacy for the former first lady.

McDonnell is the brother of Mrs. Anne Ford, divorced wife of auto tycoon Henry Ford II.

Stanfield Out Of Tory Contest

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Premier Robert Stanfield of Nova Scotia has indicated he will not seek the national Conservative leadership, it was reported here today.

Supporters of national party president Dalton Camp say they have received a "firm no" from the premier.

They are still waiting to hear from Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba and Premier John Robarts of Ontario before deciding whether Mr. Camp should seek the post.

Opponents of Mr. Diefenbaker within the Conservative caucus met here with Mr. Camp Tuesday night. Mr. Camp is expected to announce his decision later this week.

The leadership election September 3 in Toronto was forced by Mr. Camp at the last national Tory convention.

Camp Should Resign Says Maritime Tory

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Ewart C. Atkinson of Fredericton, a former member of the New Brunswick legislature for Sunbury County, said Wednesday he has asked Dalton Camp to resign as national president of the Progressive Conservative party.

"Dalton Camp, the national president of the Progressive Conservative party in Canada, hasn't the confidence of the rank and file of the Conservative party throughout the country and he should resign as national president," Mr. Atkinson said in a telephone interview.

"I have so stated in a letter to him."

Mr. Atkinson, a lawyer and a member of the Conservative party's provincial executive, said "there's a movement afoot" to close nominations for the party's national leadership several days before the leadership convention opens in Toronto in September.

He said he is opposed to this and has voiced his objection in letters to the party's national director and K. A. Goodman of Toronto, a co-chairman of the leadership convention.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

A weakening Pacific disturbance brought some rain to the north coast and the Bulkley Valley overnight and spread cloud to the south coast. Bands of cloud from the system are expected to spread over southern B.C. tonight and Thursday, but rain is expected to be confined to the outer coast. Rising pressure behind the system will bring a return to sunny weather in northern areas Thursday and extend slowly southward.

Japanese Four-Masted Ships Sail Past, Hold Open House

Victorians will get a rare chance tonight to see two of the world's few remaining four-masted sailing ships in action.

Between 6 and 8 the Japanese training ships Kaiwo and Nippon Maru will be put through their paces along Marine Drive in the region of Trial Island.

Under full sail, they will manoeuvre in the area before docking at Ogden Point.

Before leaving next Tuesday, the ships will be open to the public on a number of occasions.

At the request of the ships' captains certain times have been changed from those originally announced.

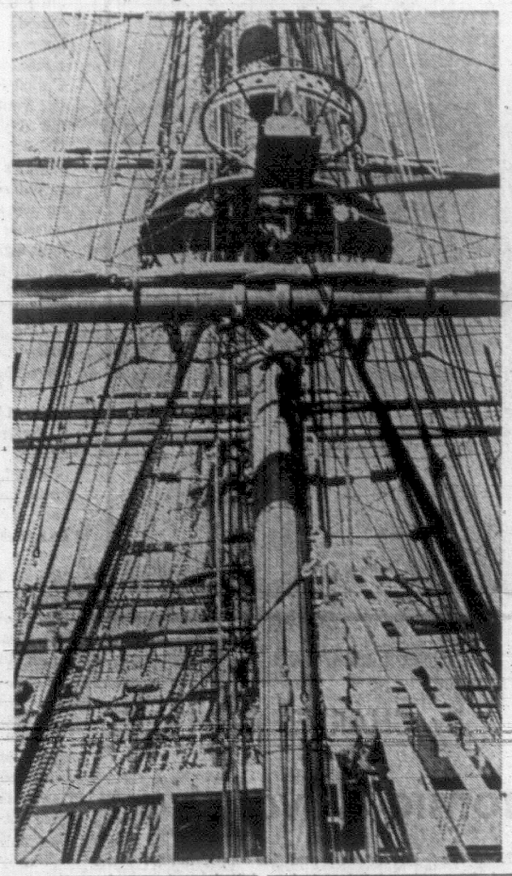

Open house hours will be: Thursday and Friday, 5 to 8 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 5 and 6 to 8.

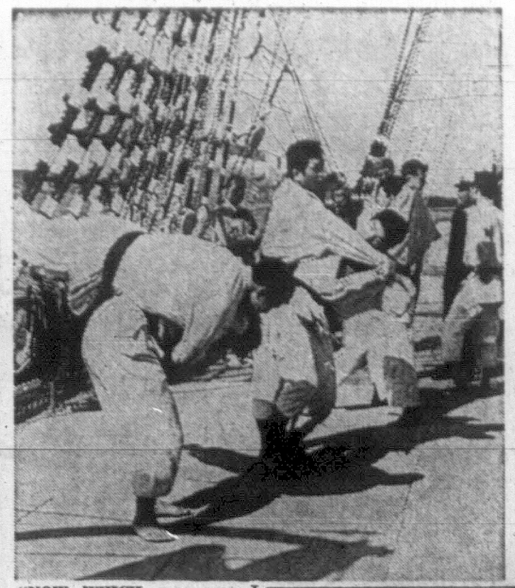

An exhibition of sail drill will now be held at noon Saturday.

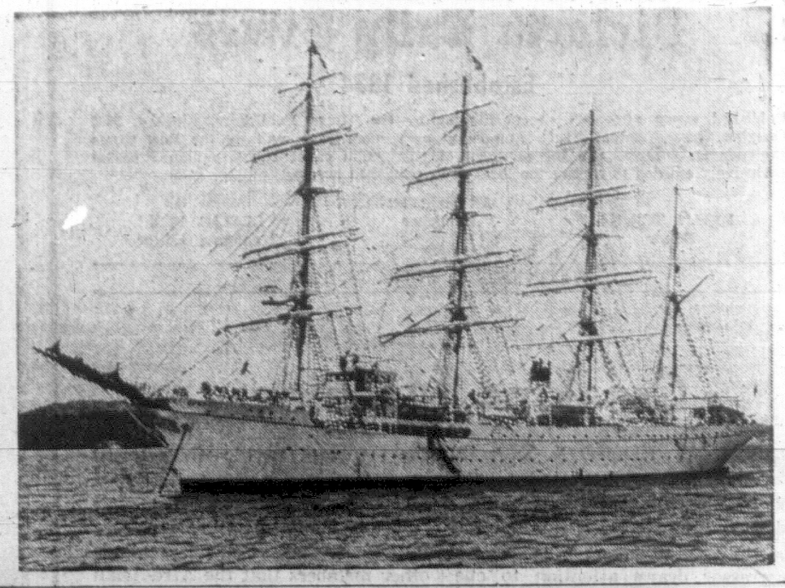

During their stay here, crews will be entertained by private citizens. People wishing to host a crew member should call 383-7191.

In addition the crews will take part in a variety of events, including a band concert, a judo display and a baseball game at Royal Athletic Park starting 1 p.m. Sunday.

On leaving here Tuesday the Nippon Maru will head for New Westminster and the Kaiwo Maru for Prince Rupert.

"NOW WHICH rope was I supposed to pull? Second from the left, or was it the third?" Not so simple decision has to be made every day by crews of Japanese training ships, Kaiwo Maru and Nippon Maru. Complexity of ropes used to hoist sails aboard four-masted barques is graphically illustrated at left. When not throwing weight into the job, cadets aboard ship practise throwing each other. Ancient Japanese art of judo is demonstrated as vessels lay at anchor off Royal Roads Tuesday. At right the Kaiwo Maru can be seen in all her glory. (Times photos by Irving Strickland.)

'Special Status For Arab Areas'

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel began administering its conquered territory west of the River Jordan Tuesday as virtually a separate entity with its own currency.

A tight military cordon cuts off the Old City of Jerusalem and the west bank of the Jordan from Israel. Reliable sources said eventually a network of customs and frontier posts will cut off the Arabs in the conquered area of Jordan until a final settlement is made.

The Arabs will be administered by Israelis but will be unable to pass freely into Israel, these sources said.

Although the Old City will be incorporated into Israel Proper, and air-conditioned tourist buses already were running through it, the former areas of Jordan will have special status, the sources reported.

The Jordanian dinar, which has been pegged to the British pound, was declared the official currency but with a slightly lower value. It will be convertible into Israeli pounds.

REVIVE SERVICES

Gen Haim Herzog, the military governor, told reporters his military administration had worked for four days to restore water, electricity, garbage collection and other municipal services in Jerusalem to prevent the Old City from becoming a plague spot.

He said the Jerusalem population was co-operating fully, and some of the officials on the two sides of the city who had not seen each other for almost 20 years had met and embraced after the Israelis took over.

A tour of the city confirmed that it had indeed been cleaned up. The major part of the Old City, which escaped bombardment, was neater than an Israeli slum district on the other side of the line.

All religious shrines were guarded by Israeli troops.

Israel Blitz Could End Yemen Strife

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — One byproduct of Israel's blitz victory over the Egyptians may be an end to the civil war in Yemen—either through a quick and bloody royalist victory or by a peace agreement.

The destruction of much of Egypt's air force and army raises the question of whether President Gamal Abdel Nasser, with his economy teetering on the edge of ruin, can afford the men, money and material which are the mainstay of the Yemeni republican regime.

The fighting in Yemen, largely forgotten in the crisis with Israel, began in 1962 when rebel army officers threw Imam Mohammed el Badr off his 11-century-old throne and set up a republic in the Red Sea kingdom in the southwest corner of Arabia.

The Imam rallied loyal tribesmen for war and Nasser sent more than 70,000 troops to shore up the rebel regime led by bearded, sullen Col. Abdullah al-Sallal.

Alarmed by the presence of the Egyptian Army on its border, Saudi Arabia threw its support behind the royalists.

Princely commanders of the royalist forces say the death toll in Yemen goes into the hundreds of thousands. They say some 30,000 Egyptian soldiers have been killed or wounded in the fighting.

Egyptian air raids have shattered hillside villages. Hundreds of villagers have died from Egyptian poison gas, the use of which was confirmed this month by the International Red Cross.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Creaking Machinery

RUSSIA'S REQUEST FOR A meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations to consider the Middle East situation and possibly condemn Israel as an aggressor draws attention to one of the basic difficulties that has crept into the world organization during the past decade. That is the creation of the so-called Afro-Asian bloc, composed largely of newly-formed states which have not yet attained political and economic maturity.

Numbering about half the membership of the United Nations, these countries do not operate effectively as a permanent bloc—their interests and programs are much too diverse for that. But on certain questions of common concern they can muster a fairly solid voting strength. On a one-member-one-vote basis they can thus exert an influence on world affairs out of proportion to their relative weight. And quite conceivably they could commit countries such as Britain or the United States or Russia to projects which would be very costly or dangerous for the latter but relatively light burdens for the Afro-Asian countries.

This is one reason for the decline in UN prestige during the past few years and the preference of some of the major countries for direct negotiation to settle their affairs with other powers. They are reluctant to place their interests at the mercy of a vote which might be decided by the new, undeveloped states. In the present case, Russia's resort to the Assembly after failure in the Security Council, reminds other members that the Afro-Asian nations are largely pro-Arab and that there may be more politics than righteous indignation in the move.

The Soviet request recalls the recourse of Western nations to the General Assembly when it was found impossible to overcome the Russian veto in the Council and obtain action to counter the North Korean invasion of South Korea. In that case, the Assembly action was taken under the clause which gives that body jurisdiction when the Council is unable to act to maintain international peace and security. In the present instance, the fighting is over and the clause appears to be less applicable.

But now serious charges have been made against Israel by Arab governments in regard to observance of the ceasefire, particularly in the movement of troops after the deadline, and these should be thoroughly investigated by the UN to determine their truth. The matter should not be left to dire warnings from Russia and threatening orders to Israel to return to the pre-war national boundaries. More than such methods are necessary if a peace with some hope of permanence is to be established.

More Delay, More Unrest

FOR TWO YEARS THE "WHITE backlash" against the fight of American Negroes for a better deal has been growing. Instead of attempting to repair the damage done in the bitter racial strife of 1965, the white leadership of the United States, with a few notable exceptions, has failed to tackle the problem rationally.

The programs which were to help the Negro to better himself have been shortchanged by reluctant legislators who have counted the votes and discovered that "black power" is something that doesn't show up at election time except in a relatively few areas where the 10 per cent Negro population of the United States is heavily concentrated. The war in Vietnam, draining off more than $25 billions a year from government revenues, is also a major factor in the ruination of President Johnson's Great Society, which was vital to Negro aspirations.

Now, in recent weeks, racial disorders have begun to rock the country from one end to another. It could be the beginning of a "long, hot summer" of civil strife even more serious than two years ago. Hope was raised then that there would be concrete action to improve educational and economic opportunities for Negroes. Very little was actually accomplished in the interim and the bitterness has grown much stronger. Even the originally pacifist Negro organizations and leaders have become militant—and where they haven't their leadership has been eroded—with the result that there are few people today on the Negro side who are preaching caution.

Negro author James Baldwin put the problem in perspective recently when he said that a Negro father today could put up with the prospect that his life would not be any better in the future. What he could not endure, as a man and as a father, was that his children's lives should not be better. The argument that the Negro should go slow in his quest for de facto equality will not be accepted much longer by many members of that race.

Encouraging Report on Parole

IF THE PRESENT TREND CONtinues, the number of prisoners paroled from Canadian penitentiaries this year will reach a record 3,000, Solicitor-General Pennell told the Commons last week.

The figure is significant, not only because it would establish a record, but because it reflects the attitude of authorities in Canada working for the rehabilitation of those who have been sentenced for various crimes. In this respect it expressed the point of view of the Solicitor-General.

"Speaking for myself," he says, "I remain firmly committed to the belief that increased probation and parole are our best instruments in the task of human renewal. I want to express the hope that those in authority will continue to exercise their discretion in these matters generously."

The comment follows presentation of two impressive statistics by the solicitor-general.

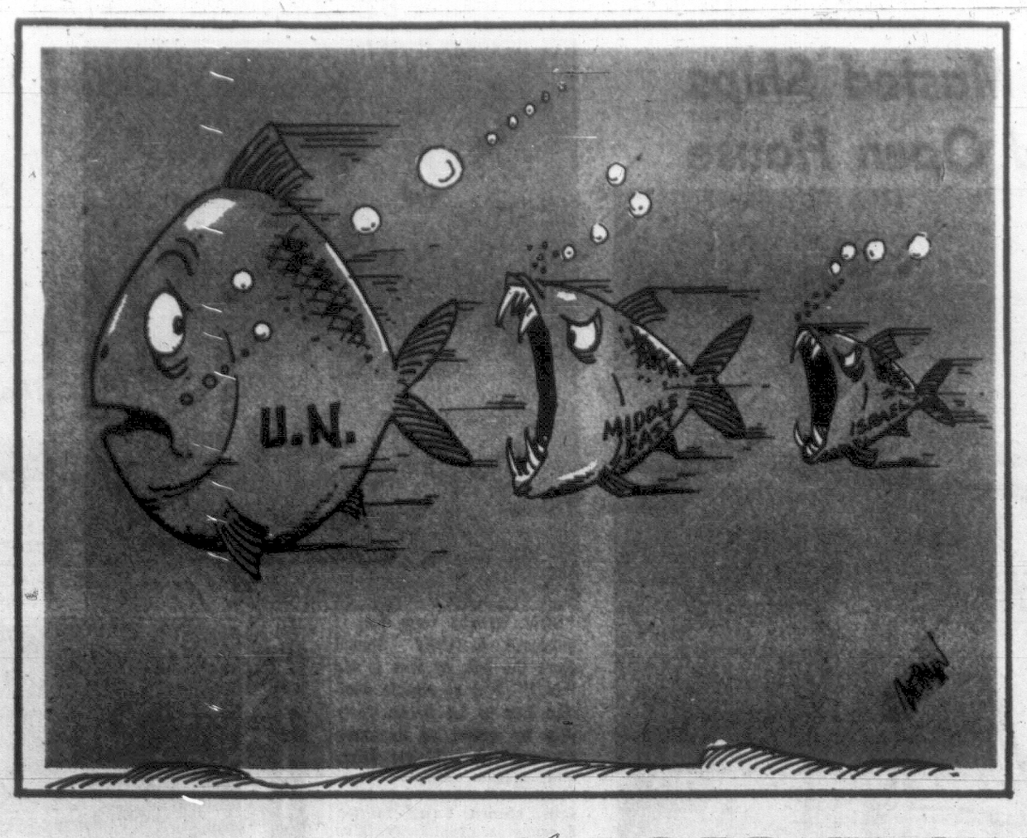

He notes, first, that about 45 per cent of those entering a federal prison in any years have previously been in the same or some other federal prison serving a sentence of two years or more.

In other words, federal houses of correction fail to correct roughly half the people who are sent to them.

On the other hand, the cabinet member states that the rate of failure for those granted parole remains fairly constant at from 10 to 11 per cent.

This does not mean that if everyone in prison were paroled, rehabilitation would be effected in approximately nine out of 10 cases. Those given conditional release by the parole authorities are selected inmates, chosen for their attitudes and apparent potential to return to lives of good citizenship. In the entire prison population, some offer no promise of making the transition —among them the hard core of the 45 per cent who are recidivists.

The stand taken by Mr. Pennell, and his encouraging report on sustained success through non-institutional treatment of some prisoners, reflect a realistic approach to one of Canada's large problems. But large sums are still going into the construction of maximum security prison buildings—a program which appears to be based on a philosophy lagging far behind Mr. Pennell's thinking.

UN Position

I was very interested to read your interview with Arthur W. Wootton in the June 6 issue of the Times in which he stated that the aim of the World Federalists was the setting up of a world police force under the control of the United Nations.

Events in the Middle East in the past few days clearly show how helpless the UN has become in settling international disputes due to the fact that it is unable to enforce its decisions and that it now merely acts as a debating society whose members pay lip service to the charter they signed but ignore the same charter at will if it interferes with their narrow national interests or conflicts with treaties or pacts made outside the UN.

One point that Mr. Wooton failed to make is that under a revised and strengthened UN Charter, as proposed by the World Federalists, a portion of the vast sums of money saved by nations no longer having to maintain individual armies and war machines would be diverted to an agency of the UN that would use these billions to relieve hunger and privation in underdeveloped countries.

This strengthening of the United Nations must come or it will fail as the League of Nations failed and the last hope of a stable world will be lost.—David S. Prosser, 1124 Mt. Newton Cross Rd.

Ghastly Error

Aside from any of the other facters, rights or claims, I am left completely mystified by the action of President Nasser in ordering the UN peace-keeping force out of his territory prior to the Mid-East action.

Surely this must be the most ghastly diplomatic and military miscalculation in history, for the Israeli forces would never have dared risk world censure by shooting their way through the UN patrols.—Observer.

Scattered Grass

We are now at the time of year when teams of men come around with scythes and make "half-hearted passes at long weeds and grasses" — and usually miss about a third of them.

The ones which fall, stay where they fall — be it sidewalk, roadway or on one's driveway — if the scythe sweeps them onto it.

And then the small-fry in this area scatter the debris still more, and the seeds which are, of course, in both the weeds and grass, are scattered still more.

I'm told the grass, etc., must be cut to prevent it becoming a fire-hazard. It would seem to me that, cutting and letting it become dry and scattered does little or nothing to retard the hazard. — Curious

FROM MADRID — By CHARLES BARTLETT

Franco Pushed Into Economic Revolution

LOOSENING the screws is delicate work for a dictator and El Caudillo is holding the machinery of liberalization in neutral gear while he and his ministers assess the changes which have already taken place in Spain.

These changes have frightened the government enough to cause Francisco Franco to pull back on the promises of last year's organic law. He thus risks new public frustrations because he does not dare at the moment to take the risk of further change.

Alarmed Falangist voices, the echoes of reaction, are heard again in government councils as they cite the student riots, the galloping inflation, the awesome deficit in the balance of payments, and the declining graciousness of life in Madrid as evidence that Franco has let things go too far.

It is certainly true, as James Morris wrote recently, that the Spaniard turns out, when given the opportunity, to be much like the rest of us. His material appetites have swiftly grown more sophisticated than the Spanish economy. His automobiles have reduced Madrid overnight into an imposing backdrop for a traffic jam. He has begun to scalp the tourist, hailed only a few years ago as the catalyst of the new era.

The Falangists insist that the defects of the new era outweigh the virtues and that government policies should be aimed at restoring the old order, keeping down the middle class, limiting foreign ties and reapplying rigid controls of a government that does not care what ousiders think of it.

Pause for Breath

Franco is wise enough to know that he must press forward. But he is plainly puzzled by the uncertainties which confront him and he has abandoned the day-to-day management of the government in recent months, presumably to catch his breath and devise his strategy.

The crux of his problem lies with the band of "new economists" in whom he has put his faith since 1959. They persuaded him to invite tourists and foreign capital, to expand imports, and to court admission to the Common Market. These were brilliant, subtle men and they perceived that the best hope of liberalizing the political climate of Spain was to liberalize its economics.

This proved to be sound. Franco's initiatives to free the press and institute freedom of worship for Protestants and Jews were prompted by the necessity to look more progressive abroad. Even the Spanish Socialists benefitted from Franco's need to seem more appealing to socialist parties in the Common Market countries.

But the momentum of liberalization is stalled because the economy is stalled. The "new economists," after reaping the credit for the miracle of the economy's upsurge, are blamed now for its hesitation. The government's need to sell gold to close the payments gap and to struggle against inflation has encouraged the old economists to argue that Spain can't afford the new ones.

Spain has won a surface prosperity from a surface modernization of her economic life. To go further, she will have to take more difficult steps. The white collar worker, clinging to his siesta schedule which yields him three hours at home while the children are at school, will have to accept a more productive allotment of his time.

The autocrats who control banks and industries in tight monopolies will have to surrender the privileges that keep Spain's resources in the hands of so few. Reforms in taxes and agriculture must go forward and job opportunities must be developed for skilled workers who now migrate abroad.

This is bitter medicine for the old guard and Franco's epitaph in history will depend heavily upon his success at making it go down. Having seized power almost 30 years ago to protect Spanish society from severe change, he finds himself obliged now to impose change to enable the society to survive.

At 74 the Generalissimo is the only figure strong enough to face the autocrats and so he has come to represent the best hope for the economic revolution that will stave off political revolution. It is a curious role for an old man and he is accepting it reluctantly and slowly.

But he has signalled his intention to stay with the new economists who press to give the people and the economy their release from the repressions of an anachronistic system. This is an uncertain, hazardous course for a dictator but many progressive Spaniards have come to hope that he will live to see it through.

Clarification Due

Quebec Le Soleil

When the Fathers of Confederation agreed in 1867 on the terms of union, in drafting the British North America Act they drew on two models — the American constitution, which stems from the written law, and the Common Law of Britain . . . Interpretation of our constitution is based both on the written law and the unwritten law, which perhaps explains why purely theoretical constitutional researches have not proliferated in the country . . .

The federal minister of justice now considers that the time has come for clarification of some of the points that appear obscure in our constitution.

For a year now, constitutional research has been carried out in Ottawa in collaboration with the privy council's secretariat of provincial relations. Mr. Trudeau has announced the appointment of two prominent Canadian jurists to the constitutional team in Ottawa. They are Messrs. Carl Goldenberg of Montreal and Ivan L. Head of Edmonton . . .

The initiative to increase constitutional research in Ottawa is justified because of the circumstances. Real constitutional "heresies" have been bandied about in Canada for some time concerning, for example, the powers of the provinces at the international level, the role of the Supreme Court of Canada in jurisidictional conflicts between the provinces and the central government, and the position of the provinces in our federal regime . . .

FROM CALGARY — By JAMES H. GRAY

How to Beat the Estates Tax Rap

IT is not often that any government will stand up in public and tell its citizens precisely how to go about dodging the payment of taxes to another government. Alberta has just done that in a booklet on its inheritance tax rebate system. Under the legislation enacted at the last session, Alberta, by foregoing all its share of the estates tax levies by Ottawa, hopes to convert Alberta into a tax haven for wealthy Canadians and Americans. Like everything else involving money, the taxation of estates is a complicated subject. Taxation of estates depends both on the "domicile" or "residence" of the owner and on the location or "situs" of the property in the estate. It is in connection with the latter that the free advice to tax avoiders is being given.

Gray

To qualify as an Albertan requires three years "residence" or "domicile" in the province. The Alberta government emphasizes that the two words are not synonymous. It points out that acquisition of a new "domicile" depends on the intention of the person as well as on his conduct. On this point the government strongly advises its citizens and others contemplating moving to Alberta to hire a lawyer.

Once a person has acquired Alberta domicile and has departed this life, the problem of avoiding inheritance duties on his estate arises. The system is for the government of Canada to tax all estates and then rebate 75 per cent of its bite to the provinces. It is this 75 per cent share that Alberta is relinquishing. The federal government will still collect its 25 per cent.

The complexity of the problem is illustrated by these facts. Estates consist of land, cash, mortgages, securities, etc. There is no problem with cash, land, etc. It is taxed where it is. But securities are taxed in the nearest province in which a transfer agency is located. Thus an Alberta residence with $1,000,000 invested in a Canadian company which had its transfer agent in Quebec would have to pay succession duties on the $1,000,000 to Quebec.

Obviously that eventuality could be avoided if the rich tax avoider converted all his securities into companies with transfer offices in Alberta. But the Albertan government has another suggestion; incorporate a personal holding company under the Alberta Companies Act.

The wealthy Albertan exchanges his Canadian company shares for Alberta company shares at current market prices. When he dies, it is the shares of the Alberta company that are in his estate, so Quebec loses its succession duties on the $1,000,000 worth of Canadian corporation shares held by the Alberta company. His heirs acquire the $1,000,000 free of provincial estates taxes. They can get the million in cash by ordering the Alberta company to sell the shares it holds in the Canadian company, then wind up the former and distribute its cash assets among themselves.

After spelling out how to do the deal, and urging its citizens to get the best legal and accounting advice available, the Alberta government booklet comments: "a change of situs of property . . . should yield substantial benefits by increased entitlement to an estates tax rebate."

The benefits rise of course with the size of the estate. But even with comparative modest estates, the advantage is worth looking after. In Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan or British Columbia an estate of $115,000 would pay total inheritance duties of $9,200 — split $6,900 to the provinces and $2,300 to the Federal Government. In Alberta the savings now will be $6,900 which will reduce the gross tax to only $2,300 — the federal portion.

It is worth pointing out that group insurance and modern pension schemes, if they include survivor clauses, can push relatively modest estates into a taxable position.

Haven for Big-Wealthy

It is, however, the multi-million dollar estates, where the government takes over 50 per cent, which will benefit most from the Alberta system. And it is the big-wealthy that Alberta is hoping to attract with its tax haven legislation.

There are already indications that interest in locating in Alberta is being aroused. Representatives of wealthy West German family corporations have been in Alberta recently to look for investment opportunities. A member of a wealthy American brewing family has moved his pure-bred livestock operation to Alberta and paid more than $1,000,000 for one of the province's oldest and best-known ranching spreads.

Wealthy Americans who go into pure-bred livestock can take advantage of king-sized loop-holes in American tax laws and finance livestock operations with deductions from tax liabilities. Ultimately they will pay a capital gains tax on the disposal of the livestock operation, but at rates far below normal income tax rates. By moving the operation, and themselves, to Alberta they can avoid succession duties as well.

The Alberta government is doing more than sitting back waiting for the influx to begin. It is handing out helpful advice to its citizens, and hoping that everybody outside its borders chooses to profit from its freely dispensed advice.

Looking Back

From The Times June 14, 1907.

Some misapprehension exists with respect to the lease granted by the Dominion government to the Capital Canning Company for sockeye fishing in Cowichan Lake.

The government, took every precaution not only to protect the river fishing but increase its value.

A feature of the lease is that it required that a large salmon hatchery be built immediately of not less than ten millions capacity. The hatchery is directly under Dominion supervision

West Germany Charts Rise of Neo-Nazism

Süddeutsche Zeitung
Munich, West Germany

In its report on the development of right-wing extremism during 1966, the Federal Ministry of the Interior states that for the first time in six years an extreme right-wing party has succeeded "in winning seats at state assembly elections, and thus becoming a political factor."

The report states that at the end of 1965 the NPD had about 14,000 members. During the course of 1966 this figure rose to some 25,000. In the same period 21 extreme right-wing associations and publications went out of existence, while six new ones appeared.

The prime beneficiary of this development was the NPD. The total membership of extreme right-wing organizations at the end of 1966 was 36,200. They had thus regained their 1960 strength.

The Ministry of the Interior concludes that the 11,000 increase in NPD membership in one year was achieved by intensive publicity. The Bavarian branch of the party was the strongest with 6,000 members.

On the political background of the party's members and officials, the report states that the proportion of ex-Nazi party members in the NPD is at least eight times higher than in the population as a whole.

ADOLPH VON THADDEN
. . . growing support

An investigation of social backgrounds showed that some 64 per cent of members were from the middle classes. The most well represented occupations were independent businesses, commerce, handicrafts and agriculture. Recruitment from these sectors was increasing.

Support from the working-class is slight, says the report, and is in fact declining further. The proportion of refugees and expellees among NPD members was somewhat higher than in the populations as a whole. The average age of members was 43.

The Ministry adds that the NPD possesses an efficient central organization. Contributions from members and supporters were comparatively large. In 1966 the receipts of the party's central office alone had risen 400,000 Marks. On the other hand, the party has so far received no appreciable donations from industry or business.

Commenting on the party's method of attracting new members, the Ministry reports that activists and officials are directed to concentrate their efforts on promising young people who can be offered jobs in the party. The various party organizations are required to hold regular general meetings.

According to the report, the circulation of extreme right-wing newspapers, magazines and information pamphlets had risen to a total of 272,900 copies by the end of 1966. This twenty per cent increase was largely attributable to the growing circulation of the NPD weekly newspaper Deutsche Nachrichten and the Deutsche Nationalzeitung und Soldatenzeitung.

The Ministry goes on to say that the NPD has all the characteristics of an extreme right-wing party, and it calls it a "party without a program."

The party tends towards an anti-intellectual, predominantly emotional and highly stereotyped way of thinking. It attempts to avoid political confrontations by flight into the realm of dogma and irrational superstitions. The party is, the report adds, out to unleash political passions.

The report found a growing number of parallels in 1966 between the NPD's views and Nazi ideology. A speech by NPD ideologist Anrich is quoted, in which he defined the concept of "volk" in the following terms: "Biological organism of a particular nature and vitality that controls the state."

NO EASY OPTIONS AVAILABLE TO U.S.

By DAVID S. BRODER

Events have a way of mocking the words even of those who profess to be experts on foreign affairs.

Richard Nixon, whose claim to the 1968 Republican presidential nomination rests largely on the asserted superiority of his knowledge and experience in world affairs, flew off to the Middle East, 10 days ago, confidnetly forecasting that war between Israel and the Arab nations could be averted.

Before his airplane left Paris on the second leg of his trip, he had been proved wrong.

What can be done, even by a layman, at this moment is to acknowledge some of the myths more serious than the Nixon Infallibility Doctrine that were shattered by the gunfire in the Middle East.

There is, for example, the myth that the United States can escape its commitments and interests. That myth has been propagated by some of the critics of the American policy in Vietnam, who, in their anguish at the consequences of our intervention there, have talked as though the commitment itself could be erased.

This is not to argue that the interests of the United States in Vietnam are identical or equivalent to those in the Middle East. To the contrary, it must be obvious even to those who have depicted Vietnam as the crucial battleground in the effort to control the Communists that there are areas of vastly greater strategic and political consequences at stake — including the Middle East.

Indeed, the Middle East crisis may well be regarded as an argument for limiting American military involvement in such areas of secondary interest as Vietnam.

But what the Arab-Israeli struggle clearly shows is that once the United States enters an arena of international politics, it cannot opt out. Nor can it shift the responsibilities it has assumed for itself to the United Nations or some other international body.

The deterioration of the United Nations as a moral and political force in world affairs has been revealed more clearly by the Mideast crisis than by any other event in recent years. That is an unpleasant fact, but it can no longer be evaded, even by those in our country who have found in Secretary-General U Thant's statements on Vietnam a comforting endorsement of their own views.

Pretending that the United Nations has an authority it no longer possesses is a dangerous myth; we can now see that it encourages the United States to think it can escape responsibilities that are in fact unavoidable.

From this unhappy time, we might also learn the danger of moral posturing in the world of international politics. Elevan years ago, the British-French-Israeli Suez operation was halted by the United Nations, with strong support from the United States, in an atmosphere that was almost an orgy of moral self-congratulation.

Today, neither the United Nations nor the United States was able to prevent the Communist-backed Arab power play in the Gulf of Aqaba from triggering the war.

Finally, and most important, we might learn from the present predicament that just as there are no easy options available to the United States, so there are no final solutions for the problem areas of this world. We cannot shut the file on any phase of international politics any more than we can shut our eyes to the unpleasant realities of this age.

We may persuade ourselves briefly that economic and political integration of national states is possible, but we learn anew that old hatreds and rivalries persist.

There is no sanctuary in dreams of what might be. This world and this time is our fate. The one certainty is that if we manage to get through this crisis, there will be another one down the road.

Time to Get Mutual Trust Airborne Like the Band

By ART STOTT

When Horace Dawson broached the plan to have S. J. Willis Junior High spearhead the fund campaign to send the Kuper Island school band to Expo, his case carried unique appeal.

Stott

As he set it out, the youngsters at Kuper Island had had their spirits lifted to the clouds by what they believed was assurance of the trip. Then, when it became known that the provision of funds had not been arranged, that it was all a misunderstanding, they faced a crushing disappointment.

Horace thought that children in his own school would appreciate the heartbreak more than most people. They include a number who know what it means to do without, to be disappointed. He assessed their attitude correctly. They were more than willing to help to give the Kuper Island children "the trip of a lifetime."

As of today it seems certain the young bandsmen will reach Montreal and appear proudly at the exposition.

A great number of people, organizations and government have supported Horace in his drive—and through that support have, I believe, done something more than provide an impressive junket for the children.

Here, it seems to me, is a clear indication of community sentiment which should make a considerable impression on our Indians generally.

Their needs run far deeper than a trip to Expo by a relatively small group of children. They require better housing. They should enjoy a higher standard of living and derive greater returns from their lands. They are entitled to broader social acceptability by the white population. And, above all, they must be given greater incentive to encourage education among their young people.

Some of my school-teaching friends have told me of the disheartening experience they have found among Indian children in class and in the schoolyard. They seem to live school life on the fringes. Seldom do they progress up to Grade 10, even less frequently to higher education.

There are a number of reasons for the early dropouts among the pupils from the reservations. Few of them have the home environments which stimulate advanced study. Many of them suffer from the movement of parents to seasonal work away from their regular homes.

And, say my teacher friends a little self-consciously, too many of them in integrated schools gain the impression that they don't belong. That is an attitude that can grow from a relatively innocent absorption by non-Indian children in their own affairs and with their own friends as well as from a lack of self-confidence among the Indian pupils. No doubt there are instances when the cause of Indian disenchantment is not so innocent, but it is my hope and belief that provocative incidents are rare and becoming rarer.

One of my acquaintances now deeply involved in Northwest Territories education has commented on the relationship of non-Indian and Indian people as well as Eskimos in the area in which he works. The Eskimos approach the white population in a happy frame of mind, the Indians with a certain reserve bordering on mistrust.

"The Eskimo," he explained, "hasn't had as long an exposure to the whiteman. The Indian knows, over a century or more, how many times he has been 'done' by the white brother. He's a little suspicious."

In a small—certainly not a breast-beating—way, I hope the response to the Kuper Island band appeal may modify a comparable reserve locally. When the community had a chance to help the Indian youngsters, the community came through. Credit the Dawson energetic drive for much of the success, but respect, also, the support that he found.

It may be over-optimism on my part, but I think a similar response can be generated for attacks on other problems faced by the Indians. They have friends.

Shortly the young bandsmen will be airborne. Maybe it's time we got the spirit of mutual trust between our different racial groups here off the ground, too.

UN's Performance Today in Contrast With That of 1956

By CLYDE SANGER
(Special to the Times)

UNITED NATIONS — Many writers have stressed the greater speed at which Israel gained its victory this time than in 1956.

But nobody here seems to have had a spare hour to compare how the UN performance this time has matched its record ten and one half years ago. It is worth doing briefly if only to point up the great extra difficulties ahead of the world organization today.

By this stage in 1956 a great deal had happened at the United Nations. Because France and Britain had vetoed moves in the security council, the general assembly had been made the centre of debate. And two far-reaching resolutions had passed the assembly under the masterminding of Lester Pearson, then Canada's external affairs minister.

In 48 Hours

The first asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to draw up within 48 hours a blueprint for a UN emergency force "to secure and supervise the cessation of hostilities." The second approved his report and established a UN command under Canadian Major-General E. L. M. Burns, and authorized him to recruit staff.

The assembly had, under the skilful management of Pearson and the untiring work of Hammarskjold and his staff, made great strides toward not only disengaging the warring forces but — as it turned out — interposing a buffer unit that was to keep the peace during the next decade.

Comparing the UN performance during the two crises at just this level, there is admittedly a meagre showing this time. It took two days to get a simple ceasefire call. Unlike 1956 there was no clause added demanding the withdrawal of troops. Another two days passed before the four principal combatants had indicated acceptance of a ceasefire. But no individuals had been named or machinery approved to secure the end of fighting.

Not Quite Fair

This comparison isn't quite fair to today's diplomats. In 1956 the machinery to secure the ceasefire was agreed by the assembly several days before Britian and France accepted the ceasefire call. Also, of course, then Russia and the United States were working on parallel (and only occasionally diverging) courses in getting a withdrawal to the armistice lines of 1948-49.

This time, however much U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg may have claimed Washington is non-partisan (a claim strengthened by the resentment evident in Tel Aviv) everyone here has seen the superb powers placed on opposite shores.

With Israel now knowing the hollowness of the guarantee any UN force can make for freedom of passage in the Gulf of Aqaba, the withdrawal of Israeli troops has become the big bargaining counter Tel Aviv possesses for securing a maritime convention — and the other claims its leaders have in any peace settlement, such as diplomatic recognition from the Arabs.

LESTER PEARSON

U.S. Guarantee

Ten years ago Pearson foresaw this problem. He bluntly told the Israelis he thought they were foolish to get out of Sharm el Sheikh, relying only on an American guarantee of free passage from Elath without securing an assembly resolution on free passage.

The Israeli Ambassador in Ottawa, Michael Comay, replied: "OK, you get the votes."

That's the background to the latest debate: a tougher attitude assumed from the first day by the Israelis who trust no one entirely — not even Washington and certainly not the United Nations as a body — to secure their privileges or claims.

When three burly miners tried to keep Father Pat from his duty he met them on their own ground — beat two of them senseless and chased the third into the woods.

When Father Pat's good works needed money, he thought nothing of marching into a saloon, preaching a rousing sermon and collecting a pot from the poker players.

Rev. Henry Irwin

British Columbia's pioneer churchmen, Rev. Henry Irwin.

Father Pat was the name the miners gave him because he was Irish. He wasn't a Roman Catholic but an Anglican, although many miners never were sure because all men of all creeds were treated the same by him.

He was born in Ireland, August 2, 1859, the son of a vicar. He was schooled at Dublin to be a missionary. Even in theological college, he starred in athletics. He served as a curate at Rugby until 1885 when he was sent as an assistant to the Bishop of New Westminster, who in turn sent him to Kamloops, to assist a vicar. Travelling by horseback to administer to miners, railway workers and lonely settlers, he was soon a beloved figure.

He built a church at Donald and served at an Indian School at Yale.

He married in 1890, but his wife died in childbirth. He was sent to be mission priest at Rossland in 1896 and it was during the next five years there that his fame grew. He established a library. He fished, played cricket and football with his parishoners. No journey was too deep into the wilderness if he thought he could help someone.

In 1901, tired and ill, he set out for Ireland, but left the train in a daze near Montreal and was found with his feet frozen, physically depleted. He died at Montreal in 1902 at the age of 43. In Rossland a memorial fountain was erected in his honor, by people of all faiths, and it stands there yet.

Not Much Illumination From Political Scientists

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, lectures in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

The headlines say that discord rips the Department of Political Science at McMaster University in Hamilton. The story suggests that the department "has been made virtually impotent by academic intrigues and power struggles."

Fisher

The rumors about the McMaster struggle have been current in the academic community of Canada since last fall. While the situation must reflect some personal antagonisms which developed within the department's small world at McMaster, the more general interest arises from indications that it is a confrontation between the "behavioral" group and the "traditional" group within the subject field of political science. This is not a matter of "Left" against "Right" or even of "Liberal" against "Conservative."

To a degree it is the import of a stress from the U.S., although a Canadian teaching in the U.S., David Easton is one of the leaders in the behaviorist and "systems analysis" school which has created the tension in the discipline.

Crowe

Is the issue vital to politics? Not really. Neither the practices of Canadian politics and politicians, nor public understanding of our politics has been much illuminated or influenced by the study of political science or political scientists. One cannot be so cavalier about the role of academics in two other disciplines.

Historians such as Groulx, Brunet, Lower, Underhill and Creighton or economists such as Innis, Scott Gordon, Harry Johnson, and a host of younger men have given form and interpretation and policy to our politics.

If there is any tragedy in the issue symbolized by McMaster's problems it would seem to be the diversion from needed tasks. While we have had precious little utility from our political scientists, their numbers have been swelling enormously. We seemed entitled to expect the production of a host of studies to fill genuine gaps in our knowledge about governments, parties, interest groups, intergovernment relations, structures and so forth.

Much of what we need would only have to be descriptive rather than analytical to be useful, at least as a starting place. For example, we have nothing substantial which describes the operations of the prime minister and the Privy Council office. We haven't any comparative descriptions of the political parties and almost nothing on federal-provincial relations at the level of politicians or bureaucrats.

Politicians and readers have occasionally asked us for reading suggestions so they can master an understanding of Canadian politics. We refer them to the work of historians or economists but, aside from MacGregor Dawson's "The Government of Canada," recently brought up to date by Norman Ward, and a series of readings, gathered by Paul Fox, and published under the title "Politics: Canada," we can suggest little by political scientists that's good, general, and up-to-date.

In our opinion Newman's "Renegade In Power," a controversial book by a newspaper man, is a more useful contribution to political science on over-all Canadian politics than anything produced in the past decade by the professors.

We say "over-all Canadian politics" because there have been a few outstanding provincial studies and a fine book on political theory by the University of Toronto's C. B. Macpherson.

The feud between the behaviorists and the traditionalists seems to be incipient in most depratments of political science. While it seems to be a battle between a method and an attitude there's more to it. The newer approach ties in with computer use and the sweeping vogue of sociological analysis. As we see it, the traditionalist tends to have or should have an over-all view of politics.

Even the most uninformed citizen must have noticed the diversionary zeal for research. It used to be, when in doubt, politicians created a Royal Commission. That's still popular but the new OK practice is The Task Force, a more flexible, less open kind of commission.

Both commissions and task forces exalt research and spend millions on "studies." These are bringing a relatively new and substantial affluence to academics. Even the dullest Grade B political scientist or sociologist with a behaviorist label can nail down a contract for a study, the bill footed by governments. It's one of the great boondoggle areas of our time. All the advantages lie with the behaviorist because he is the vogue, endowed with the alchemy of jargon, computer dazzle, and supposedly concrete, accurate results.

An economist from Dalhousie, John Graham, told the Royal Society that social scientists must not let increased capabilities for handling data with computers obscure the need for value judgments. Nor should university professors become the tools of government and business who want specific jobs done. In other words, this is a counsel of caution about the swing along the behaviorist line which has rocked McMaster.

The only prediction we would make is that now the Trojan Horse of sociology is loose in the fields of political science in the guise of behaviorism, we will depend even more for academic, political analysis on historians, economists and philosophers.

Bennett Won't Rock Treasury For New Boat

Proposed Highway Must Come First

A sister ship will not be built now for the Queen of Prince Rupert deep-sea ferry because it would rock the treasury boat, Premier Bennett made clear Tuesday.

He told a press conference that the Kelsey Bay—Prince Rupert run drew more traffic than expected but expenditures in developing various sectors of the province's economy had to be kept in balance.

Despite the operating success, Mr. Bennett said there will not be a second ferry ordered for the run until current construction of Highway 16, linking Prince Rupert to Jasper, Alta., is completed and he didn't know when that would be.

"We're not cancelling the idea (for another ferry) but when the road is finished and the traffic is up we'll give it a new look," he said.

The premier turned down bids for a second deep-sea ferry last fall when the lowest came in at $9 million.

Press Misses Event But Not Premier

Premier Bennett chided the press Tuesday for forgetting Monday was a big event in his and the province's life.

"Just 15 years ago yesterday we had the election that resulted in the long count that brought us to power and it was passed unnoticed by this great press organization in B.C.," he observed with mock sadness at a press conference.

"You can see its a different province now," he said.

"B.C. then was a have-not province and today it is the No. 1 have province."

He said the surpluses reported by the mid-year economic review Monday had been criticized by political opponents "because these debt parties — the Conservatives, the Liberals and the NDP — know its the surplusses that will continue Social Credit in power.

"They want us to have deficits because they want us to fall by the wayside."

He added that he has no intention "of stepping down or stepping up" and plans to remain Premier "as long as God gives me health and the people give me their votes."

CHALLENGE TO FLORAL ARRANGERS

Centennial Theme at Flower Show

But try doing it with flowers.

That's the challenge facing floral arrangement artists in the Victoria Horticultural Society's Summer Show, Friday and Saturday at Victoria Curling Rink.

How do you depict the rugged beauty of Newfoundland? Or the birth of a nation in Prince Edward Island?

Apples and foliage will identify Nova Scotia in Annapolis Valley arrangements.

A marine design is required for New Brunswick entries. And wine bottles must be worked into the design for Quebec.

When viewers have crossed Canada they can turn to the junior section and visit the capital cities as represented in floral displays.

Contestants must use some part of the Douglas fir in depicting Victoria and farm animal figures for Regina. A high-rise will centre Toronto entries and a fortress is the base for Halifax displays.

These are just two of the 180 competitive classes contained in the society's show this year. But they are indicative of the imagination and artistry in the event.

Eight out-of-town judges will decide winners in fruits and vegetables as well as flowers.

Some of the special attractions include a centennial exhibit by landscape artist Ted Flare for Vancouver Island Association of Nurserymen and Allied Trades and a centennial bride display by Fred Blakeney's Miss Canada Roses, designed by Mrs. Hilda Wilkins.

There will be painting and pottery demonstrations and a large range of children's exhibits.

Hours are 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Admission is 50 cents but children accompanied by adults will be admitted without charge.

Ferries Will Be Dry . . . Inside

Teetotaller Premier Bennett Tuesday indicated he's going to keep his ferries dry all the time and B.C. restaurants teetotal on Sundays.

He told reporters that a liquor bar aboard the Pere Nouvel ferry bought by B.C. ferries will be eliminated as part of a $500,000 renovation program before it goes into service as the Sunshine Coast Queen.

He said he was adamant against drinking aboard government car ferries because "people would then criticize us for putting drunk drivers on the highways."

Asked for comment on a recent Canadian Tourist Association brief to all provincial governments which urged that B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan join all other provinces in allowing dining rooms to serve drinks on Sunday, the premier icily replied:

"Over the last three or four years, the tourist business in B.C. — on a percentage basis —has increased faster than in any other place in Canada."

Lower Grant Cost Charge Denied

Premier Bennett vehemently denied Tuesday his study of the feasibility of requiring separate school tax notices was intended to cut down home owner grant costs.

He said he has begun receiving mail from the public as he requested expressing views "on both sides of the question."

His main difficulty is to devise a means of ensuring that if a ratepayers' school tax is "only, say, $70 the other $50 can be credited in some way to his general (municipal) taxes.

"The experts here tell me there isn't but I'm still looking and I want ideas."

Mr. Bennett said he has even considered a cash refund to ratepayers whose school taxes were less than the $120 homeowner grant "but this is something we don't want to do because the whole purpose of the grant is to be sure it helps people pay their taxes.

"I want to emphasize there is no thought in the finance minister's mind (his own) of reducing the home owner grant or finding any manoeuvre to reduce it," he said.

Lawyer Questions Validity of B.C. Statute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer Ed Simons said Tuesday he is defending three persons charged with possession of the hallucinatory drug LSD by arguing the validity of the three-month-old provincial statute.

He said in magistrate's court that he served notice of his intention June 1 to the attorneys-general of B.C. and Canada, but so far had no reply from either department.

Charged are Helen Dawn Simpson, 29, Edith Shirley Mack, 32, and Frank Robert Lewis, 24, all of Vancouver. All three were remanded until Aug. 10.

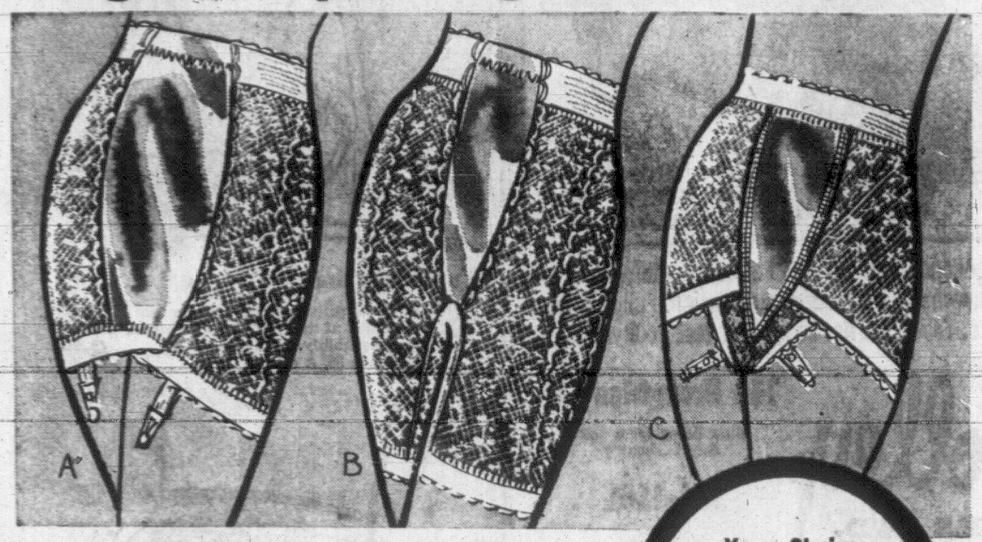

An amendment to the provincial health act at the legislature earlier this year made it illegal to possess LSD in B.C. Penalty was set at a maximum six months imprisonment and a $2,000 fine.

Trafficking in the drug is prohibited under the federal food and drug act.

Mr. Simons argued that the provincial legislation is not within the terms of the British North America Act which sets out provincial and federal jurisdiction.

Baptists List Six Reasons In Allowing Divorce

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The 750 delegates to the annual assembly of the Ontario and Quebec convention of the Baptist Church of Canada Monday passed a resolution calling for a broadening of grounds for divorce in Canada.

The resolution, while "reaffirming the church's adherance to Christian ideals in marriage," asked that six conditions be considered grounds for divorce:

—Insanity, after expert treatment over a suitable period of time, has failed to produce a cure;

—Chronic alcoholism or drug addiction;

—Repeated acts of cruelty endangering health;

REPEAT TERMS

—Repeated prison terms evidencig habitual criminal behavior and the person's inability to assume the role of spouse or parent;

—Disappearance for three years or such time as may be laid down by statute;

—Desertion for three years or such time as may be laid down by statute.

The resolution states that a breakdown in a marriage should be regarded as the basic grounds for divorce and calls for parties to attempt a reconciliation before any divorce is granted.

Ottawa Allows Stellako Drive

Governments Plan Joint Study On Using River for Logs

OTTAWA (CP) — Fisheries Minister Robichaud said Tuesday he has rescinded an order barring a log drive this year on the Stellako River of northwestern British Columbia.

He tabled in the Commons an exchange of letters with B.C. Resources Minister R. G. Williston saying the order had been revoked "in view of the agreement and co-operative arrangements" concerning joint examination of the effects on the river's salmon fisheries.

The statement was contained in the last letter of the exchange, dated June 12.

Mr. Robichaud first wrote May 16 saying he had no alternative but to prohibit the planned drive.

But Mr. Robichaud said he would be prepared to rescind the order if co-operation on the problem was assured.

Mr. Williston replied May 19 saying the drive had been permitted to determine to what extent river improvements could eliminate "those elements of a river drive that can cause trouble."

Mr. Robichaud wrote again May 25 saying he was not satisfied that the Stellako River was one where log-driving could take place without serious adverse effects.

But he said he would rescind the order if Mr. Willsiton would confirm his apparent agreement to a joint study on effects of the drive.

Police Arrest 46 Suspects For Betting

CALGARY (CP)—Forty-six men were arrested Tuesday when city police officers swooped in 10 simultaneous raids on alleged bookmaking establishments.

It was the biggest such raid in Alberta in many years.

Police said 17 men were charged with keeping betting houses and 29 others with frequenting betting houses. They said all the men are from Calgary but withheld their names.

The city police detective office said 10 different homes, offices and shops were raided after 3 p.m. MST. All those arrested were scheduled to appear in court today.

The detective office said its men seized "several exhibits" including papers in the raids and said they allegedly involved bets placed on horse races run in Edmonton.

A police spokesman said the raids "took a lot of work" but were not carried out in co-operation with other police forces. He then declined further comment.

INSIDE PARTY

Johnson Says He Resisted Separatists

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson said Tuesday that between 1962 and 1966 he resisted strong pressures to make the Union Nationale a separatist party.

'PRESSURE'

Mr. Johnson said the pressures were exerted by leading Quebec separatists and by agitators within the Union Nationale disgruntled by election losses.

"There was strong pressure for the party to declare itself separatist," he said. "It was said this was the only way to survive, even by some within the party."

The premier's comments followed a report of comments by Pierre Bourgault, leader of the separatist Rassemblement pour l'independance Nationale, who was quoted as saying Mr. Johnson invited the separatist group to join the Union Nationale before the provincial election of 1966.

The premier also said he does not intend to support any candidate for the national leadership of the Conservative party.

PARIS TALK

He said the Union Nationale party will not lend support to the Conservatives in any federal election campaign either.

Meanwhile, a Quebec government delegation is in Paris to discuss communications by satellite with the French government.

Accused Man Admitted Slaying

RED DEER (CP)—The tape-recorded voice said:

"I don't want any pity. I know what I was doing when I killed her. I want to get this over with."

The voice was identified Tuesday in Alberta Supreme Court as that of Robert Harold Kniess, 25, of Red Deer, who has pleaded not guilty to murdering 12-year-old Judy Marlene Hudkins, also of Red Deer, last winter.

The capital murder charge is being tried without jury by Mr. Justice J. V. H. Milvain.

RCMP Cpl. Vic Irving, who identified the voice, said the recording was made in the presence of Const. F. E. MacAusland shortly after Kniess was arrested Feb. 15.

DIDN'T KNOW WHY

Accepted as evidence by the judge, the recording also said:

"Well, I don't know what happened to me or why I did it. I know I am not a killer. I know I don't molest little girls. If I could do anything to bring little Judy back, I would. But I can't. . . ."

Const. MacAusland testified Kniess told him, "I hope God punishes me for what I did."

Judy was last seen alive about 11:10 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 11, when she left a girl friend's house to walk 10 blocks home. Her body later was found beside a country road near Red Deer.

The recording also said Kniess first saw Judy walking up a hill in Red Deer the night of Feb. 11. She accepted a ride in his rented car and the two left the city.

Mining Industry Continues to Shudder

By AB KENT
Business Editor

The shadow of the Carter Commission report on taxation continues to stalk the land, drawing shudders from the mining industry.

The latest to react to Carter's proposed capital gains tax, elimination of tax forgiveness periods and depletion allowances, is Conwest Exploration Co. Ltd.

Kent

While not one of the largest mining concerns in Canada it is certainly among the most active, counting among its interests and holdings properties in Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Northwest Territories, Yukon, British Columbia and Australia.

Cassiar Asbestos Corp. Ltd. was one of its major interests, and which it continues to manage.

Conwest last year listed assets of more than $15 million, including 240,000 shares of Pyramid Mining Co. Ltd.

Under the joint signatures of chairman F. M. Connell (one of five Connells on the board of directors) and president-treasurer C. R. Elliott, the company has issued a policy statement outlining restricted activity in the future.

This comes notwithstanding Finance Minister Sharp's assurance that no tax changes would affect the mining industry at least until the early 70s.

Implementation of the Carter report could mean the company's withdrawal from the field of active mineral exploration, the statement said.

The restricted activity will remain in effect until the Carter proposals are dealt with by Parliament and the proper effect of taxation is assessed.

Accordingly, the company has divested itself of 193,470 common shares of Cassiar to Bell Asbestos Mines Ltd., of Thetford Mines, Que., a British company which has acted as sales representative for Cassiar.

The price realized by Conwest was $3.095 million and it still holds a 10 per cent interest in the asbestos firm's outstanding capital.

Partial text of the joint statement reads: ". . . implications arising out of recommendations of the royal commission on taxation are of such serious import to mining exploration that your company will be forced to restrict its activities in Canadian mining exploration and development until such time as the uncertainties arising out of those recommendations are removed."

Canadian department store sales for the week ended May 27 rose 4.6 per cent over the same week last year, according to the dominion bureau of statistics.

Sales in B.C. were second highest in growth for the period at 13 per cent, although Manitoba showed an impressive 32.8 per cent, Saskatchewan went up 12.3 per cent, and Atlantic provinces showed a 3 per cent increase.

Quebec was down 4.6 per cent, Alberta 1.9 per cent, and Ontario declined .7 per cent.

A British trade mission of 35 housing experts wrapped up a Vancouver Island tour of logging centres this week before completing a Canada-wide survey to demonstrate the wide use of wood in Canadian construction techniques.

Members came to Victoria Sunday, went to Crown Zellerbach's Nitinat operation Monday, carried on to Nanaimo for a look at assembly and shipping facilities and went to Vancouver for tours of plywood plants, building sites, discussions with industry and government officials and a look at the B.C. Plywood Manufacturers' laboratory.

Sponsored by the federal department of trade and commerce under Hubert Bennett, chairman of a timber research and development association advisory panel, the mission was to leave B.C. Friday for two days in Calgary and end in Ottawa with Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. and trade talks.

Mr. Bennett said Britain and Ireland must build up to 500,000 new houses a year, but traditional brick and mortar methods cannot cope with such demand.

'Guaranteed Incomes Need Study'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Health Minister MacEachen said Tuesday Canada's guaranteed income supplement for the aged may be a forerunner of guaranteed incomes in other areas.

Speaking to a service club luncheon, Mr. MacEachen said Canada stands on the threshold of an age of automation that will demand fundamental changes in the existing approach to social security.

"In simple, dramatic terms, the traditional, centuries-old link between work and income is being questioned."

Quoting predictions that in a few years five per cent of the population may produce all society's needs, Mr. MacEachen said the basic problem is making the outdated distribution system cope with the productive machinery of the late 20th century.

"These developments are the basis of a rising interest in the guaranteed minimum income as a radical—and realistic—solution to the problem of income distribution in a cybernetic age."

He said the guaranteed incomes supplement to the aged is a "tentative, pilot venture" in the area which may well be expanded.

He said: "We should not and cannot evade serious study of the guaranteed income approach as a possible major instrument of social policy in the future."

Mr. MacEachen said, at a press conference earlier, that he intended to raise the subject of guaranteed income to provoke serious study of the concept across the country.

Evening Newspaper By News Under Study

NEW YORK (AP) — Val Palmer, business manager of The Daily News, says possible publication of an evening newspaper "is a complex problem and we still are studying it."

Palmer said it would be weeks before the morning tabloid, the largest circulation paper in the U.S., would have an announcement on recurring reports that it will enter the evening field.

Provinces Display Caution in Views on Tax Report

TORONTO (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said Tuesday he was neither surprised nor disappointed by views expressed Tuesday by the provinces in the first top-level look at the recommendations of the Carter commission on taxation.

He told a hotel-corridor press conference after a meeting of the federal-provincial tax structure committee that the discussions "went very well and according to plan."

He said the meeting was called to give the provinces a chance to outline their thinking about the Carter report, which calls for a complete overhaul of Canada's existing tax structure.

The session was only the beginning of consultations with the provinces over the report, he said, and the federal government won't make up its mind on what to do about it until everyone—including private organizations and individuals—has a chance to present their views.

BILL SET FOR '68

The government has promised to bring down a white paper outlining its thinking on the report this fall, with a bill to come next year.

In line with this policy, the four federal ministers attending the closed meeting were reported to have sat back and listened to the provinces' thinking on the report.

Financial ministers from nine provinces attended the meeting. British Columbia was represented by a deputy minister.

An indication of the caution with which most provinces are approaching the report came from Saskatchewan and Ontario.

Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan told reporters before entering the meeting that he is unenthusiastic about most of the report, especially sections proposing imposition of a capital gains tax and elimination of special tax concessions now granted mining and petroleum companies.

He said he rather hopes that Mr. Sharp will forget about most of the report.

ASKS PROVINCIAL AID

Charles MacNaughton, Ontario treasurer, made public a statement he delivered to the meeting calling for recognition of the financial needs of the provinces, which he said are growing faster than those at the federal level.

Emphasizing that the purpose of the meeting was to identify areas of mutual concern and possiblble joint action, Mr. MacNaughton said the Carter report cannot be effectively implemented with the full consideration of federal, provincial and municipal requirements.

"It is imperative that we recognize the constitutional responsibility of the provinces for the financial position of their municipalities.

The municipalities require greater fiscal flexibility. The provinces in turn require even greater flexibility to support them."

Mr. MacNaughton noted that Ontario soon will have a report from its own taxation committee, dealing particularly with municipal matters, and it would have to be considered in relation to the Carter recommendations.

He outlined several areas where he said clarification is needed in terms of the effects of the recommendations on the provinces.

These included taxation and economic growth, co-ordination of fiscal policies, distribution of the tax burden, effects on revenues and possible financial assistance in cases where tax changes could hamper regional economic growth.

New Complex Site Viewed by Leaders

By AB KENT
Business Editor

When Simpsons-Sears board of directors made a junket by yacht to Vancouver Island Tuesday their immediate reaction was, "why weren't we here before?"

Chairman and chief executive officer J. C. Barrow, Toronto-born and thoroughly eastern in outlook, spoke for the 13 directors present when they arrived in a fleet of limousines atop Mt. Tolmie.

From there they could see Victoria spread out like a campaign map under a brilliant sky, and centred in the asphalt-laced green mosaic was the company's 25-acre site at Hillside and Shelbourne where a $6 million retail complex soon will rise.

Mr. Barrow said the voyage to the island gave directors an opportunity to discuss business matters informally while giving them a look at a developing part of Canada.

He admitted easterners often tend to overlook the western community and he appreciated the chance to consider things in a western context.

Corporate junkets of this kind are becoming a trend, Mr. Barrow said. They help both the boards of directors and people with which they come in contact to understand each other, he felt.

Simpsons-Sears Lt. made its first trip to the west coast at the weekend and held its second quarter meeting in Vancouver Monday.

"We thought this would be an excellent opportunity in centennial year to bring all our directors out to see British Columbia at first hand so that they could feel and see for themselves the tremendous expansion that has been and is taking place," the chairman said.

"This whole province . . . so much is going on it is hard to keep up with. We wanted to show our directors as much as possible."

The new store—first considered about 10 years ago — will be the largest of its kind in the city, perhaps on Vancouver Island. It will be an integrated operation.

Mr. Barrow said communities of 100,000 population are suitable candidates for Simpsons-Sears retail stores.

"This is a big community and certainly justifies a store of this size," he said.

"This is the finest climate in the country and I certainly see more leisure living here. That is the sort of market that is always good for business."

New College Study Backed In B.C. Vote

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — General approval was given Monday by voters in north-central B.C. to the establishment of a council to study the feasibility of a regional college.

Only one district of six voting Quesnel, turned down the idea of the college. The Quesnel vote was 818 against with 268 in favor.

Prince George voted 72.3 per cent in favor, Smithers 57.7 per cent, Burns Lake 52 per cent, Vanderhoof 83 per cent, and McBride 90.3 per cent.

The feasibility study is expected to take approximately another year. If the college is built it is estimated it will cost an additional 3.66 mills in taxes, more if Quesnel opts out of the scheme.

Arrested Official Welcomed

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than 100 banner-carrying demonstrators jostled RCMP at Vancouver airport Monday night when fishermen's union official Jack Nichol arrived in custody from Prince Rupert.

Nichol, Prince Rupert business agent for the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, was arrested with UFAWU general secretary Homer Stevens and three other union members in Prince Rupert last week on charges they disobeyed a court order without lawful cause.

All were released on $200 bail but Nichol was re-arrested and refused bail after he re-appeared on a picket line.

Men, women and girls in miniskirts were among the demonstrators at the airport. They sang "Solidarity Forever" as the police van carrying the prisoner forced its way off the tarmac to the road.

Meanwhile, the executive board of the UFAW, debated at Prince Rupert Monday whether to continue talks aimed at settling the three-month-old jurisdictional dispute that has hampered fishing.

Un-Christian To Ban Wed Women?

OTTAWA (CP) — A blow for matrimony was struck last week by the 93rd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada when it threw out a resolution proposing that only single women be ordained ministers or elders.

Rev. C. I. G. Stobie of St. John's, Nfld., called the motion, by the Chatham, Ont., presbytery, "unchristian."

There are no women ministers in the Canadian Presbyterian Church, but 12 women elders have been elected since last year's assembly voted to accept women elders and ministers.

The defeated resolution claimed a married woman should not "be put in a position where she must rule over her husband or must teach him."

Presbyterians Invited To Merger Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—The Presbyterian Church in Canada has been invited to talks on union being held between the Anglican Church and the United Church.

The invitation was brought before the 93rd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

A letter signed by both the Anglican primate, Most. Rev. Howard Clark, and the United Church moderator, Rt. Rev. Wilfred Lockhart, was presented by Rev. G. Deane Johnston of Brantford.

As convener of inter-church relations, Mr. Johnston recommended acceptance of the invitation to become observer consultants at the Anglican-United Church discussions.

Car Plunges, Two Drowned

The pair drowned when they were swept from the vehicle over the falls.

Another 19-year-old passenger in the car, Betty Hislip, spent five hours clinging to the top of the vehicle in the torrent-swollen Brandywine River before she was rescued. She suffered exposure and shock. All were from Squamish.

Impairment Brings Fine

A fine of $300 was imposed and a four-month licence suspension was recommended when John R. Knezacky, 464 Walter appeared in traffic court Monday and pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

The charge was laid after police saw him driving at 60 miles an hour on Douglas in a 30 zone.

He originally denied the charge, then changed his plea.

AMERICA'S CUP PITS . . .

Textile Tycoons Wage Behind-the-Scenes Battle

. . . AUSSIES VS. AMERICANS

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Behind the America's Cup races at Newport, R.I., in September between Australia's Dame Pattie and a 12-metre yacht yet to be selected to represent the United States, will lie a big-business drama.

The textile industries of the United States and Australia will be fighting for a rich prize—a multi-million dollar market in lightweight sails.

Australia's representative in the tussle is Bradford Cotton Mills Ltd. and Australian industrial observers believe the du Pont Company will be in the United States' corner.

The winner should gain a major share of the world sailcloth market.

Oddly enough, this textile struggle was forced on Australia by the New York Yacht Club after Weatherly defeated Australia's first America's Cup challenger, Gretel, in 1962.

Until then, challengers were permitted to use sails made from American cloth. But in 1964 the club ruled that any future Australian challenge yacht must use sails made in Australia from Australian-made sailcloth.

In the face of this decision the Australian textile industry had to come up with a quick answer. Although there had been sporadic attempts in Australia to make sail fabrics, no company had tackled the whole range needed.

London-born Edward Harrold, research chief for Bradford Mills, took three years to produce the special cloth for Dame Pattie.

It cost the Bradford company about $200,000.

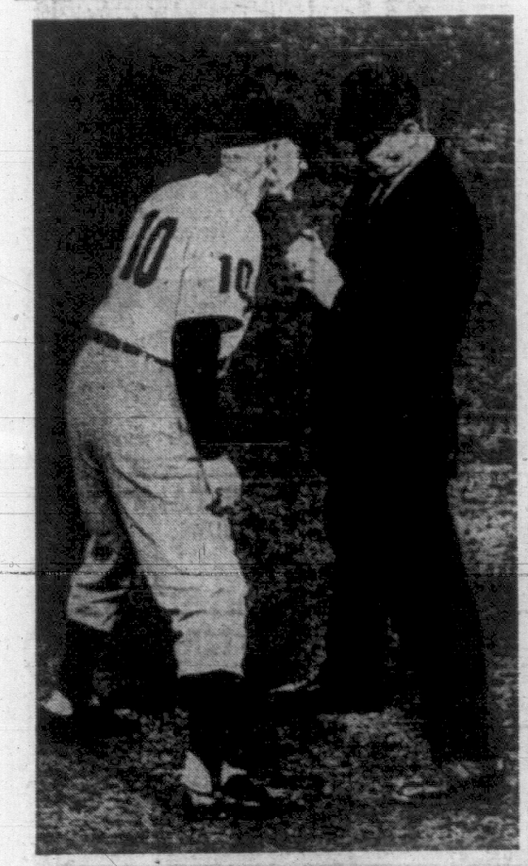

The cloth's lightness, combined with its rigidity and lack of stretch, helped Dame Pattie win its trial races against the rival yacht Gretel with ridiculous ease to establish it as the Australian challenger.

But now Harrold says he has produced an even lighter cloth for Dame Pattie to use in the Newport, R.I., Cup races.

No one at Bradford would say just how light the new sails are.

"That," Harrold said, "is one of our top secrets."

And, in the meantime, Bradford Cotton now is gearing up to market Kadron sail fabrics in the United States, Britain, and other countries as soon as the America's Cup contest is over.

UNIMPRESSED

Regular 'Skipped' And Rocks Browned

WEST GERMAN TOURISTS LURING DISTRICT FANS

The final accounting will come later, but the Hourigan Kickers' gamble in inviting a touring West German soccer team to Victoria seems to be a gamble no more.

The international match comes off tonight at Royal Athletic Park (6:30) and Kickers are almost certain of meeting the $1,000 guarantee required to bring the Bad Salzuflen team from Westphalia. Advance ticket sales will assure the ambitious Kickers a turnout of at least 1,000.

For the match, the Victoria District League entry will be bolstered by Barry Sadler, Dave Stothard, Bill Hamilton, Peter Brett and Marty Taylor, of Victoria O'Keefes.

Fight for First At Arena Tonight

VANCOUVER—Because he is only No. 2, Stan Brown tries harder.

And because he tried harder, Vancouver Carlings won their first Inter-City Lacrosse League game this season over Victoria Shamrocks on the Mainland Tuesday night, 9-5.

As good as the Skipper is, Vancouver hadn't been able to beat Shamrocks in four games this season.

So Brown got the call Tuesday. He held the former league leaders at bay, stopping 32 shots. Barry Forbes was much less busy in the nets for Victoria, turning back 22.

POSTS HELPED, TOO!

"We played better than we have recently," said Victoria coach Dave Unwin. "But Brown was terrific. Especially in the third period. Besides the nine saves he made we hit four posts."

Victoria led in only one category—penalties. They took 16 minutes to Vancouver's 10.

Explained Unwin: "They controlled the ball about 65 per cent of the game. When that happens you have to go after them and that's when you get penalties."

To shake up the Rocks, Unwin plans to use juniors Ken Alexander and Ron Zilkie tonight when the Carls come to Memorial Arena at 8 p.m.

IMPORTANT BOOST

A win would hoist the Shamrocks into a first-place tie for Carls. A loss would leave the Unwinmen in third place, within relatively easy reaching distance of the improving New Westminster Salmonbellies.

Only Larry Clarkson is a doubtful starter for Victoria tonight.

Clarkson missed Tuesday's game. He has a bad shoulder, played with it frozen a week ago against New Westminster.

Ted Liebich was the only Shamrock to fool Brown more than once, getting a pair of goals. Ranjit Dillon went scoreless but his three assists moved him into first place in the individual scoring race ahead of teammate Ron Jay who had one goal, no helpers.

'UNBELIEVABLE'

Chop and Slice And Tigers Win

By Associated Press

Making a little go a long way is nothing to be ashamed of, but Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins were stretching the point Tuesday night.

"I sat right there and saw it, and I don't believe it," said Detroit manager Mayo Smith after the Tigers snapped a five-game losing streak by chopping and slicing their way to a 15-10 verdict over the Twins.

Fifteen runs were scored—10 by Detroit—in an hour-long sixth inning marked by the absence of an extra-base hit.

"It was one of the worst games I've ever played in," the Tigers' Al Kaline said after what started as a pitching duel between Dennis McLain and Dean Chance turned into a Punch-and-Judy fiasco.

In other American League games, Kansas City Athletics nipped Baltimore Orioles 1-0, Chicago White Sox blanked Washington Senators 6-0, New York Yankees topped Boston Red Sox 5-3 and California Angels swept a twi-night doubleheader from Cleveland Indians, 8-3 and 5-3.

EXPLODE FOR 10 RUNS

The Tigers fell behind 5-1 before raking Chance and three successors for 10 runs on eight singles in the sixth. Detroit paraded 14 men to the plate, with the first 11 reaching base. Kaline and Willie Horton each had two hits in the inning while pinch hitter Jim Price and Don Wert drove in two runs apiece.

The Twins then batted around in their half of the sixth, scoring five runs—the last three when centre fielder Mickey Stanley dropped Bob Allison's two-out fly ball with the bases loaded.

In all, there were 10 singles, five walks, one hit batsman, three errors, two wild pitches and a passed ball in the inning.

Detroit then pulled away with three runs in the seventh as Dick McAuliffe homered, Wert tripled, Kaline doubled and Horton singled.

NIGHT OF SURPRISES

Willie, Mays, usually a starter, surprised no one by turning out to be quite a relief hitter, but relief pitcher Phil Miekro stunned everyone by proving himself no slouch as a National League starter.

"I'm still pinching myself," said Miekro, whose knuckleball fluttered Atlanta Braves by Philadelphia Phillies 1-0 Tuesday night in his first start after 24 relief appearances.

Mays, who entered the game in the sixth inning, took his success as a substitute more nonchalantly, as usual, after hitting a grand slam in the 10th inning to boost San Francisco Giants over Houston Astros 6-2.

"Grand slams don't make any difference to me," he said. "Winning ball games does."

In other NL games, Cincinnati defeated New York 6-0, lost the second game 7-3; St. Louis trimmed Pittsburgh 7-4, and Chicago edged Los Angeles 3-2.

Gun-Toters Have Choice of Events

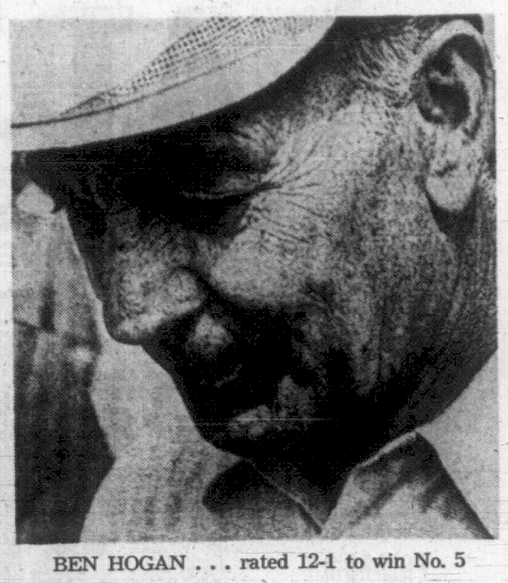

The Vancouver Island Shooting League will hold two shoots Sunday with trap competition at Campbell River and a three-position centre-fire rifle match at Nanaimo.

Competitors from Victoria, Duncan, Salt Spring Island, Ladysmith, Nanaimo, Alberni, Cumberland and Campbell River are entered in the trap shoot.

Marksmen from Burnaby's Barnet Rifle Club, the largest in the province, will take part in the Nanaimo competition along with entrants from Victoria, Cowichan Lake, Chemainus, Nanaimo, Parksville, Alberni, Powell River and Campbell River.

Tourney Winners

Brian Appleton scored a gross 74 and Vern Ferguson tallied 82-12—70 to capture the major prizes in the Century Inn's invitational golf tournament at Cedar Hill.

BEN HOGAN . . . rated 12-1 to win No. 5

AT BALTUSROL

Open Course Fair for All

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — The 67th United States Open golf championship begins Thursday with Arnold Palmer the favorite and—for the first time in a decade—Ben Hogan something more than a sentimental choice.

The possibility of a future players' strike was the only disturbing note as the field of 150 of the world's best golfers —135 pros and 15 amateurs put the finishing touches on their preparations today.

Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner was a 6-to-1 choice to tame the plush, 7,022 yard Baltusrol golf club course that carries a demanding par 70.

"The only thing I really need work on is my short game," Palmer said, then grinned. "You know, the short irons and chipping. And my driving isn't too good. And my putting needs help. Other than that I'm in good shape."

COURSE GOOD

He said that the course "is so good, so fair, that any one of a number of players could win it. Maybe 30. Maybe even 50."

The odds - makers, however, listed defending champion Billy Casper and two-time former champion Julius Boros the second most likely to succeed at 8 to 1.

Grouped at 10 to 1 were Jack Nicklaus, who is trying to work his way out of a slump; Gary Player, the little South African who won in 1965; and Frank Beard, a young pro who has won two tournaments this year and is one of the hottest players on the tour.

Hogan, the 54-year-old marvel of another golfing age who has won four U.S. Opens, is listed at 12 to 1 with Masters champion Gay Brewer and Doug Sanders.

CONTROL IS KEY

The field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after Friday's second round. The final two rounds are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

The distant rumble of a possible player strike sounded again Tuesday, with PGA president Max Elbin standing firm.

"It all boils down to a seven-letter word — control," said Elbin.

"On this I'm adamant. We (the PGA Executive Committee) will not yield control."

The players have threatened to boycott the PGA championship in Denver in late July if the PGA officers do not meet their demands for greater control of the tour.

Eric Busiest Sooke Gunner As Bats Boom

Sooke won the Stuffy McGinnis Softball League slugfest 11-8 from Hillside Pacific 66.

Cliff Stenersen clubbed a home run and a single to drive in three runs while the winners were running their hit total to 15. Len Morris and Bob George each batted in two runs for the Hotelmen.

Starting pitcher Merv Johnson and Moe Turner supplied power at the plate for the losers. Turner hit a three-run homer. Johnson tagged a solo circuit blast.

Flanker Signed By Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Dee Andrews, one of Long Beach's most noted football players, will once again play for a hometown team—the Admirals of the Continental Football League's Western Division.

The speedy flanker, 26, who played with the Dallas Cowboys in 1965 before he was sidelined with a broken wrist, has signed his 1967 contract.

Mounties Sign Ramos

VANCOUVER—Pedro Ramos, a righthanded pitcher with 12 years of major league experience, has been signed by Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast Baseball League. Ramos was to join Mounties in San Diego.

METS, CUBS SWAP

LEEDS, England (Reuters)—England defeated India by six wickets Tuesday in the first test here, with 2¾ hours to spare.

The Nawab of Pataudi, finally dismissed for a magnificent 148, was mainly responsible for India prolonging his country's second innings.

The Indians were finally all out for 510, their highest total against England. England then needed only 125 for victory, which it soon achieved.

BOWLING SHARP

Accurate spin bowling by Bhagwat Chandrasekhar and Erapalli Prasanna gave India four wickets before the match ended. With luck and better catching India could have taken more wickets.

India's performance in the last three days was a remarkable comeback for a team which followed on 386 runs behind and was two bowlers short through injury since the first afternoon.

South Park Victory

SOCCER TOURISTS . . . . . TRIM CANADIANS

Ike Scores on Scots

WINNIPEG — Victoria forward Ike MacKay and Windsor goaltender Art Kussner did their best here Tuesday night but Scotland's touring side romped to its ninth successive victory.

Winding up an exhibition tour, the Scots got five goals from centre-forward Joe Harper and whipped the Canadian nationol team 7-2. Bob Hope and Willie Morgan also counted for the visitors.

The 18-year-old MacKay and Tony Adams scored for Canada in the second half after the Scots had taken a commanding lead and Kussner was a standout in the nets, blocking several blistering shots.

Most of Scotland's regular internationals are playing with their respective clubs in summer soccer competition but the touring side, which beat Vancouver all-stars 4-1 last Saturday, outclassed the Canucks after the first few minutes.

The Canadians made a valiant effort early in the match but a miscue on an attempted clearance set up the first Scottish goal and the visitors ran their lead to 3-0 after the first 30 minutes.

MacKay, who helped Victoria O'Keefes to the Pacific Coast League championship and a win in the Kennedy Cup tournament, was a solid performer for the national side, which is in training for the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg, July 23 - August 6.

Referee Bowling Cost —Three Games, $100

Times News Services

Cost of knocking over a referee in the National Professional Soccer League was assessed Tuesday at $100 and a three-game suspension.

That was the sentence handed out by league president P. K. Macker to Manuel Camacho, Mexican goaltender with Chicago Spurs. Camacho bowled over referee Ken Stokes during an argument in a June 4 game against Atlanta.

With Camacho cooling his heels, Spurs had their troubles Tuesday night before a skimpy gathering of 870 fans in Chicago's huge Soldier Field, dropping a 3-0 decision to Los Angeles Toros.

In a NPSL game at Toronto, Oakland Clippers collected their fifth straight win, scoring three times in the first half before 4,116 and blanking the Falcons 3-0.

There were 5,840 paying customers at a United Soccer Association match at New York and they watched their Skyliners battle to a 2-2 draw with San Francisco Gaels.

Chuvalo-Frazier Match Irv's Answer to WBA

TORONTO (CP) — Irv Ungerman, manager of Canadian heavyweight boxing champion George Chuvalo, believes agreement on a fight between Chuvalo and Joe Frazier, of Philadelphia, July 19, may spell the end of a proposed elimination tournament to replace deposed champion Cassius Clay.

Chuvalo and Frazier signed with Madison Square Garden in New York Tuesday for a guaranteed $50,000 against 25 per cent of gate and television receipts.

Championship fights normally are 15 rounds but since both contestants feel Clay still is champion, at least until after his trial which starts Monday in Houston, the July 19 match will be a 12-rounder.

Clay is scheduled to stand trial for refusing induction into the army on the grounds he is a practising Black Muslim minister and as such is exempt from the draft.

When Clay refused to be inducted the World Boxing Association stripped him of his title. At the same time, Sports Action Inc. of New York proposed an eight - man elimination tournament for the vacant title.

ALLEGES A SHUFFLE

Ungerman, who now thinks the elimination tournament is off, said the WBA was also considering a tournament but when he discovered the association was manipulating the standings to satisfy prospective promoters he became somewhat disenamoured with the boxing body.

He said he gave the WBA until last Monday to come up with their proposed $50,000 purse and "when they failed . . . we went ahead with our arrangements to fight Frazier."

Chuvalo, 29 and 10th ranked by the WBA although rated fifth by Ring magazine, has a won-lost-drawn record of 46-13-2 including 39 knockouts.

Frazier, most highly - considered of the current young crop of contenders, at 23 has a record of 16 straight professional victories and is rated No. 2 by the WBA although only fourth by Ring.

Deposed Phil Ready to Sue

QUEBEC (CP) — Phil Watson, coach last season of Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League, says he intends to take legal action regarding his contract, which he maintains was for three years.

Watson was let go last weekend when the Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League, owners of the Aces, announced the hiring of Vic Stasiuk, former NHL player.

Watson said his contract was to extend through the 1968-69 season.

William Putnam, owner of the Flyers, has said that Watson's contract expired June 1, date on which the Aces were bought by the Flyers from Gerald Martineau.

THEY WIN!

Lions Achieve Historic Peak

A milestone in history was reached Tuesday night, ranking up there with Lindberg's trans-Atlantic flight, talking pictures, and the mini-skirt.

Red Lions won a softball game.

Red Lion Inn pounded 17 hits, nine for extra bases, while putting an end to a 13-game Senior Men's Open Softball League drought with a resounding 12-3 victory over Molsons.

Every batter in the winners' lineup hit safely at least once. Winning pitcher Geoff Hett led the way with three doubles, driving in three runs.

First baseman Harry Scott tagged a two-run homer, and a double. Bud Livingstone stroked two doubles, Tom Bourne collected three singles and Gordie Gray singled and tripled.

WILSON SHOWED 'EM

Hard-hitting Herb Latrielle, recently acquired from Molsons, smacked a two-run double and valuable catcher Doug Wilson, just back from California, collected a single to help spark the Red Lion avalanche.

Everything went right for Red Lions.

Three Red Lion runs scored on one of the zaniest plays of the season. Lloyd Hanna started it all by topping a roller just in front of the plate with two on in the fourth. Molson's catcher Jim Wilson pounced on the ball and promptly fired it past Ron Brousseau at first base.

COSTLY ARGUMENT

Molsons argued that Hanna had interfered with Brousseau while the latter was attempting to corral Wilson's throw. While they were arguing, everybody scored. Including Hanna.

Thursday, Carlings and Luckies tangle for the league lead. Luckies are half a game back. Action starts at 6:45 at Central Park.

Minister Sees No Need For Dramatizing Dangers

By DAMID DAVIDSON

OTTAWA (CP) — The current international situation does not warrant keeping the public vividly aware of the problem of surviving a nuclear war, Defence Production Minister Drury said Tuesday night.

Speaking during Commons consideration of spending estimates for defence production, Mr. Drury, who also holds the industry portfolio, said the country's capacity to survive such an attack is increasing.

He described the Emergency Measures Organization as "very useful" despite claims by former Conservative defence minister, Douglas Harkness, that EMO activities are not receiving much energy or drive.

"I do not believe that it is necessary, or even desirable, in the present state of international tension to keep vivid in the minds of the public the importance of survival preparations."

Mr. Harkness had criticized the government for the lack of national EMO exercises.

"As long as the threat of nuclear attack exists—I think everyone will admit that the threat does still exist—I think it is essential for the protection of the population of Canada that an efficient Emergency Measures Organization is kept in operation."

Mr. Drury said the government could spend substantial sums in the general field of emergency planning. But he believed that in the long run relatively modest amounts could produce the desired level of preparedness.

The estimates approved before Tuesday's adjournment provide $10,659,500 for EMO, about $400,000 less than last year's appropriation.

In the Senate Tuesday, Allister Grosart (PC — Ontario) said postponing a federal-provincial conference on the constitution could harden present attitudes and postures.

The former national director of the Progressive Conservative party said Canada could be bicultural or multicultural, but it must remain one nationality "if we are to achieve our full destiny on this continent and in the world."

COULD MOSES MAKE IT INTO CANADA TODAY?

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson traded shafts with maverick Liberal Ralph Cowan Tuesday to the delight of the Commons.

Mr. Cowan said a Greek shepherd has been denied admission to Canada by the immigration department. He aked whether the government would have similarly excluded Moses, who had "40 years' experience" as a shepherd.

When the laughter subsided, Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said he doubted the Prime Minister wanted to reply to such a hypothetical question. Mr. Cowan said the case of the Greek shepherd is not hypothetical.

Mr. Pearson got slowly to his feet and said: "The honorable member will never get into the promised land by asking that kind of question."

Higher Veteran Aid Requested by Tory

OTTAWA (CP)—A West Coast MP wants the annual income ceiling which married veterans are allowed to make and still qualify for maximum veterans benefits increased by "about $400 a year per child."

George Chatterton (PC—Esquimalt-Saanich) told the Commons veterans affairs committee Tuesday that present benefits for married veterans with children are "totally inadequate."

Married veterans may earn up to $2,940 a year through regular employment and up to $900 additional through casual employment without their maximum $175-a-month benefit being affected.

Ralph B. Cowan (L-York-Humber) questioned why there are still 67 persons receiving allowances as orphans of First World War veterans. "They must be middle-aged orphans," he said.

Ralph Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West) asked the board chairman what had been done by the board to protect veterans not established under the Veterans Lands Act from being expropriated by the Columbia River project.

"I advised all my veterans to stick their heels in until they're satisfied" with the price offered to them for their land, he told the committee.

Robert Pawley, director of the administration, said veterans in the Kootenay area were better equipped to argue their cases because of the tutoring they are getting.

'Miscreant' Judge Blasted In Parliament

OTTAWA (CP)—Branding Leo Landreville the "miscreant judge," a Conservative MP told the Commons Tuesday he will continue grilling the government until he receives absolute assurance that there will be no pension for him.

Robert McCleave (PC—Halifax) said the former Sudbury mayor, who resigned from the Ontario Supreme Court minutes before a motion seeking his impeachment was due to come up in the Senate, was guilty of a "category of sins."

He had resigned in the "twilight of dishonor" when he saw that the guillotine was about to fall, Mr. Cleave said.

The MP asked for assurance from Justice Minister Trudeau that there were no deals with Mr. Landreville and that the former judge would not get a pension "under any circumstances."

Mr. Trudeau said the government had made no deal on a pension.

Commons TV Plan Delayed

OTTAWA (CP)—CBC plans to televise the Commons in action for a public affairs series apparently will be scrapped as a result of an angry reaction from surprised MPs.

The reaction developed when they saw TV cameras in the Commons galleries Monday.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux told the House Tuesday the cameras had been withdrawn pending a meeting of the five party House Leaders.

Except for the presence of a provincial parks branch caretaker and occasional visits by weekend boat-campers, the late Capt. Ernest Godfrey Beaumont's Discovery Island preserve is given over to sun, seagulls and the little brown rabbits planted there long ago.

Even when legal processes that will convey title of the 160-acre tract to the province are complete, the newest marine park in our string will be left as much as possible in its natural state.

That's as it should be; but boatmen will welcome one change contemplated for the future. This, parks branch chief Harold McWilliams tells me, may be construction of a breakwater to convert the little bay at the southwest corner of Discovery into a safe harbor.

Fate of the house in which our best-liked offshore citizen lived for over 40 years hasn't yet been settled, but some period pieces from his furnishings will go to reconstructed Fort Steele in the Cranbrook area.

Considering our peninsular growth-rate, it comes as no surprise to learn that we now boast about 50 more or less public swimming pools and over 300 of the private variety.

That's a happy thought on a warm afternoon; but for our health authorities, it contains an element of worry.

They see the less-than-scrupulously maintained pool as a potential source of bacterial and fungus infection, and this month persuaded the adult education division of Greater Victoria School Board to lay on a course in swimming pool operation and maintenance.

Lloyd Smith, inspector of Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board, points out that the course is aimed especially at public operators, although owners of back yard pools are also urged to attend.

"Every year, there is a considerable changeover in motel personnel," Mr. Smith points out. "This means that each season, we must set to and educate a number of new pool operators in motels and other establishments from scratch."

Fee for the five-lesson course is $15. Repeat session, 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Institute of Adult Studies.

Those worried souls who have viewed shoulder-length male locks as yet another sign that the younger generation is bound for hell in a handbasket may now breathe easier.

From all local indications, the fad — which it was, after all — is fast departing our local scene.

After several weeks during which the only long-haired boy I observed was one of our gentle hippies, I checked my own observations with barber Dick Hofstede.

"I have seen this change come about too," he told me. "Victoria boys are getting farther and farther away from the long hair style."

Responsible, I gather, is the English influence, which still runs strong.

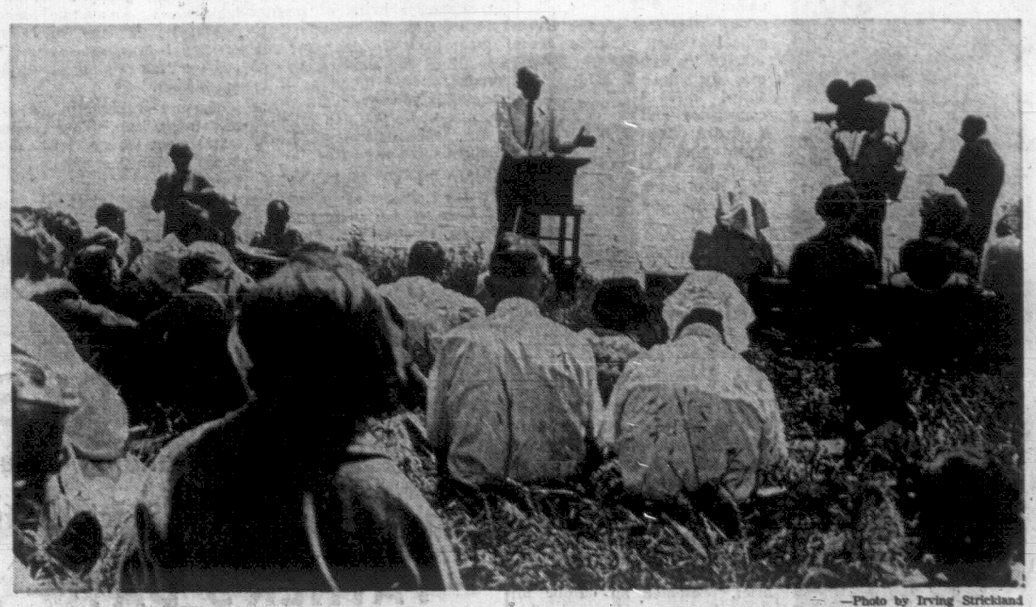

"The cuts now in vogue may still be described as a little longer than medium," said barber-fisherman Dick, "but the ears are revealed, and the hair on top of the head is worn much shorter."

Witness the power of the pen as wielded by determined Nootkans, whose letters to the federal government have ensured that the gallant little Uchuk III will continue her Nootka-Gold River run.

Apart from Alberni's Lady Rose, the Uchuk III is the only vessel remaining in regular West Coast service, and her removal would have been a bitter blow to those who depend on her.

Here on this side of the Island, we don't know the meaning of isolation. But over there in the outports that no road reaches, it remains a fact of daily life.

THEY DON'T DRESS like hippies. But American Association for Conservation Information delegates held a love-in-like seminar by the sea Tuesday. Noted author and conservationist Roderick Haig-Brown addressed about 100 delegates on getting the conservation message across.

'Make Intangibles Tangible' Haig-Brown Tells Group

By GUY STANLEY

Campbell River's renowned author and conservationist Roderick Haig-Brown held a seminar by the sea Tuesday. (See also Page 29.)

Standing on Finlayson Point on Dallas Road with the Olympic Mountains as a backdrop, he told delegates to the 26th annual convention of the American Association for Conservation Information:

"We have to show the public conservation is the only intelligent use of resources, that it means management as opposed to exploitation, and understanding as opposed to ignorance."

He called for:

● Development of demonstration areas like Goldstream near Victoria where people could watch salmon return;

● Urged schools to move towards teaching concepts of ecology rather than "the static biology which has been enormously overworked";

● Plumped for the manufacture of kits such as salmon hatching kits that would permit children to see the various stages of hatching.

"We've got to make a lot of the intangibles tangible," he said, to public apathy towards conservation.

Cautioning the association against political involvement, Mr. Haig-Brown said, "Conservation is everybody's business. We will impair our usefulness if we become politically engaged."

Howard Paish, executive director of the B.C. Wildlife Federation, which at its recent convention urged that conservation be made an election issue, said there is room for both approaches.

"These people (the AACI) are mostly professional government advisors. They must stay non-political. The federation is a different group and can pick this issue up on a political level."

The group included 85 professional conservationists from six provinces and 46 states.

In a morning session, Victoria landscape architect W. C. Yeomans spoke on the need for effective bridges to an understanding of the international conservation crisis.

"Such bridges must become a reality or we will lose our already precarious foothold on the planet," he said.

BEAVER LAKE

Boy Drowns On Outing; Inquest Set

Minder Singh, along with four other lads including his 13-year-old brother Kuldeep, all of 1241 Acton, were taken to the lake by social worker William Lawson.

An inquest will be held 7:30 p.m. Friday at Hayward's Funeral Chapel.

In addition, the Family and Children's Service will fully discuss the matter.

"Nothing like this has happened in our service before," said director Gordon Wright," and we will try to make sure it doesn't happen again.

WORKER UPSET

"But we'll wait until Mr. Lawson returns to work. He's very upset. The workers get very involved with these youngsters."

The boys had been called from the water about 6 p.m. and were on their way to the picnic table. Then it was discovered that Minder was not with them.

A search was made of the beach and water and Minder was found floating face down.

Mouth to mouth resuscitation was given until the Saanich fire department crew arrived with an inhalator and continued to apply respiration until they reached the hospital where another team took over.

MANY OUTINGS

It was not enough. He was pronounced dead at 8 p.m.

The trip was one of many made by children under care of Family and Children's Service. There are a number of group homes for foster children and a social worker takes responsibility for recreation for the children.

Workers spend several evenings a week and some weekends organizing recreation and group work for their charges.

Gary Blondin, 24, a student at Naden Preparatory School, said he was studying at the beach when he overheard Kuldeep Singh, who had been playing with Minder, say his brother was missing.

Mr. Blondin, who was a life guard at the beach last year and will return to the work this summer, helped to organize the search.

He got other people from the beach to form a line and they walked through the 3½-foot shallows but saw no sign of the lad.

Mr. Blondin looked around and saw the floating body. He picked up the boy and started to give artificial respiration.

The youngster's lips and fingers were blue and after respiration the blueness disappeared and there was a trace of pink around his mouth.

There were about 100 persons on the beach and about 20 youngsters in the water, said Mr. Blondin.

$500,000 PROPOSAL DOOMED

Pollution Head Kills Brentwood Sewer Bid

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A Central Saanich application to discharge treated sewage into Saanich Inlet was rejected today by British Columbia pollution director Charles Keenan.

The decision doomed the municipality's proposal to install a $500,000 sewage system in Brentwood.

The decision was received at the municipal hall today—two weeks after he had chaired a public hearing to consider merits of the scheme.

A large number of Brentwood residents opposed it on the grounds dumping of treated sewage into the bay would eventually lead to pollution.

"While there was a dearth of technical evidence presented by the objecters in support of their case, it was quite apparent that many were apprehensive respecting the temporary nature of the scheme," Mr. Keenan said.

SERVE 4,000

(The proposed scheme would have served a maximum population of 4,000).

Mr. Keenan agreed that the plan had merit.

But he said council should give consideration to a more permanent solution for controlling the "gradual and insidious pollution" in Brentwood Bay.

COUNCIL SURPRISED

The decision came as a surprise to Central Saanich council.

But acting Reeve Charles Mollard said Brentwood residents who favored the scheme have no reason to grumble at the decision.

"All residents who were opposed to the scheme were present at the hearing," he said. "But not one resident who favored the project got up to say there was an urgent need for a sewage system."

PIPELINE NEEDED

He noted that Mr. Keenan urged council to give consideration to a plan to dump treated sewage into the straits on the east side of the peninsula. This would mean installing a pipeline from Brentwood to the east coast.

"We will look into this," he said, "but preliminary estimates indicate it would cost about $800,000."

$245,000 SEWER VOTE TO BE CALLED

A $245,000 sewer extension in the North Shelbourne area of Saanich is expected to be put to property owners in a vote.

The municipal public works committee will recommend to the next council meeting that there be a local vote. Sixty per cent approval will be necessary for the measure to pass.

Faculty Opposes Student Senators

By PAUL WILLIAMSON

The University of Victoria Faculty Association has defeated a motion favoring election of students to the university Senate, it was learned today.

And a motion to ignore student opinion when evaluating professors was defeated by only one vote.

The University of British Columbia approved the election of four students to its Senate last May 31. Last spring Simon Fraser University became the first B.C. university to elect students to the Senate.

Uvic students have been agitating for Senate representation for two years.

Students' council president David McLean said he couldn't "understand the archaic attitude of the faculty.

"They have no sense of the true university community," he said.

Mr. McLean said the narrow defeat of the motion to exclude student opinion from teacher assessment "shows that somewhere along the line some professors are afraid of student opinion.

He said the minutes of the meeting, which was held May 18, have not yet been distributed.

"I recall the motion coming up, but I can't recall the outcome of the vote."

This motion too was defeated by only one vote.

Dr. I. D. Pal, president-elect of the association, refused to comment.

University president Dr. Malcolm Taylor, out of town until next week, has said in the past that he favors student representation on the senate.

CLC Will Decide Status Of Four Suspended Locals

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Canadian Labour Congress will determine whether four British Columbia locals of the International Woodworkers of America are out of the CLC and local labor councils.

The locals—Victoria, Vancouver, Duncan and lumber inspectors—were suspended from the B.C. Federation of Labour last Friday.

Some union officials have said that a section of the CLC constitution means these locals, with a combined membership of 13,000, are also out of the CLC and labor councils.

But others say this is an incorrect interpretation and in any event, only the CLC can interpret its own constitution.

Federation secretary Ray Haynes disclosed today the federation, "as a formality," asked for the interpretation last week.

'DON'T KNOW'

CLC secretary-treasurer Donald MacDonald, acting president while Claude Jodoin is ill, said from Ottawa he hasn't had time to give a ruling and "I don't know when I will be able to come up with a ruling."

Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labour Council and a member of the suspended Vancouver IWA local, has not showed up for work this week saying if he does it could lead to the council's charter being lifted by the CLC.

He has also said that CLC vice-president Joe Morris and Mr. MacDonald must resign their posts because they are members of suspended IWA locals.

Mr. Haynes replied that he considers Mr. Neale's interpretation wrong, and that in any event, the two CLC officials could transfer membership to a non-suspended union.

"The whole thing is being blown up out of all proportion," he added.

IF CRAIGFLOWER POLLUTION CONTINUES

Health Chief Ordered to Lay Charges

By JIM HUME

Property owners near Craigflower Bridge will be given two weeks to solve their serious sewage pollution problem.

Failure to stop the seepage of virtually raw sewage into open ditches will result in immediate court action with the charges laid and pressed by the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

The board ordered metro health chief Dr. J. L. M. Whitebread to adopt the get-tough policy Tuesday after Coun. Art Mebs of Esquimalt told board members ditches in the Craigflower area constituted a shocking and disgusting health hazard.

A visit to the district this morning revealed that Coun. Mebs had good cause for alarm.

Flies swirl in the stench a few yards from where tourists sleep and children play.

A stick poked in the three-inch thick slime releases clouds of nauseating gas.

TENT PITCHED

On the bank of the ditch a small boy had pitched his tent for a night in the great outdoors.

Less than 50 yards away the Gorge, final recipient of the human filth, lay placid but polluted in the morning sun.

"It is shocking to think that such conditions exist in 1967," Coun. Mebs told the health board. "Dr. Whitbread must find out where the pollution is coming from and, if necessary, close down the operation. We have played around with this situation for five years now and it is time we took some direct, tough action."

Dr. Whitbread told the board only a court order could close down the business operations of offenders.

"We can, if the board so instructs, trace the source of pollution and order the offenders to confine the effluent on their own property," he said. "If they fail to do so or ignore the order we can then take them to court."

Maximum fine for failure to comply with health regulations is $50 but the charge can be re-laid as long as the pollution problem remains.

Dr. Whitbread said dye-testing to trace the polluted run-off to its source will start immediately.

Once the offenders are found Dr. Witbread will order them to build a holding tank for septic tank run-off, a tank which could be pumped out on a regular schedule with the sewage then dumped in main trunk lines.

MORE DRASTIC

Coun. Mebs accepted Dr. Whitbread's proposal although he favored even more drastic action.

"I think those ditches should be posted with signs warning everyone that they are polluted and constitute a grave health hazard," he said.

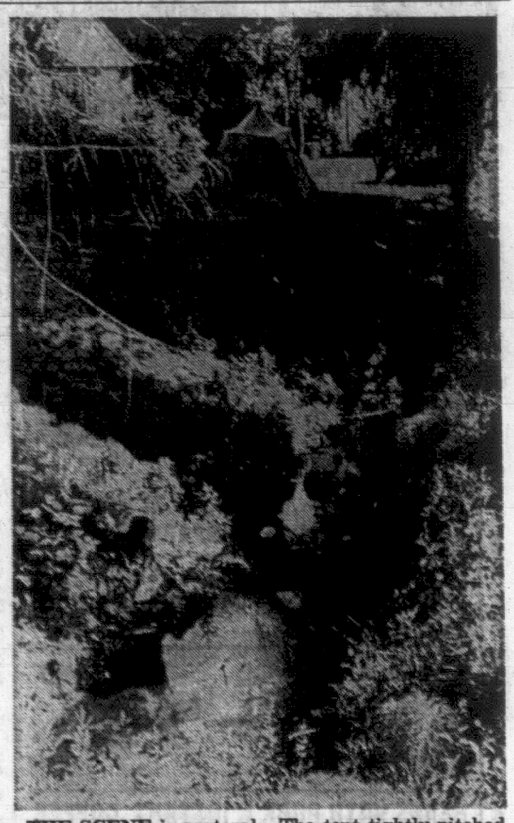

Coun. Frances Elford of Oak Bay and Coun. Edith Gunning were reluctant to endorse the sign proposal.

Coun. Elford said she felt there was a better way with the tourist season just starting.

Coun. Gunning said she felt it would be unfair to post just a few ditches when so many in the area "including many in my own municipality" are also polluted.

The board will start an advertising campaign warning the public of the dangers.

Four areas were listed as constituting the gravest threat. Colwood Corners, Langford, Parsons Bridge and Craigflower will feel the first weight of the militant board.

THE SCENE is pastoral. The tent tightly pitched beside a wandering stream. A willow tree casts its shadow across the bucolic Craigflower district a few yards from the Gorge. But the camera does not reveal the truth. The stream is in reality a ditch bearing almost raw sewage from surrounding properties to pollute even more the already polluted waters of the Gorge. And the little boy who pitched the tent, and presumably his parents, are unaware that he is camping on the edge of disaster.

SHOPPING GUIDE

By PENNY SAVER

There is nothing that is as much fun for the younger set as mixing up an enormous punch bowl of fruit juices, filling it chock-a-block full of ice, and putting it in a cool corner of the garden where they can dip into it during a long hot afternoon. This saves wear and tear on Penny, as it eliminates the patter of feet trekking across the clean kitchen floor for glasses of water . . . snarl! And, it's a treat for sun-tanning teen-agers, too. Sometimes, when unexpected guests drop in for the evening, a punch bowl can come in handy as a quick and relatively simple way to entertain casually.

With the use our relatively small punch bowl gets in summer, you can understand why we decided to buy another one. While shopping the other day, I saw an enormous beauty that I couldn't resist. It is made of pressed glass designed with a small floral pattern, and around its broad rim are small glass hooks on which are hanging a dozen punch cups. When not in use, this bowl will be an attractive decoration. The bowl I bought comes complete with a detachable glass stand, that, turned upside down, is just the right size for a fruit or flower arrangement. Dozen-cup punch bowls with cups are priced from $6.75 to $7.49, the latter with stand.

During the summer I'm always looking for ways to simplify cleaning chores. Meals are the one thing that, no matter how simple, seems to involve lots of cleaning up. One way to simplify this problem is to use paper place mats instead of table linen. I love to stock up on these at the beginning of the summer so that I'll have lots on hand. Most of the mats I've seen are imported from Europe and have delightful designs and pictures on them, in a multitude of colors. Unless these mats meet with a bad spill, they can be sponged off and re-used, and, once they're soiled, they can be thrown away. You're certain to find designs and colors that will blend with your china. Packages of half a dozen are priced at $1.50. Buy a variety of these—they're great for every day, and pretty enough for a party!

Even though you want to keep your home pleasantly cool during the summer, it is nice to bring a little of the vibrant summer light and color indoors. One way I do this is by keeping the kitchen window ledge lined with brightly flowering potted plants. It had never occurred to me that while the plants were cheerful, their containers were pretty drab. On this shopping trip I found the answer . . . colorful woven baskets. These are imported from Holland, and come in nearly every shade imaginable. There are two sizes designed to hold plants and they are priced at $2.45 and $3.45.

If you'd like to know where I shopped give me a call at 382-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Make Investment in Health,

I am not distinguished as the great heart specialist Doctor Paul Dudley White is, but I am as enthusiastic about swimming as he is about riding a bicycle. Both are wonderful exercise for all ages.

Lowman

Yesterday and today I approach swimming from the figure molding viewpoint. I have always believed that the road to beauty is the road to health, and visa versa. If you are interested in looking as attractive as you can, you will make sure that your diet provides you with all of the essentials for good nutrition, that you hold your ideal weight, and you will exercise for the beauty of your figure. So, it all works out the same way!

Anyway, why not invest in health and beauty in a delightful and pleasant way—swimming this summer? The crawl seems to be the most popular stroke. Figure-wise, it will increase the bust measurement and is a fine exercise for the abdomen and hips, normalizing both. This is how you do it:

First you must submerge your head without choking or feeling afraid. When you can do this, you will have mastered the hardest part of your attempt to swim.

After you have done this for a while take a big breath, submerge your head and blow bubbles through your nose, keeping your mouth closed. See how long you can stay under and how many bubbles you can make.

Now you are ready to learn how to do the dead man's float. Take a deep breath and push off from the side of the pool, floating on your face with your arms stretched out as far as possible in front of you.

After accomplishing this, push off from the side of the pool just as you did when you floated on your face. As soon as your dead man's float is started, begin kicking with your legs. Scissors kick—that is, up and down. One leg goes up as the other goes down. The kick is from the hips—not the knees. Your heels should be just below the surface of the water or if it is easier for you, allow them to break the water's surface.

After you have practised long enough to be able to make quite a bit of speed and as soon as it seems easy for you, you will be ready to add the arms to your kick.

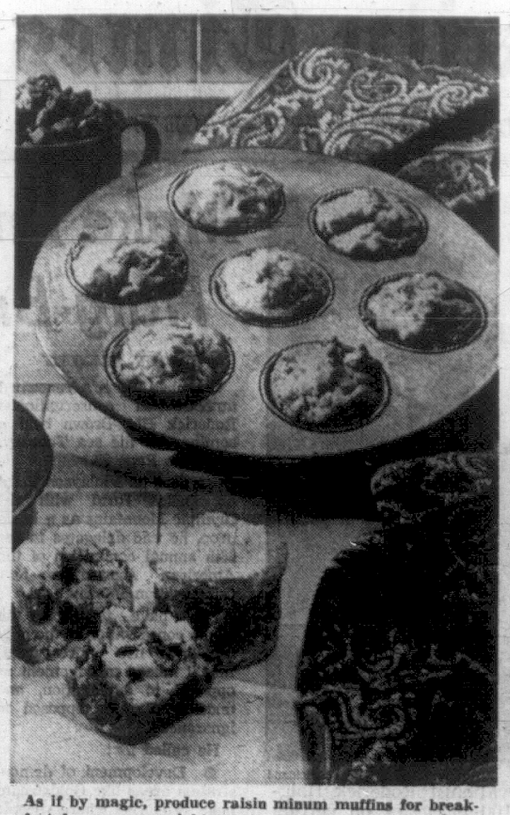

The stroke to use here is the overarm stroke. One arm reaches forward above the surface of the water as the other pulls back under the water. Keep your legs working constantly. Keep working, even though putting the arm stroke and leg stroke together may seem difficult.

You shouldn't try to come up for air as a regular part of your crawl until the steps I have given you seem quite easy. If you will master each step well before trying the next, you will find your progress much faster.

Every time your left arm comes back, turn your head to the left and breathe in through your mouth. As the left arm enters the water submerge the face in the water and breathe out through the nose, keeping the mouth closed. Breathe under the left arm as it bends at the end of the pull.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Learn to Swim!" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DIANE RENTZ WED

Lace Trims Bridal Gown

Appliques of Chantilly lace starred the skirt of the floor-length gown worn by Diane Marie Rentz when she became the bride of James Harry Bassingthwaite.

The gown featured a portrait neckline, with fitted bodice and sleeves ending in lily points of Chantilly lace. The full skirt of the gown was fashioned of silk organza, and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Rev. Lester M. Carlson officiated at the ceremony in Hope Lutheran Church which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rentz, 1921 Leighton Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bassingthwaite of Alberni. Mr. Rentz gave his daughter in marriage. Baskets of gladioli and carnations decorated the church for the wedding, and soloist was Miss Shirley Webb.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Eileen Walsh, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were the Misses Shirley Steg, the bride's cousin, Miss Karen Green, and bridesmatron, Mrs. J. Spencer. They chose dresses of peau d'elegance in an aqua shade, styled with bell skirts and topped with long-sleeved jackets. They carried bouquets of white shasta chrysanthemums. Flower girl, little Doreen Steg, cousin of the bride, wore a dress similar to those of the senior attendants, and carried a basket of white shasta chrysanthemums.

For travelling on honeymoon to Churchbridge, Sask., the new Mrs. Bassingthwaite chose a walking suit in pink, with hat en tone, and black accessories.

Upon their return, the newlyweds will live at 639 Admirals Road.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cass of Prince George; the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Steg, Glenalta, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Weber of Waldersee, Man.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Barriscale, Mrs. Marg Walker of Vancouver.

Morning Secret of Mary Moore

EARLY BIRD'S BATCH OF BUNS

The steps may be short but they are steady toward church union.

Two members of the Evangelical United Church were billeted with me for their 103rd annual conference and I heard from them that it may be their final one prior to joining the United Church of Canada.

Moore

Florence Hessenauer and her grandniece, Kathy Baker, were my guests for two nights and two breakfasts and I warned them they were to be guineapigs for at least one experimental batch of muffins which I made for breakfast.

The general idea, for the benefit of our readers, was to produce a hot bread as if by magic for your overnight guests who stop with you this summer.

Mrs. Hessenauer and Kathy thought these were fine.

RAISIN MINUM MUFFINS

Note: 1. In the early morning as soon as you walk into the kitchen, turn the oven on at 375 deg. Fahr. 2. These muffins do not call for any butter or shortening.

One and one-third cups biscuit mix; ½ cup sugar; 1 large egg; 2 teaspoons poppy seeds or 2 tablespoons sesame seeds (optional); ¾ cup dairy sour cream; 1 teaspoon vanilla; ¾ cup seedless raisins (plumped—see below).

Measure raisins in one-cup measuring cup. Pour boiling water over, let stand two minutes. Drain. Pat dry on paper towelling.

Into mixing bowl measure biscuit mix and sugar (and seeds if used). Mix. Add egg, sour cream, vanilla and raisins and stir to barely mix.

Turn into greased 2½" muffin pans (preferably Teflon for non-stick removal). Bake at 375 deg. F. 25 minutes. Serve hot from the oven in napkin-lined muffin basket. Makes 12.

Note: If you have time and inclination the muffins may be dipped while hot into melted butter, then coated with granulated sugar.

To Present Brief

MONTREAL (CP)—A brief dealing largely with the employment of women is to be presented to the federal royal commission on the status of women in February on behalf of the National Council of Women.

Margaret MacLellan of Ottawa, chairman of the committee in charge of drafting the brief, presented an outline to the closing session of the council's week-long annual conference.

She said the second part of the brief will deal with federal taxation laws applying to women, especially income tax.

The third part would be headed Women Under Criminal Law, and would concern divorce laws, abortion laws and family planning laws.

The royal commission would be asked to give women more consideration for posts on commissions at the United Nations and federal government levels, and to give women in Canada the right to their own separate domiciles, particularly in the cases of women separated from their husbands.

Lines Around the Mouth

The mouth area comes in for so much attention, the quicker the lines are smoothed out and made to disappear, the younger you will look. A lotion-like substance 2nd Debut applied nightly will make the lines fill in and the skin become smooth once more. You will probably use 2nd Debut on your entire face to banish dryness, but do use a little extra care around your mouth. After applying the 2nd Debut massage very lightly, until it disappears into your skin. Your drug or dept. store has 2nd Debut with CEF 600 or CEF 1200 in double strength and you'll find it a genuine delight to use.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Husband Should Complain to Wife

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a wife, married nine years, who takes the children to visit her mother in another province for two months every summer?

She arranges her trip so that the last two weeks fall when her husband gets his summer vacation. Then he has to drive to her mother's, spend his "vacation" there, and drive her and the kids back home.

Then when the husband tells her that while he was alone he went out a few times and had a couple of beers with the boys, she blows her top. How about this, Abby?

THE HUSBAND

DEAR HUSBAND: The husband should register his complaints with his wife. And if she continues to leave him, he can't be blamed for relieving his loneliness and boredom with "the boys." If the wife is smart, she'll change her routine because there is always a chance that the next time it could with "the girls."

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law of 20 years standing has a friend who will soon celebrate her 25th wedding anniversary. This friend is having a party at her newly-built home.

Well, my sister-in-law asked me if I wanted to earn a little extra money by serving at this party. Abby, I have a very good secretarial job, own my own home, my own car, have no debts, and I am not in the slightest hard up for "extra money." I have never done waitress work in my life!

I know the anniversary couple socially, having been invited to the homes of mutual friends. In fact, the anniversary couple have been guests in my home.

I was very much insulted and I let my sister-in-law know it. I haven't heard from her since. Was I wrong in feeling insulted?

NO WAITRESS.

DEAR NO: If you honestly believe your sister-in-law wanted to insult you, then you had every right to feel insulted. You know your sister-in-law better than I do, so you'll have to be the judge of her motives.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with Jimmy for two years. Jimmy's brother, Tom, is getting married tomorrow and Jimmy will be an usher in the wedding. I am very upset because I wasn't invited.

I know the family sort of well, and I always thought they liked me. Maybe I am all upset over nothing. If I am, please tell me. Do you think I should have received an invitation? Who does the inviting anyway?

Please answer soon as this has left me sleepless.

LEFT OUT.

DEAR LEFT OUT: The bride and her family "does the inviting." But the groom and his family are allowed a certain number of guests also. If Jimmy had asked that you be sent an invitation, you probably would have received one. There is always the possibility that the number of guests had to be limited, or that the ushers had to "escort" the bridesmaids, so perhaps Jimmy had a "duty" date. Ask him.

Of Personal Interest

OFFICIAL CALL

Capt. T. Yano of the Nippon Maru and Capt. S. Kodama of the Kaiwo Maru, the two Japanese training vessels currently visiting Victoria, will visit Government House on Thursday to make an official call on His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

That afternoon, His Honor will officially open the Townley Lodge Senior Citizens' housing development in Victoria.

Reception

Baptism Ceremony

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip F. Benn of Brentwood Bay was baptized Marlene June, in a recent ceremony in Brentwood College Memorial Chapel. The baby's godparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Windsor of Brentwood Bay and Mrs. Robert Descateau, Victoria. Her grandparents are Mr. G. Clute, Brentwood Bay, and Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Benn of Victoria. Following the service, friends and relations attended a tea in the home of the little girl's parents.

Dinner and Dance

A dinner and dance to honor district scout master Bob Muir is being planned by the Juan de Fuca District Council on Friday evening in the Colwood Community Hall, 2219 Sooke Road. Mr. Muir recently won the Medal of Merit, one of the Scout movement's highest awards. The event is beginning at 7:30 p.m. and tickets can be obtained from any group chairman, or general convener Mrs. W. D. Lyall, 478-3358.

For Bride-Elect

Glamelias en corsage were presented to bride-elect Miss Patricia Peterson when she was feted with a shower by Mrs. L. Pelletier and Mrs. T. Ferris, held in Mrs. Pelletier's Bay Street home. Vases of rosebuds were given to the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. J. Peterson, her grandmother Mrs. A. Wiszniewski, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. W. Woodward. An umbrella concealed the gifts from guests Mrs. H. Biddlecomb, Mrs. H. Freisinger, Mrs. R. Peterson, Mrs. A. Lindgren, Mrs. J. Daly, Mrs. T. Carrington, Mrs. J. Muldrew, Mrs. R. Hunter, Mrs. E. Gummer, Mrs. K. Buchanan, Mrs. L. Thomas, Mrs. S. Hoffman, Mrs. L. Bolitho, Mrs. C. Newbold, Mrs. W. Peterson, Mrs. R. McIntyre, Mrs. M. Pearce, Mrs. F. Snelling, Mrs. G. Snelling, Mrs. J. A New You

by Emily Wilkens

DEAR EMILY WILKENS:

UNLIPSTICKED LIPS

Every time I wear lipstick it cakes, and my lips become peeled and cracked.—Wendy P.

You may be allergic to some substance in the lipstick. Try a hypo-allergenic brand.

A simple lip gloss or slicker with color added, or any of the moisturizer-type lip embellishers (those of light consistency, without much body) might solve your problem. Buy several small-size tubes to see which product works best.

TURPENTINE TROUBLES

I'm studying painting. How can I keep my hands and nails in good shape when they're soaked in paint and turpentine all day? The soap in the school washroom is very strong.—Ariane S.

Tote along your own soap in a plastic bottle. There are liquid types which contain detergent (you'll need a fairly strong soap to do an adequate clean-up job). Consider the kind doctors use for scrubbing up.

Use a silicone-based hand lotion before painting to help protect hands and nails.

Wash and rinse hands immediately after painting, and apply baby oil or lotion. Turpentine is especially harmful when allowed to remain on the skin.

Use rubber gloves for all clean-up chores. In any case, do try to paint the canvas, not yourself.

BORED BLONDE

I've been bleaching my hair blonde for two years, and am getting bored with it. Should I go back to my natural color?—Evelyn L.

It seems to me that if you're bored now, you're certain to become even more bored as time goes on.

To repair the damage go to a shade near your natural color, then let your hair grow in. It's advisable to have this type of coloring done by a professional.

FOILED BY FINGERNAILS

I've tried everything on my fingernails and I am just about at my wit's end. None of the strengtheners or other products seem to do a bit of good. My nails stay flaky and soft. Do you know of a homemade recipe I could try?—Olive P.

Some find this oil and boric solution very helpful:

Mix 1 oz. castor oil and ¼ tsp. boric acid powder in a 2-oz. wide-mouth bottle. Soak nails every day for five minutes until improved, then once a week. Before soaking, buff, buff, buff.

The solution should be warm. The simplest way to do this is to warm the bottle in a pan of water before each use. Always shake thoroughly.

Do you keep a non-allergenic colorless polish on nails to protect them during your daily routine?

Emily Wilkens welcomes letters, but cannot undertake to answer each one. She will use questions in her column of general interest. Address your letters to Emily Wilkens, in care of this newspaper.

KOEL-BLONDIN VOWS

Couple Wed in Victoria To Live at Prince George

Following a trip to Banff and the interior of British Columbia, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koel will make their home in Prince George. The bride is the former Patricia Audrey Blondin, daughter of Mrs. Norman E. Blondin, 1093 Foul Bay Road and the late Norman E. Blondin. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koel, 515 Cook Street. Archdeacon A. E. Hendy conducted the ceremony in St. Dunstan's Anglican Church.

ATTENDS BRIDE

The bride's only attendant, Miss Andrea Selwood, wore a street-length dress of georgette taffeta. The sleeveless dress featured a fitted bodice over a bouffant skirt. Her rose floral headpiece was en tone with the dress and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and shocking pink tulle.

Best man was James Troy. Ushering the guests were Neil Koel, the groom's brother, and Paul Postma.

At a reception following in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, silver candelabra flanked the two-tier wedding cake which centred the head table. Arrangements of yellow stocks completed the decor. Jack Fisher proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon, the bride chose a slim-fitting dress in navy blue and white check. The dress was topped by a three-quarter-length cape. A navy hat and accessories completed the ensemble.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fisher of Hatzic, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Viner, Mrs. Velma Banks of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John Banks of Duncan; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Postma of Aldergrove, and the groom's aunt, Miss A. Van Dijk, Holland.

A Beauty Hint

Margaret Merril advises that it is quite simple for every woman to promote an English countryside complexion. Her hint to gain a peaches-and-cream loveliness is to damp a cloth with cold water from your refrigerator and press it over your face for a few minutes once or twice a day. Then, to hold the good of the complexion - beautifying cold water, smooth on tropical oil of Olay. This oil is rather scarce and expensive, but your drug store should be able to get you a small supply.

CLUBWOMEN'S NEWS

Mark Anniversary—Members of the Victoria Women's Institute marked the group's 46th anniversary by holding a special meeting at The Inn. The Institute's drama group presented the comedy, "Among Us Girls." Life member Mrs. A. Brown, who was celebrating her 84th birthday, cut a special cake. Tea and refreshments were served.

MARSH-ANDERSON MARRIAGE TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson, 51 High Street, announce the forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Patricia Dallas, to Mr. John Daniel (Jake) Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Marsh, 195 Sims Avenue. The wedding will be taking place next Saturday in Metropolitan United Church with Rev. A. E. King officiating.

The bride-elect has been feted with a number of showers prior to the wedding.

A gay South American theme was used to decorate the Helmcken Road home of Mrs. J. Knowles when she, Mrs. F. de Urena, Mrs. J. Braithwaite and Mrs. P. Powell entertained at a shower.

Carnations en corsage were given to Miss Anderson and the mothers of the principals. Games were played and refreshments served to guests Mrs. E. Blunt, Mrs. M. English, Mrs. C. Martin, Mrs. J. McGrath, the Misses Heather Adams, Louise and Diann Marsh and Ellen Anderson.

The bride-elect's co-workers in the finance department of the provincial government gathered in the office lunch room for a shower. The head table was topped with a gold cloth centred with a floral arrangement in pink and purple tones, echoing the decorations in the room. Feathered tangerine carnations en corsage were given to the honor guest.

Attending were Mrs. H. West, Mrs. J. Carey, Mrs. A. Robbins, Mrs. J. Williamson, Mrs. G. Banning, Mrs. M. Cooney, Mrs. H. Dick, the Misses Carla Armstrong, Judy Lewis, Gloria Harrison, Gail Flowers, Kay Dixon, Margaret Sing, Marion Dempster, Linda and Susan Carey.

A corsage of white rosebuds was presented to Miss Anderson when she was entertained at a shower by Mrs. J. Butcher and her chosen matron of honor Mrs. D. Heritage in Mrs. Butcher's Uplands Road home. Single roses in bud vases were given to the mothers of the principals. Refreshments were served.

A decorated laundry basket contained gifts from Mrs. de Urena, Mrs. Knowles, Mrs. A. Robbins, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. D. Plater, Mrs. R. MacKenzie, the Misses Carla Armstrong, Louise and Diann Marsh.

Gas Stations, Business Rapped

GANGES—Salt Spring Island gas stations certainly don't rate as service stations.

According to Chamber of Commerce representative Tom Portlock, SERVICE is the last thing you get.

He complained to the chamber this week: "They don't even wipe up spilled gas or clean windshields.

"It's poor business and discourteous to tourists."

POST SIGNS

Local magistrate, Col. M. F. Peiler said businessmen will be asked to post signs on their premises stating current exchange will be paid.

At the same meeting, a complaint of pollution at Vesuvius Bay was turned over to health authorities.

Opinion differed among chamber members as to whether the pollution was caused by Crofton mill or by raw sewage discharged from boats in adjacent waters.

The meeting was also told that small boat owners who use Ganges wharf will complain to department of transport officials due to make a survey of small boat basins on the west coast.

Chief complaint is the required advance payment of wharfage fees with no guarantee of reserved space.

Pioneer Village Opens Friday

GANGES—A $181,000 Pioneer Village begun in October, 1964, will be officially opened here Friday.

The village, a product of Salt Spring Lions Club, will provide low rental housing for Gulf Islands senior citizens.

Present at the 2:15 p.m. ceremony will be Victoria Mayor Hugh Stephen. Conducting the ceremony will be past director of Lions International, George B. Wong, of West Vancouver.

Driver Remanded In Fatal Crash

NANAIMO (CP) — Daniel Robert Burns, 24, of Nanaimo, was remanded to June 29 without plea Monday when he appeared in magistrate's court on a charge of criminal negligence causing death.

Burns was charged following the death of Mrs. Margaret Alice Clayton, 49, of Nanoose. Mrs. Clayton was killed Thursday when the car in which she was riding was struck from behind and knocked into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

Two-Mill Levy

NANAIMO — Civic and district leaders were told Monday that a $14,000,000 regional college could be built here on a levy of about two mills.

COWICHAN FUND HIKED

DUNCAN—Cowichan Indians are hoping their centennial fund will be like Topsy, who just "growed and growed."

Monday afternoon Cowichan Indian band sports committee handed a $1,500 cheque to the centennial committee.

Louise Underwood, band secretary, said most of the $1,500 was raised at last month's Corpus Christi weekend sports.

The donation lifts the fund total to $19,000.

'Get On With It' Mayor Told

DUNCAN — Ald. Thomas Kilpatrick said Monday people in the unorganized area south of Duncan are getting tired of waiting to hear details of the city's plan for extension.

He said it is time city hall told these residents what city sewer service will cost them.

Ald. Kilpatrick said he saw no reason for Mayor Jack Dobson's suggestion to confer with the real estate board.

Mayor Dobson said he did not wish to make the mistake of rushing the proposal.

Mormons Purchase RC Church

DUNCAN — The Church of Latter Day Saints of Jesus Christ has bought a home in Duncan.

On July 1 it will take over the Coronation Avenue Church now occupied by St. Edward's Roman Catholic congregation.

The Mormon congregation bought the property for $27,000.

Joseph Haddock, a spokesman for the Duncan Roman Catholic parish, said sale proceeds will go toward a $300,000 fund to build a new church as part of the Queen of Angels' School complex on Tzouhalem Road.

He said the parish hopes to start work on the new church later this year.

Meanwhile the congregation will worship in Queen of Angels' school hall.

Keep Mining Out of Parks Says U.S. Conservationist

Woman Expert Claims Joint Use 'Incompatible'

By AB KENT

A former president of the American Association for Conservation Information said Tuesday mining and park wilderness areas are incompatible.

Miss Juanita Mahaffey, of the U.S. Water Pollution Control Administration, Washington, D.C., was asked in an interview to comment on B.C. government policy of joint use of certain parks by industry and the public.

She felt the two fields of activity do not go together, and when told of mining development in Strathcona Park and of permission to empty tailings into Buttle Lake, she said:

"I don't think that is good at all."

POLLUTION WIDESPREAD

Here to attend the 26th annual meeting of the American Association for Conservation Information at the Empress Hotel being held in Canada for the first time, Miss Mahaffey said most of the work of her administration is directed to prevention of water pollution.

Pollution has become a plank in the platform of the president's administration, and as a result, "Congress has given us a tremendous amount more money than we ever had before," Miss Mahaffey said.

But a lot of it will be spent on cleaning up existing pollution. For example, the official said, it is estimated $30 billion will be needed to separate domestic sewers from storm drainage systems where they are combined in cities across the nation.

That is counted as one of the largest problems looming in the pollution battle, along with constant pollution on the land and washing into waterways through agricultural chemical spraying, and industrial discharge of untreatable wastes.

PUPLIC CLAMOR

Acid-laden wastes from the mining industry—in both active and inactive mines—are counted among these, as are pulp mill wastes, Miss Mahaffey said.

New U.S. legislation adopted last year will give great authority to the federal government in the pollution fight. State government have until the end of this month to file with Washington the anti-pollution programs they intend to carry out.

If pollution sources are not cleaned up or prevented, the federal government may step in and do the job.

DICKENS FELLOWSHIP HOLDS GARDEN PARTY

A tape recording of the late Ronald Colman and supporting cast performing Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" will be played at the annual garden party of the Dickens Fellowship, Saturday, July 1.

The recording will be played by Norman Cribbens, of the Victoria Times, who is a member of the International Tape Recording Association.

Mr. Cribbens received the tape from Norman Lidster, Sr., of New Westminster, a retired lawyer.

The party will be held in the garden of Miss Olive Watherston, at 637 Linden Avenue, starting at 2 p.m. The recording will be played at 4 p.m.

It Was Photo Finish In Doggy Court Case

A dog fight in Oak Bay April 22 escalated into a court fight between two neighbors Tuesday.

And the neighbors fought with such doggedness it took two hours for Magistrate William Ostler to reach a decision.

Before the case was over, Magistrate Ostler had seen 12 color photos of one dog being exercised. But he refused to look at a movie of the other one.

At the end he said, "The neighborhood is not big enough for both dogs."

The dogs are Tex and Duke, two Alsatians (German Shepherds). Tex is owned by W. G. Moore, 2540 Dorset. Duke belongs to D. F. Ward, 2560 Dorset.

The fight occurred when Mr. Ward was exercising Duke by driving slowly in his car while the dog ran alongside.

Tex saw Duke approaching and advanced towards him. Mr. Ward got out of his car and Mrs. Moore came out of her home. Both tried to stop the dogs from fighting.

It ended up with Mr. Ward holding both dogs by their collars and Mrs. Moore on her back holding Duke around the chest.

Mr. Ward said he was bitten on the hand and Mrs. Moore said she was bitten in the face. Mr. Ward charged that the Moore's dog was vicious.

But Magistrate Ostler rejected the charge.

He said the biting was an accident and Tex was excited by seeing the other dog. He said each dog, when prevented from fighting, was probably angry because he thought he was protecting his owner.

And he told both owners that they were breaking the law by allowing their dogs to be at large.

Active Church Worker Dies

An active churchwoman who came to Victoria 54 years ago, Mrs. Annie Hadfield, died at St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday.

She was the wife of Thomas Hadfield, 450 Dallas, a former Esquimalt reeve and ex-magistrate at Qualicum, and the mother of Ray Hadfield, superintendent of motor vehicles for B.C.

Mrs. Hadfield also leaves a daughter, Mrs. Claude Sluggett of Brentwood, two sisters in England, and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Hadfield was active in the women's auxiliary to St. Paul's Anglican Church, Esquimalt, and later at St. Mark's Anglican Church at Qualicum.

Funeral will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. at Hayward's chapel with Rev. Sam Williams officiating.

'Progress Has Been Fantastic; It's Absolutely Wonderful'

CALGARY (CP)—Ken Stanway, who worked as a $31-a-week floor sweeper to be near his daughter while she underwent bone cancer treatment in New York, brought her home Tuesday night.

He carried smiling, 13-year-old Chelley Lynn down the steps from an Air Canada jet with the words: "Her progress has just been fantastic. It's absolutely wonderful."

Chelley Lynn, wearing a copper wig to hide the loss of hair she suffered during six weeks of drug treatment, said only: "It's just good to be home again."

The girl was flown to New York by the RCAF, and more than $3,000 was raised through public appeal when Alberta doctors said there was nothing they could do in the province for her "rampant bone cancer."

She was taken Tuesday night to a Calgary hospital for "maintenance treatment." Said her father: "We hope to have her home again in two or three days."

Chelley Lynn smiled, then wept as she was greeted by her mother and sister, Selina, 19, and displayed the good spirits which her father said marked her stay at New York's Memorial Hospital.

"It was her tenacity that did it," he said. "She now has bone marrow again and that's marvellous. The response she showed to the experimental drug was just fantastic."

He quoted doctors as saying they hope treatment of seven to 10 days every three months will work. "This will be just with what they call maintenance drugs. She had an experimental drug in New York."

Mr. Stanway said his daughter's appetite had "improved tremendously. She had sores in her mouth at New York and she couldn't eat for two weeks. But she kept her spirits up all the time."

Mr. Stanway flew to New York with her, and worked as a floor sweeper in a hotel, then graduated to a $45-a-week job behind the cash register to help finance his six-week stay there.

"I'd spend half the day with her. I started work at 7 a.m. with the dawn and I didn't get back (to my room) until the dawn. The earliest I got back was 5 a.m. It just wasn't worth sleeping."

Mr. Stanway, who formerly had worked with retarded children but now is unemployed, said he had lost track of his expenses. "I know up to two or three weeks ago, the cost was over $7,000."

Chelley Lynn was treated by the Pack Medical Group. Said Mr. Stanway: "They wouldn't have let her home if they didn't think the treatment here would help. We owe them a lot."

Familiar Names In Top Spots At Horse Show

The names of Rimmer, Nichols and Pallister again came to the fore when total points were compiled from a Vancouver Island Horsemen's Council show at Saanichton fair grounds Sunday.

The show, sponsored by Colwood Trail Riders with Al Noble of Parksville as judge, attracted 47 horses. There were 28 events, all of them western.

The three aggregate winners all have been in the top bracket of VIHC point shows. But they were given good competition.

300 Children Dance In Centennial Revue

More than 300 children took part in a centennial dance revue presented by the Vivian Briggs studio at McPherson Playhouse Tuesday night.

The first half was devoted to a dream sequence offering scope for fanciful scenery and imaginative choreography.

The second half was given over to more modern dancing, with music ranging from Mary Poppins to Rachmaninoff.

Vivian Briggs was ably assisted by Velda Scobie, Rae Burns and Mary Spilsbury. Guest artists were Marjorie Bridgeman, George Marshall and Alsion Cummings.

INSPECTION

Victoria Doctor Honored by CMA

A 78-year-old Victoria doctor who pioneered the department of pathology at St. Joseph's Hospital and who served many years as coroner was honored today by Canadian Medical Association.

Dr. John Harvey Moore was one of 17 Canadian physicians awarded senior membership "for long and meritorious service." The award was made at the CMA annual meeting in Quebec City.

Dr. Moore developed his interest in pathology while interning at Vancouver General Hospital in 1912. Later he established the first pathology department at St. Joseph's and served there for 18 years.

He served in the medical corps in First World War. In 1923 he became a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. From 1949 to 1964 he was provincial coroner for a large section of South Vancouver Island. He now serves as medical officer for various transportation companies here.

Dr. Moore was twice president of Victoria Medical Society and has been active in the Royal Astronomical Society.

He was born in Walkerton, Ont. in 1889 but has been a westerner for 55 years.

HOME GARDEN

Pick Plants That Require Little Care

By HILDA BEASTALL

Sometime during our gardening years we wake up to find ourselves following the pattern of all other gardeners.

We grow bulbs for spring, roses for June, gladioli for July, dahlias for August, and chrysanthemums for September and October.

Hilda

A pattern such as this entails continuous work from March rose pruning and indoor preparation until the December storage of the various roots, corms and tubers is finally accomplished.

I sometimes wonder how we manage to get the time for just sitting outdoors to enjoy what we grow!

The rebellious among us carefully select plants for ease of culture, those requiring only to be fed and watered during many years of usefulness.

Two colorful herbaceous perennials which bloom for several weeks during June and July are the early dwarf asters and a pleasant sunshine-gold daisy called Yellow Ox-eye daisy, botanically Buphthalmum salicifolium.

The only care these plants need during summer is the removal of faded flowers before seed is set. A feeding of balanced fertilizer in spring and general garden watering are the only other attentions.

After three to five years, it may be necessary to dig up the plants in early September, discard all wornout parts, and replant the young pieces in freshly composted soil.

The dwarf asters which bloom in June are Aster subcoeruleus "Waldbergstein," with 12-inch stems of solitary lilac flowers, and Aster yunnanensis "Napsbury" having 18-inch stems of larger, soft lilac blooms three inches across.

Exchange Students Named

Forty eight Greater Victoria high school students will travel to Manitoba and Ontario this summer for a two-week exchange visit.

The exchange is part of the Centennial Youth Travel Program.

An equal number of Manitoba and Quebec students will visit Victoria for two week periods during July and August.

The first group of 24 leaving July 28 for St. Pierre, Man., escorted by Mr. and Mrs. Vito Cianci, 1291 Tattersall Drive, are:

Esquimalt High — Kathy Brynjolfson, Vivian McConnell, Richard Burkmar, Gary Green, and Gordon Oxendale; Mt. Douglas — Barbara Beischer, Gregory Fraser and Ross Morgan; Mount View—Janice Evans, Myrna Srocks, David Barlow and Roger Johnson; Oak Bay — Roslyn Farmer, Jacquie Farris, Gail Thurber, Don Burrows, Robert McDougal and Donald Milburn; Victoria High—Sandi Mottishaw, Kathy Newell, Lily Low, Pat Bourne, Dennis Mitchell and Arthur Warren.

The second group of 24 will leave Aug. 14 for North York, a suburb of Toronto, escorted by Mrs. Joan Smith, 3856 Cadboro Bay, and Arthur Isaacson, 3211 Bellevue. They are:

Esquimalt High—Wendy Lindgren and James Kennedy Mt. Douglas—Linda Bonner and David MacLeod; Mount View—Jenifer Dawes, Lloyd Erickson, Douglas Ramsfield and Harold Gordon Cliff; Oak Bay—Barbara McLaren, Terry Neal, Chris Jackh, George Klima and Brent Morrison; Victoria High—Alisa Lendrum, Gail Vaughan, Ian McKinnon and Peter McKinnon; Norfolk House—Leslie Hanne; St. Ann's Academy—Aileen Costello, Marilyn Nuttall and Kathleen Ritz; St. Margaret's School — Faith Graham; University School—Anthony Eric Wynne Peyton and James Gregg Houston.

Another group from Winnipeg will come here in late August.

She is survived by three sons, Edward, of Palm Springs, California; George S., of Drumheller, Alta., and Walter H., of Victoria; also four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.
Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. FLORAL CHAPEL, Johnson and Vancouver Streets, on Friday, June 16, at 10:15 a.m. Rev. Dr. E. M. Smiley officiating. Cremation.

8 CARD OF THANKS

The death of our beloved Mother and Grandmother, Gunda Borgen, has left an emptiness in our hearts that can never be wholly filled, but the many kind words and acts of sympathy from our relatives and friends have helped immeasurably. We are deeply grateful to the members of the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Dr. R. A. Hunter, Dr. McElmoyle, Rev. H. N. Kerley, the pallbearers and Sands Memorial Chapel of Chimes. —Benard Borgen, Lillian Ainsworth, Anna Keown.

It is with the sincerest gratitude that I wish to express my appreciation for the kindness and wonderful care that the staff, past and present of the 2nd. floor of Mt. St. Mary Hospital extended to my mother, the late Mrs. Fannie Christie, during her stay there for the past two years.
—Mrs. D. M. Fraser and her family.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Wayne and Shuster's final hour of the season allowed them to close their funny book on the credit side. The color special, labelled such because the comedians appear so infrequently in the Show of the Week slot, moved quickly with enough humor to forestall yawns and drooping eyelids.

Stephen

A far-from-serious account along the idea of My Fair Lady of how their partnership came about had its droll moments. But the pair shine best in the mirth-provoking quickies.

Being run over by centennial flag-waving youngsters singing Bobby Gimby's "Canada" while enjoying a picnic seemingly miles from civilization was one.

Then being run over by the same song-singing, flag-waving tykes while taking in Expo was another.

We sure do things backwards in Canada. Instead of nurturing the arts in this country, we allow our performers to slip away to the U.S. fields of entertainment. Then we congratulate them if they do well.

For instance Lorne Greene was presented with a three-foot-high steel and bronze trophy by Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh recently, a tribute by this country to the creative arts and native Canadians who have made good in the U.S.

Both Miss LaMarsh and our Bonanza hero acknowledged that lack of opportunity for performers and others in the entertainment industry in Canada had made it necessary to emigrate to the U.S. or Europe.

Why not make the climate easier for them to make a comfortable penny and pursue the arts here, Miss LaMarsh?

Bill Dana has finally given his reasons for the collapse of The Las Vegas Show, which ran in competition with NBC's Tonight show and ABC's Joey Bishop Show.

He blamed the death of the United Network after only a month of operation on "naivete, and a lack of business acumen" by those behind it.

His basic pay for the late night stint was $8,000 a week. In addition, the network reportedly told him he would get a percentage of the commercials so he could wind up with $11,000 per week and when the network raised the commercial ante he would get $17,000 per week.

Dana claims not to have received any commercial action. He is trying now to salvage a settlement.

This restaurant has one of the finest decors imaginable and no expense was spared in its building. Partners must sell due to health reasons. This is a licensed dining room and ideal for man and wife team. Business has increased substantially yearly. Many adjacent tourist attractions guarantees a high profit period above the normal for four months. For efficiency it has its own laundry room for linens, separate quiet office, leasable space on top storeys ($100 p.m. income possible from these). Future local improvements indicate a glowing future. NO REASONABLE OFFER REFUSED and about $35,000 financing available. Owners will consider ANYTHING in trade for about $34,000 equity. This must be sold quickly as one partner leaving now. WILLS OF WHITTOMES, 388-4271. J. H. Whittome and Co. Ltd., 706 Fort Street.

LOST ITS PUNCH

is the "cute and 'cosy" heading we see so often but this bungalow truly is cute and cosy and has convenience, cleanliness and charm. For anyone skeptical, suggest you drive by 2540 Austin and see for yourself but please don't disturb. It has but one bedroom, pleasant living room with open fireplace. Very modern kitchen, automatic furnace. First time advertised, see it today while it is still available.

'IT STINKS'

IWA Leader Blasts Locals' Suspension

The president of the International Woodworkers of America will protest the unprecedented suspension of four IWA locals from the B.C. Federation of Labour.

Al Hartung of Portland said the protests will be lodged with the federation and the parent Canadian Labour Congress.

"I think it (the suspension) stinks," he said. "I think the federation stuck its nose in where it's got no business to."

The four locals —Victoria, Vancouver, Duncan and lumber inspectors — were suspended last Friday after failing to make a public apology for criticisms by their presidents of Joe Morris, a CLC vice-president.

The federation executive took the action under a convention-approved policy that unions keep their internal problems out of the public eye.

The local presidents had protested Mr. Morris' role in the Gold River certification battle which saw the IWA and the international Pulp Sulphite union join hands in an unseccessful joint bid for bargaining rights.

Officers of the B.C. Federation of Labour, meeting Monday, confirmed the suspensions. Among those present and voting in favor was regional IWA president Jack Moore, who is first vice-president of the federation.

The federation also accepted the resignation from its executive of Doug Evans, financial secretary of the Vancouver IWA.

A statement issued by federation secretary Ray Haynes said the suspensions will be discussed at the October annual convention.

"In the meantime the suspensions do not preclude any of the four IWA locals involved from making a public apology and thereby satisfying the federation's original request," he said.

APPEAL POSSIBLE

"Nor does it preclude them from appealing the decision of the executive council of the B.C. Federation of Labour to the forthcoming convention."

Mr. Haynes admitted that the suspended locals cannot have delegates at the convention. The mechanics of an appeal — whether by letter, by special invitation or by representation from other delegates — have not been worked out.

He also said there is "absolutely no suggestion that there is any other reason for the suspension other than the matter of these locals continually violating established convention policy."

ELECTED president of the Victoria Parliamentary Law Group, A. R. D. Robertson will head a movement to improve better chairmanship and effective use of parliamentary procedure by local organizations. Other officers elected were Mrs. J. J. Wiart, vice-president; Mrs. P. A. Petersen, secretary; Mrs. A. A. Reid, treasurer.

. . . FIRST BLOW

of war for the Israeli populace.

The first officer I met said Egyptian forces had advanced across the Israeli frontier and Israel was counter-attacking vigorously.

A few minutes later the briefing officer altered this story. He said the Israeli Army had detected a movement of Egyptian troops "toward" the Israeli frontier and Israel was taking counteraction.

A few days later, Israel said the Egyptians were dug into deep fortifications which had to be taken by a frontal assault and that the Egyptians did not move from the fortifications except to flee.

The strangest part of the orginal briefing was the announcement that Egyptian bombers had been detected heading for Tel Aviv from the Mediterranean. Israeli "interceptors" had taken off to meet them.

"What happened?" a briefing officer was asked.

"We don't know," he replied blandly.

What actually had occurred, it later was learned, was that Israeli fighter-bombers had swept west across the Mediterranean to a point west of Alexandria, turned south, then east and caught from behind most of the Egyptian air force lined up row on row on airfields.

Israel won the war in the first three hours. The dawn air force attack was timed perfectly with the army assault.

USED AS SIGNAL?

There is strong supsicion that the air raid alerts in Tel Aviv and elsewhere were sounded as the easiest way to notify the population that war was on rather than as a warning of an imminent Egyptian air attack.

There is nothing like an air raid to get you up and dressed in a hurry.

Israel was prepared to sacrifice almost its entire air force to protect its tank army in Sinai and no one was more surprised than the Israelis when they trapped most sleeping Egyptian squadrons on their basis.

Several hours after the original briefing for correspondents, Foreign Minister Abba Eban held a press conference. He said the war started when Egyptian batteries in the Gaza Strip began shelling Israel villages.

This was the third version in Tel Aviv of how the war started and was a clear indication that the Israelis did not bother to co-ordinate any versions in advance.

Eban also said Egypt started the war by ejecting the United Nations Emergency Force from the Gaza Strip.

three ceasefire resolutions, Israel had "seized further territories" from Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The letter called for "the immediate withdrawal of Israel forces behind the armistice lines" fixed at the end of the 1949 Arab Israeli War.

While Gromyko did not say so, his letter indicated that he was acting under the assembly's 1950 "uniting-for-peace" resolution, which was adopted to circumvent the Soviet veto in the council. The Soviet Union has always called it illegal.

The uniting-for-peace resolution declares that the assembly can take up a matter when the Big Powers are deadlocked in the council - although only for the purpose of making recommendations.

The uniting-for-peace resolution can be invoked only on grounds of lack of unanimity of the council's five permanent members, the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Nationalist China.

The Soviet resolution before the Security Council "vigorously condemns Israel's aggressive activities and continued occupation" of part of Egypt, Syria and Jordan and "demands that Israel should immediately and unconditionally" withdraw her troops behind the armistice lines.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the council Tuesday their solution was "a prescription for renewed hostilities." He said it would "let everything go back to exactly where it was before the fighting began on June 5,

QUANDARY FOR U.S.

Cong Use Elephants To Ship Munitions

BAN DON, Vietnam (AP)—The biggest live enemy targets in Vietnam are the elephants the Viet Cong sometimes use to transport armaments and food.

But there are so few of the lumbering beasts and they are so valuable to the primitive Montagnards who train them that severe restrictions have been placed on killing them.

In this tiny riverside village, known half a century ago as the elephant centre of Indochina and still inhabited by a mixed population of Laotians, Thais, Vietnamese, China, Rhade and M'nuongs, a U.S. Special Forces team watches over the elephants roaming the lightly jungled terrain of the central plateau.

"No one shoots up an elephant unless we personally give them the okay," commented ahe team commander.

In 1966, armed U.S. helicopters killed an elephant. The Montagnard owner demanded $5,000 compensation. He got nowhere near that much, but the indemnity was considerable.

The Viet Cong frequently load as much as an 81-millimetre mortar and 100 rounds of ammunition on each beast. But the Viet Cong apparently own none of the animals and use the elephants found in villages scattered across the southern central plateau.

For that reason, the Special Forces teams oppose indiscriminate elephant killing on the grounds that the short - term gains would not compensate the long-term economic disruption and ill-will among the tribal communities.

'Ottawa Won't Act As an Adjudicator'

QUEBEC (CP)—Health Minister MacEachen said Monday the federal government does not propose to act as adjudicator between doctors and provincial governments to assure the doctor of "reasonable compensation" under medical care insurance programs.

He made the statement at a press conference after reminding the annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association that the federal Medical Care Insurance Act provides that the doctors be given "reasonable compensation" for their services.

However, he made it plain that the federal government can step in and withhold federal money to a provincial plan if the fee levels were so high as to deter a substantial part of the public from participating in medical care insurance.

WILL CO-OPERATE

Mr. MacEachen said he believes the profession will give the medical care insurance program a fair chance to work. He had heard no member say he was not going to co-operate or was going to oppose the program, or that there would be concerted opposition.

MET OBJECTIONS

He said the federal government made changes before the bill was passed last December to meet the objections of the CMA officers. Dr. R. K. C. Thomson, outgoing CMA president, said Friday the federal government paid little or no attention to the association's objections.

In scientific session at the CMA's annual meeting Monday, Dr. Murray L. Barr of London, Ont., estimated that 12,000 Canadian girls have genetic abnormalities that mean substantial risk of mental retardation and greater than average risk of physical defects.

Dues Checkoff To Increase Membership

Membership in the B.C. Government Employees Association will increase because of restoration of dues checkoff, general secretary E. P. O'Connor said today.

First indication of this will come when the association receives the first remittance list towards the end of August.

Under the present system, individual members pay their dues directly to the association. Under checkoff, the employer—in this case the government—remits the dues to the association.

Mr. O'Connor added that while an increase is expected, the association will have to work for the increases.

The B.C. Government Employees Association, affiliated with the Canadian Labour Congress, has 7,900 members in 50 branches including nearly 2,000 in Greater Victoria.

HAD 11,000 MEMBERS

Before checkoff was cancelled by the government in late 1960, the association had nearly 11,000 members out of 15,000 or 16,000 civil servants.

Reason given for the cancellation of checkoff was the association's affiliation with the B.C. Federation of Labour, which supports the New Democratic Party. But when the association pulled out of the federation, checkoff wasn't restored.

Restoration of checkoff was announced by Premier Bennett April 28.

He said it was done because the association has shown "a great responsibility of action" and because of the recommendation of Dr. Hugh Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

STRACHAN:

Step-by-Step Dispoilation Of Parks

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said today he is opposed to any mining in provincial parks.

He told reporters a warning by Recreation Minister Kiernan Monday that there may be more mining exploration in Strathcona Park is "part of the step-by-step dispoilation of our parks."

Mr. Strachan said this is the policy to which the government is committed.

"The policy of the government is one of complete capitulation to the B.C. Chamber of Mines," he said, mentioning a chamber letter of two years ago asking for access in parks.

"The government created the problems by giving extra claims in parks," he said.

The government should make a public announcement whether or not more mine waste will be allowed to be dumped into Buttle Lake. Western Mines already is doing this.

No Empty Slogans

Lutheran Plea For Clarity In Unity Talk

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—The question of Christian unity will remain one of special significance for decades to come and the concept of unity must not be allowed to become "just an empty slogan," the general secretary of the Lutheran World Federation said Tuesday.

Addressing the annual convention of the federation's executive committee at Waterloo Lutheran University, Rev. Andre Appel termed the problems of unity and of renewal of the church and its work in the world as "great tasks" for the future.

He said the LWF "must be able to say with clarity which unity we are speaking of, and what we understand of it."

The Lutheran World Federation itself is needed "as an encouragement for renewal within our church and for consideration of the church's commission of the world," Dr. Appel said.

But, he said, the LWF "does not wish to be a final form of unity."

Dr. Appel, of the Church of the Augsburg Confession of Alsace and Lorraine, is among Lutheran leaders from around the world attending the week-long convention which opened Monday. The LWF comprises 73 member churches whose congregations include 55,000,000 of the world's 73,000,000 Lutherans.

LACKS TOTAL SUPPORT

In line with the unity problem, Dr. Appel stressed the need to look first at an "inter-Lutheran problem," the fact that the LWF "does not yet include all Lutheran churches."

This year's convention will consider applications for membership from four Lutheran churches, in Canada, Lithuania, Indonesia and Bolivia.

Turning to renewal of the church, the general secretary suggested that "brotherly confrontations and inter-actions" might be "the best means for an on-going reformation."

"Is not our main problem today that the church is being criticized for not living its faith? Her witness contradicts her preaching. Some of this criticism cannot be ignored."

Canadian Honored For Fine Efforts On Behalf of Deaf

WASHINGTON (CP)—Joseph George Demeza, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville, Ont., was awarded an honorary degree Monday by Gallaudet College for the Deaf here.

In a speech translated simultaneously into the sign language of the deaf, Demeza told graduating students they should guard and try to live by "the principles of individual freedom and responsibility that are the foundation of democracy."

A citation praised Demeza, superintendent at the Belleville school since 1953, for having spared "no effort to achieve excellence" in education.

Probe Requested

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver school board officials have voted to conduct a probe into the problem of police interrogation in Vancouver schools. Board chairman Betsy McDonald said the committee will be named in about a week.

Nine-Month Wait For Bed

People waiting hospital admission for other than emergency treatment may now face a wait of up to nine months.

Royal Jubilee Hospital is booking patients for elective surgery or treatment in March of 1968. At St. Joseph's a similar case might get a bed in October.

Urgent cases, (a category less serious than emergency) still face a wait of 10 days to four weeks.

There are 1,395 persons on the St. Joseph's waiting list and 45 of these are urgent. There are 2,200 people waiting to get into Royal Jubilee and 100 of these are urgent. Total waiting at both hospitals is 3,595.

The figures were released today by Victoria Medical Society.

Many Bavarian Firms Eyeing 'Big Deals' in Province

By JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Several Bavarian firms are negotiating big deals in B.C. and there may be a faint possibility that oil from the province could be sold as an alternative to Middle East imports there.

These were the highlights of comments by a good-will mission Tuesday from West Germany's southernmost state of 11 million persons.

Answering questions at a press conference were Bavaria's President Alfons Goppel and economics minister Otto Schedl.

Earlier they had been guests at a government luncheon in the Union Club where Premier Bennett presented the Bavarian leader with a carved plaque of the B.C. coat of arms.

Although there had been no announcement, he had been expected to award Mr. Goppel the Order of the Dogwood in return for the Bavarian Order of Merit he received last fall during a trip to Germany and Switzerland.

Mr. Goppel told reporters there is considerable scope for establishing more joint ventures in both B.C. and Bavaria in addition to the Intercontinental Pulp plant in Prince George and the Alcan aluminum plant in Munich.

Mr. Schedl said that there are Bavarian businessmen now negotiating for new contracts and ventures in this province but "they are still secret" and it would be premature to reveal details.

He also said that the Israeli-Arab war may have threatened Bavaria's long term oil supply although it has sufficient stores and other sources to avoid any immediate difficulties.

"We now have four sources of supply — Venezuela, Libya, Middle East and Russia," he said.

"But I would be very interested in having eight or 10 sources and we would be happy to have Canadian oil if the transportation costs problem can be solved.

"If it is possible to get crude at reasonable prices, I would be interested in buying B.C. oil — it's only a question of price," he said.

The visitors said that recent cheap all-inclusive trips excursions such as a $250 round trip flight and accommodation excursion to New York, have become available to Germans and this would spur cross-Atlantic tourism.

They made it clear that the Peace River Dam and Premier Bennett are the best foreign advertisements the province has.

President Goppel said although German business circles are familiar with B.C. resources, the man-in-the-street is not aware of the province except to the extent that "Premier Bennett's visit evoked (his) curiosity."

Mr. Schedl added that the delegation would visit the Portage Mountain project Wednesday partly because the massive conveyor belt system there was built by Bavarian interests.

But the main reason was "the Peace River project is so famous all over the world that it would be a pity to come here and not see it."

MEASLES HIT ROYAL FAMILY

LONDON (Reuters)—Prince Edward, three-year-old son of the Queen, has measles, it was announced today.

Kamloops Group Win Top Festival Award

VANCOUVER (CP) — The North Kamloops PTA Theatre Wing won the best play award Saturday at the provincial One-Act Play Festival.

Director Donalda Waterland of the Kamloops group won the best director award for her work on the play Fumed Oak. Valerie Takahashi was named best supporting actress.

Cranbrook Community Theatre won the best visual production award for its presentation of Breeches from Bond Street and Jerry Doris of Cranbrook was named best supporting actor for his role in the play.

Michael Stebens of Grand Forkes was named best actor for his work in A Slight Ache. Joan Eastveld of the Vancouver Little Theatre was named best actress.

CRITICISM OVER LETTER

Board Censures Chairman For Exceeding Authority

Members of Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health rapped the knuckles of acting chairman Mrs. A. B. Thompson Tuesday for exceeding her authority.

The censure came after the reading of a letter written over Mrs. Thompson's signature to Health Minister Wesley Black.

The letter asked the provincial government to consider pay increases for provincial health officers to bring them in line with municipal officers.

PROTEST CUTBACK

It also protested the cutting back of provincial health officers holiday time from one month after one year to three weeks.

"I don't recall us ever discussing the holiday matter," said Coun. Edith Gunning of Saanich. "The issue has no place in this letter which should have dealt very simply with the salary problem."

Although the letter has already been received by Mr. Black board members voted solidly against endorsing the action of the chairman.

"The issue should not have been discussed in the letter without the approval and opinion of the board," Coun. Gunning said. "I'm not at all sure that I endorse the idea of health officers getting one month off after a year of service."

RUSSIAN CRAFT HAS HEAD START

Mariner Threads Needle in Perfect Start to Venus

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Mariner V spacecraft raced a heavier Russian craft toward Venus today to penetrate with electronic fingers the planet's mysterious Veil of Clouds and help scientists see if Venus is a fit place to live.

The 540-pound Mariner V, less than one-quarter the weight of Russia's Venus IV craft launched two days ago, rocketed from Cape Kennedy at 2:01 a.m. EDT today on the first U.S. venture to Venus since 1962 and the first planetary probe by the U.S. in more than 2½ years.

Mariner's fiery Atlas-Agena booster rocket threaded an imaginary needle in space to send the windmill-shaped spacecraft toward its distant target 212,000,000 miles away.

"We are going precisely where we expected to go," project officials reported after tracking the spacecraft for several hours.

"Spacecraft performance also appears to be very good," said Allen E. Wolfe, Mariner V system manager for the jet propulsion laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., which oversees the Mariner V project.

Wolfe said experiments to study radiation in interplanetary space were turned on and the craft's four power-producing solar panels deployed. Guidance sensors aboard the $35,000,000 Mariner V locked onto the sun for orientation as planned.

During a brief 26-minute encounter Oct. 19, Mariner V is to pass within 2,000 miles of Venus.

Mariner scientists said they did not know whether the U.S. craft or Russia's 2 438-pound Venus IV would arrive at the planet first. The Soviets have announced only that Venus Iv's trip will take about four months.

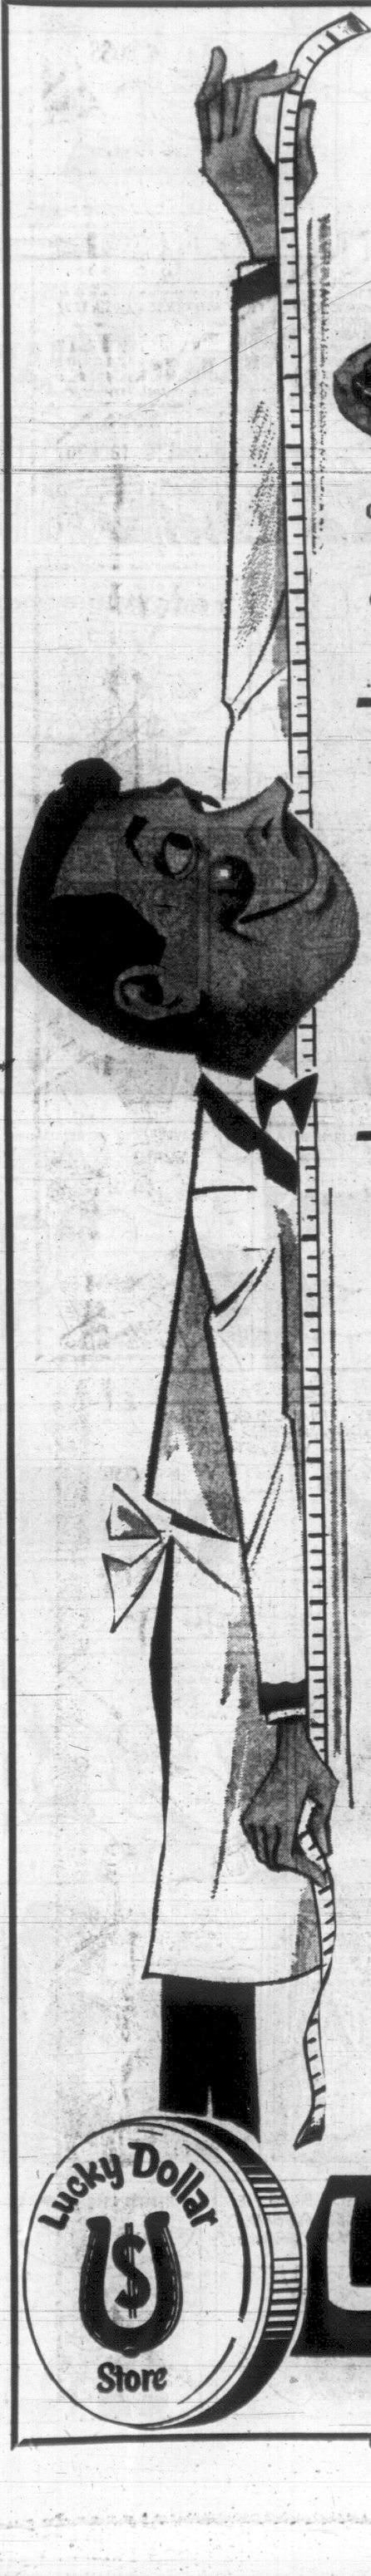

11 Nations Elected by UN To Administer SW Africa

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The General Assembly Tuesday elected 11 countries to serve on a UN council for South-West Africa with the task of administering the territory in place of South Africa.

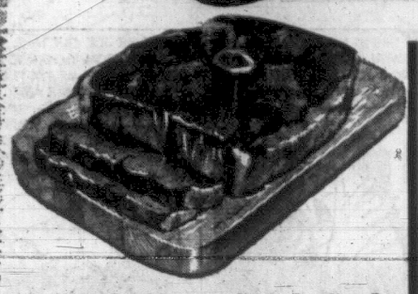

The countries chosen were Nigeria, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic, Yugoslavia, Colombia, Zambia, Turkey, Guayana, Indonesia, India and Chile.

South Africa and Portugal, which voted against the May 19 resolution establishing the council, did not participate in the balloting.

South Africa has made it clear it will not agree to the council entering the territory.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Gail Schweitzer, age 13, of Peoria, Illinois, for her question:

What exactly are red algae?

The algae, of course, are the simplest of the plants and the most abundant in number and variety. Some botanists still classify them in four color groups. However, some algae in the blue-green class are reddish and some in the red class are tinged with purple or yellow, orange or green.

The scientific term "Rhodophyceae" is coined from two older words meaning "rose" and "seaweed." It is the name of a class of waterweeds called the red algae. So far, about 3,500 algae have been listed in this group and the list will grow longer as more of them are identified. The red algae range in size from midgets not much bigger than single-celled plants to trailing waterweeds several feet long.

All the algae plants contain green chlorophyll to manufacture their basic food from air, water and sunlight. This is true of the algae that are red or blue, yellow or brown. The various colors are caused by different pigment chemicals that mask the basic greens and yellows of chlorophyll. Members of the Rhodophyceae group may contain blue pigments called "phycocyanins," orange pigments called "carotenes" or red pigments called "phycoerythrins."

Chlorophylls and these other chemicals are plentifully spread throughout the plant world. They are the pigments that paint our fruits and flowers and add rainbow hues to the autumn leaves. In various amounts, they tinge the assorted red algae with reds and rusts, blues and even violet hues. Most, but not all, of the red algae are really red. Most, but not all of them, live in the salty sea.

Used for Food

Batrachospermum and lemanea are fresh water red algae ranging from violet to bluish green. The pretty plants are shaped like feathery rosettes and we often find them growing in the rippling water of rapids and waterfalls. Nemalion is a red algae of tidal pools. In summer, we find it in jellified strands on the beaches. It is one of many algae that extract calcium carbonate from sea water. Stiff lumps of this algae material add tons of solid bulk to reefs and coral islands.

Many types of seaweed are harvested for food. Gelidium is a red algae used to make a very special food called "agar-gara." This food is not meant for people, though research biologists would be lost without it. The gelidium is made into a jellified substance and most bacteria thrive on it. Agar-agar is the culture that biologists and bacteriologists use to feed their experimental samples.

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to John Krankiwskyj, age 11, of Staten Island, New York, for his question:

Why do returning satellites catch on fire?

If you rub your finger back and forth on your bare arm for a minute or so, the patch of massaged skin becomes warm. The warmth is caused by the motion called friction. All kinds of friction generate heat. A mere scratch on sandpaper generates enough heat to ignite a match. An object falling through the atmosphere generates friction by brushing and colliding with the molecules of the air.

Station Loses Bid For Street Music

But that assurance didn't satisfy Mayor Hugh Stephen.

"We are already assaulted by noise on every side," he said. "I think people have a right to walk down the street and not be assaulted by unnecessary sound."

SERIOUS PROTEST

The mayor noted that a few months ago a serious protest was mounted by citizens objecting to piped music on city streets.

"I often wonder why attempts are made to force this kind of thing on the open streets," the mayor said.

"I can't recall a single objection being made to the radio station when we had the music before," Mr. Hill answered. "I am wondering if the objections you had came from the one man who did a lot of lobbying and possibly got his friends to object."

"Victoria has, thank heaven, an unusual number of people who know and demand their rights," said the mayor. "They are not backward at coming forward to claim those rights. It has been suggested that piped music be allowed in Centennial Square, but I wouldn't have it there for all the money in the world. People have a right to enjoy silence."

PRINCIPLE INVOLVED

Ald. Ian Stewart said he too objected to piped music.

"But I wonder if there isn't a principle involved here," he said. "To what extent should council be involved in deciding what appeals to other people's senses. I don't think council should be the custodian of people's senses."

Mayor Stephen replied that he had no desire to "legislate people's tastes."

"If the store owners want the piped music in the stores there is nothing we can do about it. But I do think we have a duty to keep it off the streets."

The committee was unanimous in its rejection of the application.

Development Blights Beauty Around City

By ELIZABETH FORBES

A short time ago Alderman Robert Baird motored up-Island and came back disgusted with the "mess" commercial developments have created along the main highway.

Forbes

Specifically he complained about an increase in cement dust on the Malahat Drive, lumber storage yards that are encroaching in places right up to curbside, and the piles of rusted car bodies at various places along the way.

Certainly Alderman Baird is right. There has been a considerable lack of foresight in allowing commercial interests to expand in such a way that they destroy natural beauty on a scenic drive. Especially when that drive has been advertised, over and over again, as a mecca for tourists.

The menace of cement dust on the Malahat is not new. It has been visible for some time. There has been much grumbling about it and some heated arguments as to whether it is necessary, in the development of such a cement plant, to saturate the surrounding area with this grey, arid-looking dust.

In defence it is claimed that cement dust will not kill trees and shrubs and most of it washes off every time it rains, giving these living things an opportunity to renew life and leaves.

I'm a Doubting Thomas. I'm inclined to believe that, over a period of time, the trees and bushes will lose vitality and become limp caricatures of their rightful selves.

So far there has been little done to stop this ugly blight on the Malahat. Except in a few periodic letters to the newspapers, Alderman Baird is the first person in a long time to show public concern for the natural beauty that is being destroyed.

As to the lumber yards farther along the highway, the sprawling new power plant above Duncan, and the car graveyards that have developed along the way, for the life of me I cannot see why it is not possible to screen them from the main highway.

If there were no trees and bushes to start the wall, why not make the planting of such a screen an integral part of the project?

Commercial development could proceed any way it wanted behind such a camouflage. The motoring tourist on the other hand would have added pleasure in the view and would not go away, as often happens now, more than a little disgusted at our prodigal use of natural assets.

Alderman Baird has said he is going to "try to do something about it." I wish him well.

At the same time I would gently suggest that he might also look at some of the blighted spots nearer home, places that within the remembered past were natural beauty spots.

The western end of Dallas Road is an example. At one time, with the exception of the Outer Wharves, there was a clear view across the water to the Sooke Hills. Today, there is no view. It is hidden by piled lumber and masses of shipyard equipment.

Stand on Point Ellice Bridge and look toward the Gorge, along a waterway that the late Walt Disney said should be one of the wonders of the Pacific Northwest.

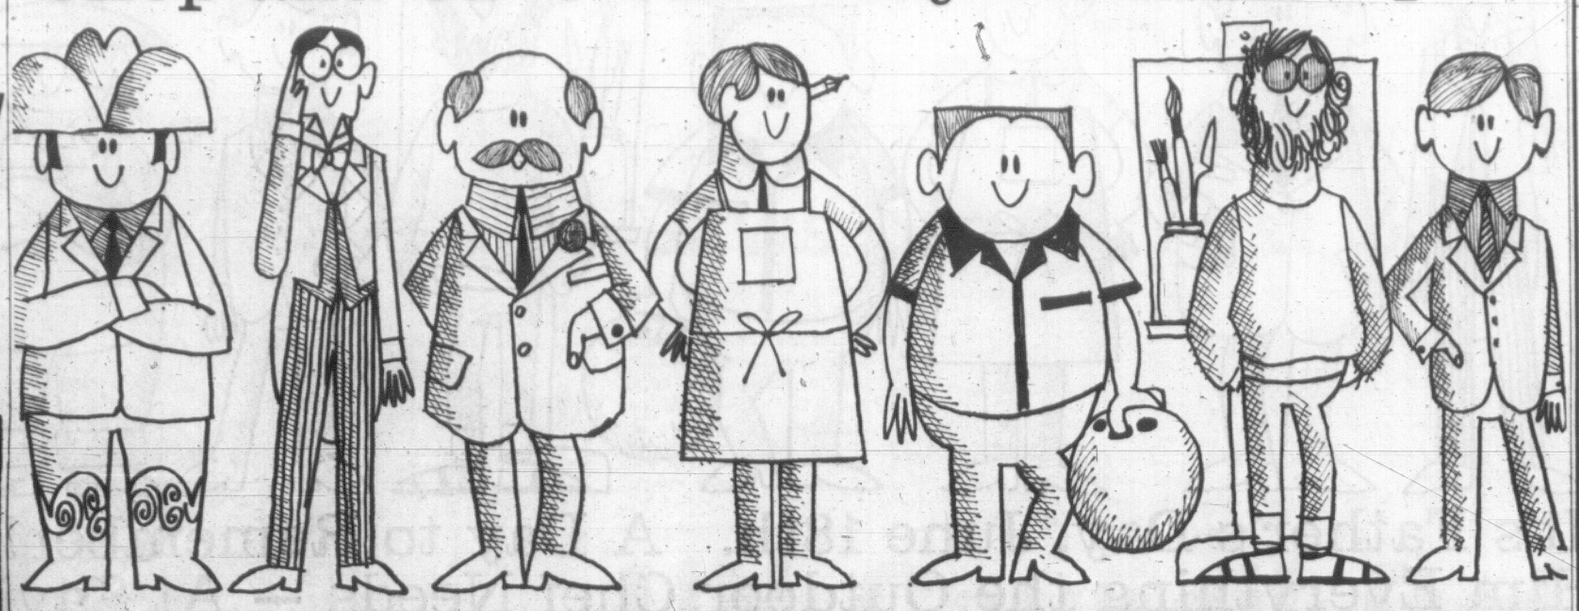

All you'll see is log booms, smoke haze and a clutter of odds and ends that hide the contours of the shoreline and pollute the waters.

These are only two of many places once classified as natural beauty spots in our own area, that (like those places Alderman Baird deplores on the Island Highway) have been sacrificed to commercial interests or—as it is sometimes called—progress.

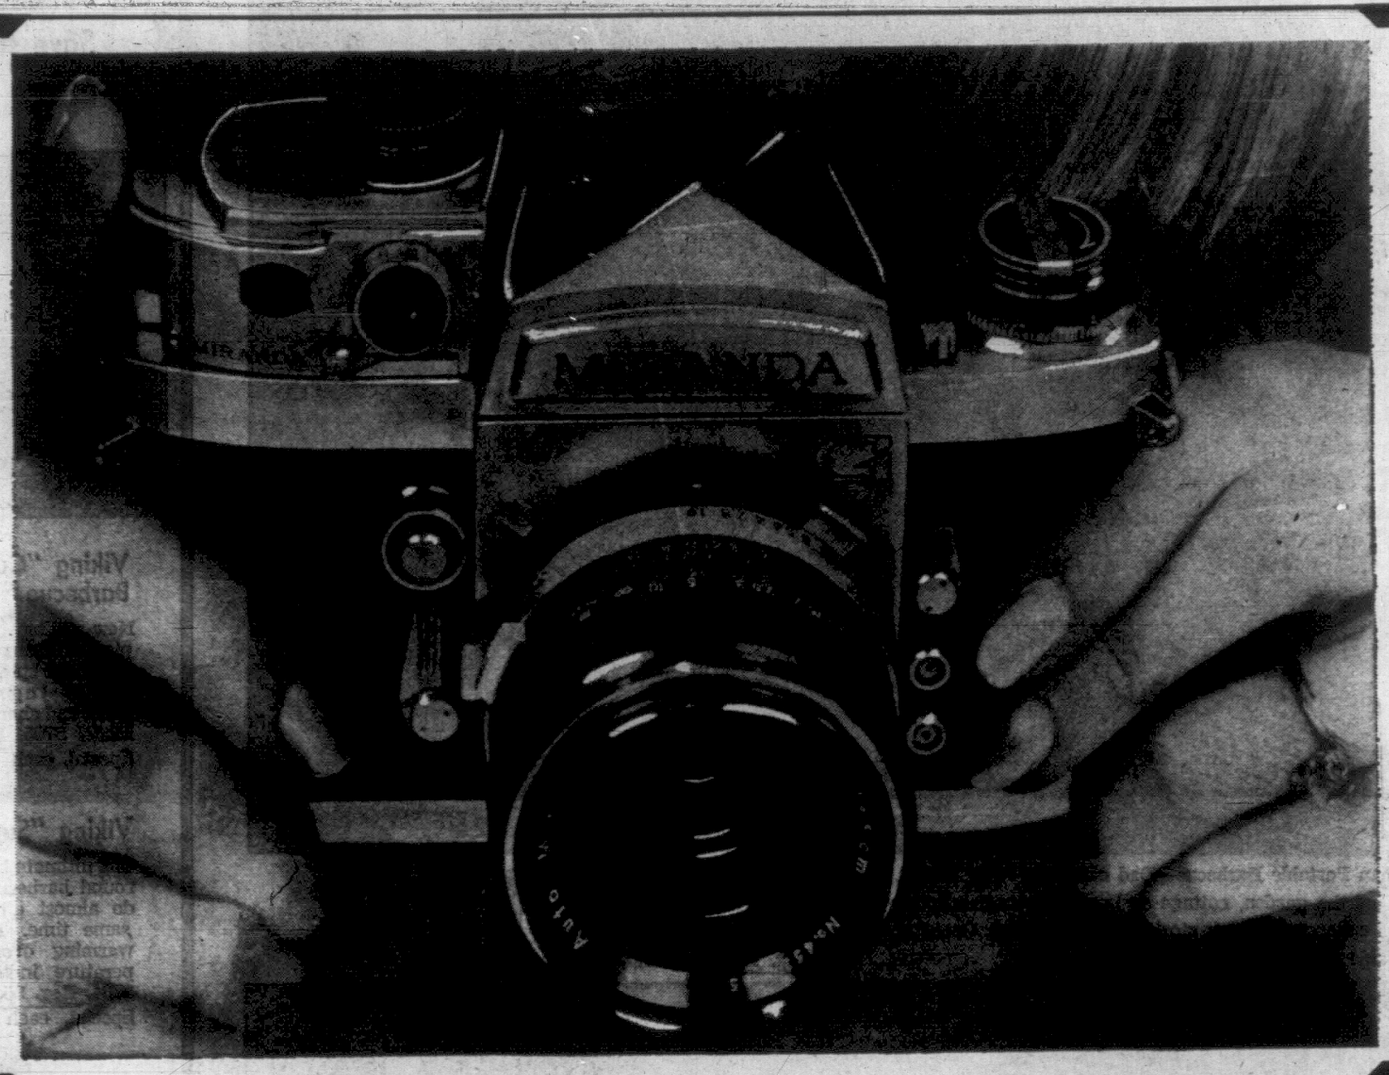

Safety Stressed

MOSCOW (AP)—The Supreme Court of the U.S.S.R. has ordered a legal crackdown on officials whose neglect of safety rules leads to accidents at Soviet factories and farms. The high court Tuesday ordered judges throughout the nation to make fuller investigations of all such accidents.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD — SAYS CANADIAN WRITER

Jews Struck First Blow in War

Dave McIntosh, Canadian Press staff writer who was in Tel Aviv from before the start of the short-lived Middle East war until Monday, has cabled the following behind-the-scenes story on the war. He flew to Cyprus to file it when censors stopped his copy at Tel Aviv.

By DAVE McINTOSH

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP) — Once President Nasser of Egypt blockaded the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, Israel took dead aim at Egypt.

To Israel, the blockade was an act of war.

Defence Minister Moshe Dayan told newspapermen that the first shot of the war, figuratively, was fired at Aqaba.

It is, therefore, difficult to understand why Israel pretends it did not open the Sinai Desert campaign and why the government censor's office in Tel Aviv deletes all references or even suggestions to this affect in stories originating in Israel.

Officially, Israel says Egypt started hostilities. An official statement issued as late as Saturday begins, "A short while after the beginning of hostilities by Egypt on the morning of June 5 . . ."

Privately, Israeli military officers and officials admit freely their forces struck first and hard. An Israeli army major told me that on the Sunday evening hours before the shooting war started, Dayan met in Tel Aviv with senior military commanders, who then dispersed rapidly to the field.

By chance, I was among the first to reach the government press office, the only official source of news, about 15 minutes after the first air raid alert signalled the start

UN Council Defeats Russians on Israel

Western Powers Abstain From Withdrawal Vote

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— Soviet motion to condemn Israel as an aggressor against Arab countries and to force her immediate and unconditional withdrawal from occupied territory was defeated in the UN Security Council today.

No votes were cast against the Soviet motion in the 15-country council. However, most members, including Canada and other Western representatives, abstained.

This prevented the Russians from getting the nine votes needed to put a motion through the council.

At the request of Nigeria, the two objectives of the Soviet motion were voted upon separately.

It was not immediately clear whether this cleared the way for action on the Soviet request for an emergency session of the UN General Assembly.

The Middle East crisis remained on the council's agenda because of earlier motions by Canada and the United States.

The council's action came amid reports that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would head a special delegation poised to fly to New York to push a drive to force Israel to return to the armistice lines of 1949.

WILL APPROVE REQUEST

Diplomats predicted that a poll of the 122 UN members would result in quick approval of the Soviet request for the emergency meeting. They said the session might be convened as early as Friday. Sixty-two countries must approve the request before the session can be called.

Ambassadors George Ignatieff of Canada and Arthur Goldberg of the U.S. both said they would like further consultations with council members on the text of their draft resolutions before calling for a vote.

On the Soviet bid to condemn Israel for "aggressive activities," the vote four in favor, none against and 11 abstaining.

On the demand that Israel withdraw from occupied territories the vote was six in favor, none against, with nine abstentions.

Soviet ambassador Nicolai Fedorenko described the Canadian motion put forward June 7, as "obsolete." It would have council president, Ambassador Hans Tabor of Denmark, with the assistance of Secretary-General U Thant, "take the necessary measures to bring about full and effective compliance" of the council's ceasefire resolutions.

Fedorenko said the Canadian resolution has "a cat in the bag" and could lead to violations of the UN charter.

Ignatieff said the Canadian motion could still prove applicable and useful with revisions. For this reason, he wanted to have consultations with all members of the council on the text.

In answer to Fedorenko's imputation of a hidden motive, Ignatieff said "it is possible that revisions may bring out whatever cat he may believe to be hidden for his examination."

Secretary - General U Thant has held up steps to summon the assembly on the legal ground that, under Article 12 of the UN Charter, the assembly cannot take up the matter as long as it is being discussed in the council.

Lord Caradon, the British ambassador, appealed to the council "to make a further supreme effort to work together and to work in mutual esteem" on the problems of the Middle East.

Caradon suggested that the question of disengagement and troop withdrawals would require discussions on the spot. He noted India already had proposed that Thant send a special representative to help with the problem.

GO FURTHER

"I believe that we should go further," he said, "and consider the appointment of a mediator so that an immediate start can be made in settling the foundations for a lasting peace."

Secretary - General U Thant would poll the 122 UN members by telegram, and the necessary majority of 62 countries was expected to agree to the emergency session. Thant then was likely to call the session on 24 hours' notice.

Speculation that the Soviet premier would attend stemmed from a letter from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Thant Tuesday saying "leading statesmen of the Soviet Union" would attend.

NO CONFIRMATION

Soviet spokesmen in Moscow refused to comment on the speculation about Kosygin. The Soviets obtained a permit to land a special plane in New York about Thursday but postponed the flight, apparently awaiting the scheduling of the assembly session. The U.S Embassy in Moscow said the Soviet Government had not requested any visas for the flight.

Should Kosygin come to New York, many other heads of government and possibly even President Johnson were expected to attend the session.

The feeling was widespread among Arab deliberations that the Russians were promoting the assembly session primarily to divert attention from their failure to help the Arabs in the war. In line with this, Saudi Arabian delegate Jamil M. Baroody commented that for the Arabs, the result of an assembly session would be "zero."

Gromyko's letter said that despite the Security Council's

New Clash Talk Heard

CAIRO (AP)—Government officials were spreading word today that Egypt would rather risk a new military clash than agree to negotiate a Middle East settlement with Israel.

Diplomatic sources said they were given to understand that President Nasser ruled out any idea of talking with a country that the Arab world still is determined to crush, despite what is called here "the lost first round."

Syria Rules Out Peace Treaty, Calls for 'Liberation' Effort

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Chief of State Noureddin Attassi said today Arab countries "suffered a serious setback" in the Middle East war but, "the aggressors did not win final victory."

He brushed aside suggestions of peace with Israel.

He said in a radio address the objective of Arab countries remains the complete liberation of Palestine.

In his first speech since the ceasefire, Attassi said Israeli forces achieved quick military gains "only through massive U.S. and British aid."

He repeated the allegation that U.S. and British planes took an active part in the fighting on the Syrian front. This has been denied by the United States and Britain.

"The Arab people realize today beyond any doubt that American and British imperialism planned and executed all stages of the Israeli aggression," Attassi said.

He said the American and British intervention was aimed at preventing the construction of a unified Arab state and safeguarding their oil interests in the Arab countries.

Attassi said the first Arab objective must be "the removal by all means and methods the results of the aggression against Arab countries." He expressed confidence that the Arabs would emerge victors from a new conflict.

All Arab countries must join in a total economic boycott against the United States and Britain and withdraw their bank deposits from these countries, Attassi added.

'Tampa Should Pray' Warns Negro Leader

Verdict in Negro's Death May Lead to More Violence

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman—the incident that set off major race riots here this week—was ruled justifiable homicide today by State Attorney Paul Antinori.

Negro leaders had predicted that such a decision would lead to renewed violence in the city, and Tampa's NAACP president, Robert Gilder, was asked immediately afterward about his own plans.

"My plans are to go pray," Gilder replied. "And I definitely suggest that the whole of Tampa do the same."

Antinori said that Chambers had committed burglary and grand larceny, was running escape when Calvert shot him.

Gilder told reporters there were "serious questions in my mind" about the decision of justifiable homicide. He said the boy's mother, Janie Bell Chambers, probably would take legal action against the city, and would have the help of lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People if she wants it.

STORES LOOTED

In spite of a truce between police and Negro leaders, bands of youths set 15 fires and looted stores Tuesday night. National guard troops and police reinforcements stayed out of the Negro areas.

Tuesday's troubles were slight compared with the wild rioting of Sunday and Monday nights when police and rioters exchanged gunfire, stores were burned and looted and at least 20 persons were injured.

Sheriff Malcolm Beard, heading a combined force of 1,000 heavily armed men, pulled the riot squads from the rubble-strewn streets in a surprise move at dusk Tuesday after Negro leaders promised publicly there would be no trouble.

City police said they arrested "at least nine men" on charges of looting stores. Blackshear said most of those charged had entered through store windows already broken by others.

Fires, Fights In Negro Riots At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police, backed by national guardsmen, restored an uneasy order in Cincinnati Negro neighborhoods today after hit-and-run gangs caused more than $1,000,000 damages in two nights of riting.

Two major fires caused an estimated $800,000 damages at a warehouse and laundry early Wednesday.

Fire destroyed the block-long Modern Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. building. Police said they believed it was started by a gasoline bomb.

A short time earlier fire demolished the Seybold Paper Co. warehouse.

Fire Chief Bert Lugannani set damage to the warehouse at $700,000 and damage to the laundry at $100,000.

Firemen responded to about 100 fires during the night, and at most of them the firefighters were pelted with stones. But guardsmen kept spectators and others at a distance to give firemen a free hand in fighting the laundry blaze.

PATROL STREETS

Other than the two fires, police reported a relative quiet morning. The guardsmen, bayonets and machine-guns ready, and police continued patrolling the streets.

Police said more than 20 persons had been arrested, 22 injured — including three policemen and four firemen—and untold damage done during the second night of rioting in predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

Police Chief Jacob Schott said his 800 men were unable to cope with the quick-moving, hit-and-run rioters.

As the violence continued into pre - drawn hours, police had gained control of the Avondale area—where the trouble started Monday and Tuesday nights.

Through the early morning hours there were scattered reports of fires, fighting and looting in the other areas. But they dwindled after guardsmen moved in and by 4:30 a.m. EDT the troubled spots were reported quiet.

GUARDSMEN READY

Guardsmen moved into the riot areas after midnight on orders of Governor James A. Rhodes. Helmeted troopers carried fixed bayonets. Machine-guns were mounted on jeeps.

Gruesome Bus Tours Anger Welsh

ABERFAN, Wales (CP)—Sight-seeing bus tours to this disaster village have angered bereaved parents who say they do not want to be turned into a tourist attraction.

Chris Sullivan, spokesman for the Parents' and Residents' Association, said today "coachloads of visitors arrive at the cemetery" in this Welsh village where 144 persons, mostly children, died in a slag-heap avalanche last Oct. 21.

"Some have found the cemetery gates closed and have climbed the wall to see the mass graves."

Sullivan appealed for the tours to be stopped. One bus firm in Somerset is known to have organized an excursion, charging 41 passengers £1 ($3) a head for a tour.

Police would not allow the coach to stop in Aberfan, but it was driven slowly through the streets to enable the passengers to see the scene of the disaster and the cemetery. A spokesman for the firm said the visitors did not want to pry, but to pay their respects.

Work on Unit

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction has begun on the second stage of a $5,000,000 psychiatriac unit, part of UBC's $36,000,000 Health Sciences Centre. Stage one of the unit is expected to be finished by February.

Bus Depot Robbed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A young gunman fled on foot after robbing the Pacific Stage Line Offices of $300 Monday night. The holdup occurred at the city's main bus depot.

SHELL HOLES inflicted by Israeli planes show clearly on United States Navy ship Liberty as it reached Malta today. The ship, which was also torpedoed by Israelis, will go into drydock for repair and for recovery of bodies of 24 men believed trapped in two flooded holds. Nine others were killed in attack, which Israelis said was made by mistake. Officer on bridge is Cmdr. W. L. McGonagle. (AP Wirephoto.)

Chinese Beat Envoys

India Pair Called Spies

PEKING (Reuters) — Red Guards beat and kicked two Indian diplomats in wild scenes at Peking Airport today before they left by air for Hong Kong after being expelled from China as as alleged spies.

Second Secretary Krishnan Raghunath and Third Secretary P. Veejai were dragged and pushed, held by the neck and arms, among a crowd of several hundred Red Guards.

The two Indian diplomats were ordered to leave China Tuesday after a public trial before some 15,000 persons in a sports stadium found them guilty of espionage. On instructions from New Delhi, Raghunath and Veejai did not attend the trial.

Embassy staff who tried to aid the two expelled diplomats were manhandled and kept away.

PROTESTS ASSAULT

Ram Sathe, Indian charge d'affaires, later made a strong protest to the Chinese foreign ministry about the treatment at the airport.

An Indian spokesman said the protest alleged "inhuman treatment" of Raghunath, whose glasses were smashed and nose bloodied by Red Guards' blows.

Chinese officials, the Indian spokesman said, said the Indians had "provoked the Raghunath over to security authorities at the airport before leaving for Hong Kong.

Raghunath, 27, sentenced to "immediate deportation" at the people's court Tuesday, was seized by Red Guards and separated from other members of the embassy soon after arriving at the airport about 6 a.m. local time.

Veejai was grabbed shortly afterwards and from then until the plane departed an hour later the two diplomats were in the hands of the crowd.

Veejai was dragged by the neck and arms past a group of Western diplomats and foreign correspondents with his head forced down near the ground. His shoes were torn off. He was often lost to view in the milling crowds.

WIRE BRIEFS

Stolen Liquor Cargo Found in Barn

MONTREAL (CP)—All of a $175,000 cargo of liquor stolen Monday has been recovered following a swift raid on a barn near Montreal Tuesday night by police.

New Manitoba Chief Justice Named

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice Rhodes Smith of the Manitoba Appeal Court has been appointed the province's chief justice, Prime Minister Pearson announced today.

Red Strike Fails in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Another Communist attempt to strike a major Hong Kong industry failed today. Only about 2,000 of the British colony's 15,000 construction workers heeded the call to walk out.

Mideast Enemies Swap Prisoners

GENEVA (AP)—The International Red Cross announced today Israel and Egypt have agreed to an initial exchange of 50 prisoners badly wounded in the Middle East war.

A Red Cross spokesman said it is hoped to make the exchange Thursday at Nicosia, Cyprus. A DC-4 plane loaned by a Swiss airline was standing by in Nicosia to make the exchange.

Gibraltar Will Vote on Future

LONDON (AP) — The residents of Gibraltar will vote, probably in September, on their political future, the British government announced today.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 14, 1967—PAGE 23

Arthur Mayse

Except for the presence of a provincial parks branch caretaker and occasional visits by weekend boat-campers, the late Capt. Ernest Godfrey Beaumont's Discovery Island preserve is given over to sun, seagulls and the little brown rabbits planted there long ago.

Even when the legal processes that will convey title of 160-acre tract to the province are complete, the newest marine park in our string will be left as much as possible in its natural state.

That's as it should be; but boatmen will welcome one change contemplated for the future. This, parks branch chief Harold McWilliams tells me, may be construction of a breakwater to convert the little bay at the southwest corner of Discovery into a safe harbor.

Fate of the house in which our best-liked offshore citizen lived for over 40 years hasn't yet been settled, but some period pieces from his furnishings will go to reconstructed Fort Steele in the Cranbrook area.

Considering our peninsular growth-rate, it comes as no surprise to learn that we now boast about 50, more or less public swimming pools and over 300 of the private variety.

That's a happy thought on a warm afternoon; but for our health authorities, it contains an element of worry.

They see the less-than-scrupulously maintained pool as a potential source of bacterial and fungus infection, and this month persuaded the adult education division of Greater Victoria School Board to lay on a course in swimming pool operation and maintenance.

Lloyd Smith, inspector of Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board, points out that the course is aimed especially at public operators, although owners of back yard pools are also urged to attend.

"Every year, there is a considerable changeover in motel personnel," Mr. Smith points out. "This means that each season, we must set to and educate a number of new pool operators in motels and other establishments from scratch."

Fee for the five-lesson course is $15. Repeat session, 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Institute of Adult Studies.

Those worried souls who have viewed shoulder-length male locks as yet another sign that the younger generation is bound for hell in a handbasket may now breathe easier.

From all local indications, the fad — which it was, after all — is fast departing our local scene.

After several weeks during which the only long-haired boy I observed was one of our gentle hippies, I checked my own observations with barber Dick Hofstede.

"I have seen this change come about too," he told me. "Victoria boys are getting farther and farther away from the long hair style."

Responsible, I gather, is the English influence, which still runs strong.

"The cuts now in vogue may still be described as a little longer than medium," said barber-fisherman Dick, "but the ears are revealed, and the hair on top of the head is worn much shorter."

Witness the power of the pen as wielded by determined Nootkans, whose letters to the federal government have ensured that the gallant little Uchuk III will continue her Nootka-Gold River run.

Apart from Alberni's Lady Rose, the Uchuk III is the only vessel remaining in regular West Coast service, and her removal would have been a bitter blow to those who depend on her.

Here on this side of the Island, we don't know the meaning of isolation. But over there in the outports that no road reaches, it remains a fact of daily life.

THEY DON'T DRESS like hippies. But American Association for Conservation Information delegates held a love-in-like seminar by the sea Tuesday.

'Make Intangibles Tangible' Haig-Brown Tells Group

By GUY STANLEY

Campbell River's renowned author and conservationist Roderick Haig-Brown held a seminar by the sea Tuesday. (See also Page 29.)

Standing on Finlayson Point on Dallas Road with the Olympic Mountains as a backdrop, he told delegates to the 26th annual convention of the American Association for Conservation Information:

"We have to show the public conservation is the only intelligent use of resources, that it means management as opposed to exploitation, and understanding as opposed to ignorance."

He called for:

● Development of demonstration areas like Goldstream near Victoria where people could watch salmon return;

● Urged schools to move towards teaching concepts of ecology rather than "the static biology which has been enormously overworked";

● Plumbed for the manufacture of kits such as salmon hatching kits that would permit children to see the various stages of hatching.

"We've got to make a lot of the intangibles tangible," he said, to public apathy towards conservation.

Cautioning the association against political involvement, Mr. Haig-Brown said, "Conservation is everybody's business. We will impair our usefulness if we become politically engaged."

Howard Paish, executive director of the B.C. Wildlife Federation, which at its recent convention urged that conservation be made an election issue, said there is room for both approaches.

"These people (the AACI) are mostly professional government advisors. They must stay non-political. The federation is a different group and can pick this issue up on a political level."

The group included 85 professional conservationists from six provinces and 46 states.

In a morning session, Victoria landscape architect W. C. Yeomans spoke on the need for effective bridges to an understanding of the international conservation crisis.

"Such bridges must become a reality or we will lose our already precarious foothold on the planet," he said.

BEAVER LAKE

Boy Drowns On Outing; Inquest Set

Minder Singh, along with four other lads including his 13-year-old brother Kuldeep, all of 1241 Acton, were taken to the lake by social worker William Lawson.

An inquest will be held 7:30 p.m. Friday at Hayward's Funeral Chapel.

In addition, the Family and Children's Service will fully discuss the matter.

"Nothing like this has happened in our service before," said director Gordon Wright," and we will try to make sure it doesn't happen again.

WORKER UPSET

"But we'll wait until Mr. Dawson returns to work. He's very upset. The workers get very involved with these youngsters."

The boys had been called from the water about 6 p.m. and were on their way to the picnic table. Then it was discovered that Minder was not with them.

A search was made of the beach and water and Minder was found floating face down.

Mouth to mouth resuscitation was given until the Saanich fire department crew arrived with an inhalator and continued to apply respiration until they reached the hospital where another team took over.

MANY OUTINGS

It was not enough. He was pronounced dead at 8 p.m.

The trip was one of many made by children under care of Family and Children's Service. There are a number of group homes for foster children and a social worker takes responsibility for recreation for the children.

Workers spend several evenings a week and some weekends organizing recreation and group work for their charges.

Gary Blondin, 24, a student at Naden Preparatory School, said he was studying at the beach when he overheard Kuldeep Singh, who had been playing with Minder, say his brother was missing.

Mr. Blondin, who was a life guard at the beach last year and will return to the work this summer, helped to organize the search.

He got other people from the beach to form a line and they walked through the 3½-foot shallows but saw no sign of the lad.

Mr. Blondin looked around and saw the floating body. He picked up the boy and started to give artificial respiration.

The youngster's lips and fingers were blue and after respiration the blueness disappeared and there was a trace of pink around his mouth.

There were about 100 persons on the beach and about 20 youngsters in the water, said Mr. Blondin.

Ask The Times

Q. When, where and how was the Gneisnau, German battle cruiser, sunk in World War Two? L.C.

A. The Germans sank her to help block the harbor at Gdynia, Poland, in March, 1945.

Q. What pension does a retired senator receive? H.S.

A. $8,000 a year.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

$500,000 PROPOSAL DOOMED

Pollution Head Kills Brentwood Sewer Bid

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A Central Saanich application to discharge treated sewage into Saanich Inlet was rejected today by British Columbia pollution director Charles Keenan.

The decision doomed the municipality's proposal to install a $500,000 sewage system in Brentwood.

The decision was received at the municipal hall today—two weeks after he had chaired a public hearing to consider merits of the scheme.

A large number of Brentwood residents opposed it on the grounds dumping of treated sewage into the bay would eventually lead to pollution.

"While there was a dearth of technical evidence presented by the objecters in support of their case, it was quite apparent that many were apprehensive respecting the temporary nature of the scheme," Mr. Kenan said.

SERVE 4,000

(The proposed scheme would have served a maximum population of 4,000).

Mr. Keenan agreed that the plan had merit.

But he said council should give consideration to a more permanent solution for controlling the "gradual and insidious pollution" in Brentwood Bay.

COUNCIL SURPRISED

The decision came as a surprise to Central Saanich council.

But acting Reeve Charles Mollard said Brentwood residents who favored the scheme have no reason to grumble at the decision.

"All residents who were opposed to the scheme were present at the hearing" he said. "But not one resident who favored the project got up to say there was an urgent need for a sewage system."

PIPELINE NEEDED

He noted that Mr. Keenan urged council to give consideration to a plan to dump treated sewage into the straits on the east side of the peninsula. This would mean installing a pipeline from Brentwood to the east coast.

"We will look into this," he said, "but preliminary estimates indicate it would cost about $800,000."

$245,000 SEWER VOTE TO BE CALLED

A $245,000 sewer extension in the North Shelbourne area of Saanich is expected to be put to property owners in a vote.

The municipal public works committee will recommend to the next council meeting that there be a local vote. Sixty per cent approval will be necessary for the measure to pass.

Faculty Opposes Student Senators

By PAUL WILLIAMSON

The University of Victoria Faculty Association has defeated a motion favoring election of students to the university Senate, it was learned today.

And a motion to ignore student opinion when evaluating professors was defeated by only one vote.

The University of British Columbia approved the election of four students to its Senate last May 31. Last spring Simon Fraser University became the first B.C. university to elect students to Senate.

Uvic students have been agitating for Senate representation for two years.

Students' council president David McLean said he couldn't "understand the archaic attitude of the faculty.

"They have no sense of the true university community," he said.

Mr. McLean said the narrow defeat of the motion to exclude student opinion from teacher assessment "shows that somewhere along the line some professors are afraid of student opinion.

"It's unbelievable that faculty members would consider such a motion, let alone defeat it by only one vote."

He said the minutes of the meeting, which was held May 18, have not yet been distributed.

"I recall the motion coming up, but I can't recall the outcome of the vote."

This motion too was defeated by only one vote.

Dr. I. D. Pal, president-elect of the association, refused to comment.

University president Dr. Malcolm Taylor, out of town until next week, has said in the past that he favors student representation on the senate.

CLC Will Decide Status Of Four Suspended Locals

By ROGER STONEBANKS

The Canadian Labour Congress will determine whether four British Columbia locals of the International Woodworkers of America are out of the CLC and local labor councils.

The locals—Victoria, Vancouver, Duncan and lumber inspectors—were suspended from the B.C. Federation of Labour last Friday.

Some union officials have said that a section of the CLC constitution means these locals, with a combined membership of 13,000, are also out of the CLC and labor councils.

But others say this is an incorrect interpretation and in any event, only the CLC can interpret its own constitution.

Federation secretary Ray Haynes disclosed today the federation, "as a formality," asked for the interpretation last week.

'DON'T KNOW'

CLC secretary-treasurer Donald MacDonald, acting president while Claude Jodoin is ill, said from Ottawa he hasn't had time to give a ruling and "I don't know when I will be able to come up with a ruling."

Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labour Council and a member of the suspended Vancouver IWA local, has not showed up for work this week saying if he does it could lead to the council's charter being lifted by the CLC.

He has also said that CLC vice-president Joe Morris and Mr. MacDonald must resign their posts because they are members of suspended IWA locals.

Mr. Haynes replied that he considers Mr. Neale's interpretation wrong, and that in any event, the two CLC officials could transfer membership to a non-suspended union.

"The whole thing is being blown up out of all proportion," he added.

IF CRAIGFLOWER POLLUTION CONTINUES

Health Chief Ordered to Lay Charges

By JIM HUME

Property owners near Craigflower Bridge will be given two weeks to solve their serious sewage pollution problem.

Failure to stop the seepage of virtually raw sewage into open ditches will result in immediate court action with the charges laid and pressed by the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

The board ordered metro health chief Dr. J. L. M. whitbread to adopt the get-tough policy Tuesday after Coun. Art Mebs of Esquimalt told board members ditches in the Craigflower area constituted a shocking and disgusting health hazard.

A visit to the district this morning revealed that Coun. Mebs had good cause for alarm.

Flies swirl in the stench a few yards from where tourists sleep and children play.

A stick poked in the three-inch thick slime releases clouds of nauseating gas.

TENT PITCHED

On the bank of the ditch a small boy had pitched his tent for a night in the great outdoors.

Less than 50 yards away the Gorge, final recipient of the human filth, lay placid but polluted in the morning sun.

"It is shocking to think that such conditions exist in 1967," Coun. Mebs told the health board. "Dr. Whitbread must find out where the pollution is coming from and, if necessary, close down the operation. We have played around with this situation for five years now and it is time we took some direct, tough action."

Dr. Whitbread told the board only a court order could close down the business operations of offenders.

"We can, if the board so instructs, trace the source of pollution and order the offenders to confine the effluent on their own property," he said. "If they fail to do so or ignore the order we can then take them to court."

Maximum fine for failure to comply with health regulations is $50 but the charge can be re-laid as long as the pollution problem remains.

Dr. Whitbread said dye-testing to trace the polluted run-off to its source will start immediately.

Once the offenders are found Dr. Witbread will order them to build a holding tank for septic tank run-off, a tank which could be pumped out on a regular schedule with the sewage then dumped in main trunk lines.

MORE DRASTIC

Coun. Mebs accepted Dr. Whitbread's proposal although he favored even more drastic action.

"I think those ditches should be posted with signs warning everyone that they are polluted and constitute a grave health hazard," he said.

Coun. Frances Elford of Oak Bay and Coun. Edith Gunning were reluctant to endorse the sign proposal.

Coun. Elford said she felt there was a better way with the tourist season just starting.

Coun. Gunning said she felt it would be unfair to post just a few ditches when so many in the area "including many in my own municipality" are also polluted.

The board will start an advertising campaign warning the public of the dangers.

Four areas were listed as constituting the gravest threat. Colwood Corners, Langford, Parsons Bridge and Craigflower will feel the first weight of the militant board.

THE SCENE is pastoral. The tent tightly pitched beside a wandering stream. A willow tree casts its shadow across the bucolic Craigflower district a few yards from the Gorge. But the camera does not reveal the truth. The stream is in reality a ditch bearing almost raw sewage from surrounding properties to pollute even more the already polluted waters of the Gorge. And the little boy who pitched the tent, and presumably his parents, are unaware that he is camping on the edge of disaster.

Security Council Rejects Soviet Proposal on Israel

GOVERNOR DENOUNCED

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —Negro leaders, denouncing Gov. Lurleen Wallace and 'all cops' as the enemy, vowed to lead protest marchers over police barricades tonight in front of the Alabama capital.

Nearly 300 Negroes were halted at the barricades Tuesday night and returned quietly to their assembly point after speeches by Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

'Tampa Should Pray' Warns Negro Leader

Verdict in Negro's Death May Lead to More Violence

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The killing of a Negro youth by a white policeman—the incident that set off major race riots here this week—was ruled justifiable homicide today by State Attorney Paul Antinori.

Negro leaders had predicted that such a decision would lead to renewed violence in the city, and Tampa's NAACP president, Robert Gilder, was asked immediately afterward about his own plans.

"My plans are to go pray," Gilder replied. "And I definitely suggest that the whole of Tampa do the same."

News that Patrolman James R. Calvert had shot 19-year-old Martin Chambers in the back flashed through Negro neighborhoods Sunday night, setting off three nights of shooting, burning and looting.

Antinori said that Chambers had committed burglary and grand larceny, was running from police and was about to escape when Calvert shot him.

Gilder told reporters there were "serious questions in my mind" about the decision of justifiable homicide. He said the boy's mother, Janie Bell Chambers, probably would take legal action against the city, and would have the help of lawyers of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People if she wants it.

In spite of a truce between police and Negro leaders, bands of youths set 15 fires and looted stores Tuesday night. National guard troops and police reinforcements stayed out of the Negro areas.

Tuesday's troubles were slight compared with the wild rioting of Sunday and Monday nights when police and rioters exchanged gunfire, stores were burned and looted and at least 20 persons were injured.

Sheriff Malcolm Beard, heading a combined force of 1,000 heavily armed men, pulled the riot squads from the rubble-strewn streets in a surprise move at dusk Tuesday after Negro leaders promised publicly there would be no trouble.

City police said they arrested "at least nine men" on charges of looting stores. Police said most of those charged had entered through store windows already broken by others.

Fires, Fights In Negro Riots At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police, backed by national guardsmen, restored an uneasy order in Cincinnati Negro neighborhoods today after hit-and-run gangs caused more than $1,000,000 damages in two nights of riting.

Two major fires caused an estimated $800,000 damages at a warehouse and laundry early Wednesday.

Fire destroyed the block-long Modern Laundry and Dry Cleaning Co. building. Police said they believed it was started by a gasoline bomb.

A short time earlier fire demolished the Seybold Paper Co. warehouse.

Fire Chief Bert Lugannani set damage to the warehouse at $700,000 and damage to the laundry at $100,000.

Firemen responded to about 100 fires during the night, and at most of them the firefighters were pelted with stones. But guardsmen kept spectators and others at a distance to give firemen a free hand in fighting the laundry blaze.

PATROL STREETS .

Other than the two fires, police reported a relative quiet morning. The guardsmen, bayonets and machine-guns ready, and police continued patrolling the streets.

Police said more than 20 persons had been arrested, 22 injured — including three policemen and four firemen—and untold damage done during the second night of rioting in predominantly Negro neighborhoods.

Police Chief Jacob Schott said his 800 men were unable to cope with the quick-moving, hit-and-run rioters.

As the violence continued into pre-dawn hours, police had gained control of the Avondale area—where the trouble started Monday and Tuesday nights.

Through the early morning hours there were scattered reports of fires, fighting and looting in the other areas. But they dwindled after guardsmen moved in and by 4:30 a.m. EDT the troubled spots were reported quiet.

GUARDSMEN READY

Guardsmen moved into the riot areas after midnight on orders of Governor James A. Rhodes. Helmeted troopers carried fixed bayonets. Machine-guns were mounted on jeeps.

'Sad Day' If Carter Plan Comes

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan said today it will be a "sad day for Canada" if Ottawa implements the recommendations of the Carter commission on taxation.

Calling the proposals "viciously discriminatory" against Western Canada, he said that if Ottawa goes ahead with the recommendations it would mean Canada is heading for a socialist state where incentive, investment, thrift and savings were discouraged.

Blasts Rock U.S. Arsenal

SAIGON (AP)—A series of explosions lit the sky around the big United States Air Force base at Bien Hoa tonight, caused by an ammunition dump blowing up at a nearby American Special Forces camp.

United States military spokesmen in Saigon said cause of the explosions was unknown, but they did not appear to be the result of Communist attacks. The air base was reported undamaged.

There was no report on casualties, if any. The camp is about 20 miles northeast of Saigon.

A-Bomb Spread Ban Pact Near

LUXEMBOURG (UPI)—The United States and Russia have agreed on a partially complete draft treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons and will submit it to the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, reliable sources said today.

Canadian Arabs Urge Tie Cut

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Arab Community today sent a telegram to President Nasser of the United Arab Republic urging severance of diplomatic relations between the Arab states and Canada.

Hussein Sharistani, a spokesman for the group and a nuclear engineering student at the University of Toronto, said in an interview the organization has about 3,000 members.

General Assembly Session Next Step

Times News Services

UNITED NATIONS—The Security Council today defeated a Soviet resolution demanding Israel's condemnation and withdrawal of its forces from Arab lands. Secretary-General Thant immediately began polling U.N. members on Russia's request for an emergency General Assembly session.

When 62 of the 122 UN Assembly members have signified acceptance, the assembly could be convened within 24 hours for what diplomats here and in other world capitals believed would produce a major propaganda war.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko demanded an immediate assembly session to force the withdrawal of Israeli forces behind the armistice demarcation lines drawn after the 1949 Palestine war.

First, however, it had to be demonstrated that the council was unable to act "because of lack of unanimity of the permanent members."

The council met for 3 hours and 40 minutes beginning this morning.

No votes were cast against the Soviet motion in the 15-country council. However, most members, including Canada and other Western representatives, abstained.

This prevented the Russians from getting the nine votes needed to put a motion through the council.

At the request of Nigeria, the two objectives of the Soviet motion were voted upon separately.

The Middle East crisis remained on the council's agenda because of earlier motions by Canada and the United States.

The council's action came amid reports that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would head a special delegation poised to fly to New York to push a drive to force Israel to return to the armistice lines of 1949.

WILL APPROVE REQUEST

Diplomats predicted that a poll of the 122 UN members would result in quick approval of the Soviet request for the emergency meeting. They said the session might be convened as early as Friday.

Ambassadors George Ignatieff of Canada and Arthur Goldberg of the U.S. both said they would like further consultations with council members on the text of their draft resolutions before calling for a vote.

On the Soviet bid to condemn Israel for "aggressive activities," the vote four in favor, none against and 11 abstaining.

On the demand that Israel withdraw from occupied territories the vote was six in favor, none against, with nine abstentions.

Soviet ambassador Nicolai Fedorenko described the Canadian motion put forward June 7, as "obsolete." It would have council president, Ambassador Hans Tabor of Denmark, with the assistance of Secretary-General U Thant, "take the necessary measures to bring about full and effective compliance" of the council's ceasefire resolutions.

Fedorenko said the Canadian resolution has "a cat in the bag", and could lead to violations of the UN charter.

Ignatieff said the Canadian motion could still prove applicable and useful with revisions.

For this reason, he wanted to have consultations with all members of the council on the text.

In answer to Fedorenko's imputation of a hidden motive, Ignatieff said "it is possible that revisions may bring out whatever cat he may believe to be hidden for his examination."

Secretary - General U Thant has held up steps to summon the assembly on the legal ground that, under Article 12 of the UN Charter, the assembly cannot take up the matter as long as it is being discussed in the council.

Lord Caradon, the British ambassador, appealed to the council "to make a further supreme effort to work together and to work in mutual esteem" on the problems of the Middle East.

Caradon suggested that the question of disengagement and troop withdrawals would require discussions on the spot. He noted India already had proposed that Thant send a special representative to help with the problem.

GO FURTHER

Speculation that the Soviet premier would attend stemmed from a letter from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to Thant Tuesday saying "leading statesmen of the Soviet Union" would attend.

NO CONFIRMATION

Soviet spokesmen in Moscow refused to comment on the speculation about Kosygin. The Soviets obtained a permit to land a special plane in New York about Thursday but postponed the flight, apparently awaiting the scheduling of the assembly session. The U.S Embassy in Moscow said the Soviet Government had not requested any visas for the flight.

Should Kosygin come to New York, many other heads of government and possibly even President Johnson were expected to attend the session.

The feeling was widespread among Arab deliberations that the Russians were promoting

INDIANS CALLED SPIES

Chinese Beat Two Envoys

PEKING (Reuters) — Red Guards beat and kicked two Indian diplomats in wild scenes at Peking Airport today before they left by air for Hong Kong after being expelled from China as alleged spies.

Second Secretary Krishnan Raghunath and Third Secretary P. Veejai were dragged and pushed, held by the neck and arms, among a crowd of several hundred Red Guards.

The two Indian diplomats were ordered to leave China Tuesday after a public trial before some 15,000 persons in a sports stadium found them guilty of espionage. On instructions from New Delhi, Raghunath and Veejai did not attend the trial.

Embassy staff who tried to aid the two expelled diplomats were manhandled and kept away.

The cars of the Indian diplomats outside the airport were smothered with paint and posters.

Ram Sathe, Indian charge d'affaires, later made a strong protest to the Chinese foreign ministry about the treatment at the airport.

An Indian spokesman said the protest alleged "inhuman treatment" of Raghunath, whose glasses were smashed and nose bloodied by Red Guards' blows.

Chinese officials, the Indian spokesman said, said the Indians had "provoked the masses" by refusing to hand Raghunath over to security authorities at the airport before leaving for Hong Kong.

Raghunath, 27, sentenced to "immediate deportation" at the people's court Tuesday, was seized by Red Guards and separated from other members of the embassy soon after arriving at the airport about 6 a.m. local time.

Veejai was grabbed shortly afterwards and from then until the plane departed an hour later the two diplomats were in the hands of the crowd.

Veejai was dragged by the neck and arms past a group of Western diplomats and foreign correspondents with his head forced down near the ground. His shoes were torn off. He was often lost to view in the milling crowds.

New Clash Talk Heard

CAIRO (AP)—Government officials were spreading word today that Egypt would rather risk a new military clash than agree to negotiate a Middle East settlement with Israel.

Diplomatic sources said they were given to understand that President Nasser ruled out any idea of talking with a country that the Arab world still is determined to crush, despite what is called here "the lost first round."

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD — SAYS CANADIAN WRITER

Jews Struck First Blow in War

Dave McIntosh, Canadian Press staff writer who was in Tel Aviv from before the start of the short-lived Middle East war until Monday, has cabled the following behind-the-scenes story on the war. He flew to Cyprus to file it when censors stopped his copy at Tel Aviv.

By DAVE McINTOSH

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP) — Once President Nasser of Egypt blockaded the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, Israel took dead aim at Egypt.

To Israel, the blockade was an act of war.

Defence Minister Moshe Dayan told newspapermen that the first shot of the war, figuratively, was fired at Aqaba.

It is, therefore, difficult to understand why Israel pretends it did not open the Sinai Desert campaign and why the government censor's office in Tel Aviv deletes all references or even suggestions to this effect in stories originating in Israel.

Officially, Israel says Egypt started hostilities. An official statement issued as late as Saturday begins, "A short while after the beginning of hostilities by Egypt on the morning of June 5 . . ."

Privately, Israeli military officers and officials admit freely their forces struck first and hard. An Israeli army major told me that on the Sunday evening hours before the shooting war started, Dayan met in Tel Aviv with senior military commanders, who then dispersed rapidly to the field.

By chance, I was among the first to reach the government press office, the only official source of news, about 15 minutes after the first air raid alert signalled the start of war for the Israeli populace.

The first officer I met said Egyptian forces had advanced across the Israeli frontier and Israel was counter-attacking vigorously.

A few minutes later the briefing officer altered this story. He said the Israeli Army had detected a movement of Egyptian troops "toward" the Israeli frontier and Israel was taking counter-action.

A few days later, Israel said the Egyptians were dug into deep fortifications which had to be taken by a frontal assault and that the Egyptians did not move from the fortifications except to flee.

Syria Rules Out Peace Treaty, Calls for 'Liberation' Effort

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Chief of State Noureddin Attassi said today Arab countries "suffered a serious setback" in the Middle East war but, "the aggressors did not win final victory."

He brushed aside suggestions of peace with Israel.

He said in a radio address the objective of Arab countries remains the complete liberation of Palestine.

In his first speech since the ceasefire, Attassi said Israeli forces achieved quick military gains "only through massive U.S. and British aid."

He repeated the allegation that U.S. and British planes took an active part in the fighting on the Syrian front. This has been denied by the United States and Britain.

"The Arab people realize today beyond any doubt that American and British imperialism planned and executed all stages of the Israeli aggression," Attassi said.

He said the American and British intervention was aimed at preventing the construction of a unified Arab state and safeguarding their oil interests in the Arab countries.

Attassi said the first Arab objective must be "the removal by all means and methods the results of the aggression against Arab countries." He expressed confidence that the Arabs would emerge victors from a new conflict.

All Arab countries must join in a total economic boycott against the United States and Britain and withdraw their bank deposits from these countries, Attassi added.

ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Gail Schweitzer, age 13, of Peoria, Illinois, for her question:

What exactly are red algae?

The algae, of course, are the simplest of the plants and the most abundant in number and variety. Some botanists still classify them in four color groups. However, some algae in the blue-green class are reddish and some in the red class are tinged with purple or yellow, orange or green.

The scientific term "Rhodophyceae" is coined from two older words meaning "rose" and "seaweed." It is the name of a class of waterweeds called the red algae. So far, about 3,500 algae have been listed in this group and the list will grow longer as more of them are identified. The red algae range in size from midgets not much bigger than single-celled plants to trailing waterweeds several feet long.

All the algae plants contain green chlorophyll to manufacture their basic food from air, water and sunlight. This is true of the algae that are red or blue, yellow or brown. The various colors are caused by different pigment chemicals that mask the basic greens and yellows of chlorophyll. Members of the Rhodophyceae group may contain blue pigments called "phycocyanins," orange pigments called "carotenes" or red pigments called "phycoerythrins."

Chlorophylls and these other chemicals are plentifully spread throughout the plant world. They are the pigments that paint our fruits and flowers and add rainbow hues to the autumn leaves. In various amounts, they tinge the assorted red algae with reds and rusts, blues and even violet hues. Most, but not all, of the red algae are really red. Most, but not all of them, live in the salty sea.

Used for Food

Batrachospermum and lemanea are fresh water red algae ranging from violet to bluish green. The pretty plants are shaped like feathery rosettes and we often find them growing in the rippling water of rapids and waterfalls. Nemalion is a red algae of tidal pools. In summer, we find it in jellified strands on the beaches. It is one of many algae that extract calcium carbonate from sea water. Stiff lumps of this algae material add tons of solid bulk to reefs and coral islands.

Many types of seaweed are harvested for food. Gelidium is a red algae used to make a very special food called "agar-gara." This food is not meant for people, though research biologists would be lost without it. The gelidium is made into a jellified substance and most bacteria thrive on it. Agar-agar is the culture that biologists and bacteriologists use to feed their experimental samples.

Andy sends a 14" World Book Globe to John Krankiwskyj, age 11, of Staten Island, New York, for his question:

Why do returning satellites catch on fire?

If you rub your finger back and forth on your bare arm for a minute or so, the patch of massaged skin becomes warm. The warmth is caused by the motion called friction. All kinds of friction generate heat. A mere scratch on sandpaper generates enough heat to ignite a match. An object falling through the atmosphere generates friction by brushing and colliding with the molecules of the air.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Station Loses Bid For Street Music

"We are already assaulted by noise on every side," he said. "I think people have a right to walk down the street and not be assaulted by unnecessary sound."

SERIOUS PROTEST

The mayor noted that a few months ago a serious protest was mounted by citizens objecting to piped music on city streets.

"I often wonder why attempts are made to force this kind of thing on the open streets," the mayor said.

"I can't recall a single objection being made to the radio station when we had the music before," Mr. Hill answered. "I am wondering if the objections you had came from the one man who did a lot of lobbying and possibly got his friends to object."

"Victoria has, thank heaven, an unusual number of people who know and demand their rights," said the mayor. "They are not backward at coming forward to claim those rights. It has been suggested that piped music be allowed in Centennial Square, but I wouldn't have it there for all the money in the world. People have a right to enjoy silence."

PRINCIPLE INVOLVED

Ald. Ian Stewart said he too objected to piped music.

"But I wonder if there isn't a principle involved here," he said. "To what extent should council be involved in deciding what appeals to other people's senses. I don't think council should be the custodian of people's senses."

Mayor Stephen replied that he had no desire to "legislate people's tastes."

"If the store owners want the piped music in the stores there is nothing we can do about it. But I do think we have a duty to keep it off the streets."

The committee was unanimous in its rejection of the application.
